Civic Center Furniture Move Requires Crane

"Operation Lift-Up" took place today at the new Marin County Civic Center as big pieces of furniture were hoisted into place by a construction crane.

Installation of some 75 pieces of office furniture — mostly especially-made counters from state prison factories —was part of the big move to the Civic Center which began last Friday.

The furniture, too large for elevators, was lifted to the various levels of the center by a crane placed inside the main entrance. The job was under special contract awarded to Marin Storage and Trucking Co.

If everything goes according to schedule, nearly half of the county's employees, a total of 13 departments, will be in the center by Dec. 20.

Departments moving this week include the superintendent of schools and the farm advisor. The agricultural commissioner and data processing section are already in their new offices.

Moving during the next two weeks will be the public works department, planning department, welfare department, county counsel, county administrator, board of supervisors, assessor, auditor-controller, tax collector-treasurer, and library.

"I don't expect any problems," County Administrator Alan Bruce said. "There will be a certain amount of inconvenience, but everything is going smoothly so far."

Planning Director B. D. Dobbs does not expect life in the civic center to be all sweetness and light for his department. "We won't have any more room there than we have now," he said. "It will certain-

City To Sell, Buy Own City Hall

By BRYCE W. ANDERSEN

The City of San Rafael may, in effect, sell itself its own city hall, and end up with both the money and the property.

This fascinating maneuver could be accomplished in the following manner:

The downtown parking district, a creature of the city, would purchase the city hall property from the proceeds of sale of its bonds. The city would then have the cash, which it could re-invest in a site for a new city hall.

When the new city hall is built, the old one would be razed and the property would become a parking lot—probably double-decked.

By the terms of the act under which the parking district was created, its bonds are repayable over a 15-year period from meter revenues. When the indebtedness on a piece of parking property has been paid off, that property belongs to the city.

Thus, the city could sell its city hall to its own parking district, receive the cash — and get the property back again in 15 years.

A proposal that it do so will be made by Jackson Faustman of Sacramento, hired by the city last summer to make a survey of parking lot needs.

This came to light last night when Councilman Fred E. Jensen proposed at the city council meeting that the city hall be sold to the parking district.

"That's just what Faustman is going to propose in his report," said Councilman L. H. Baar, who had talked recently with the Sacramento expert.

Faustman is now preparing the report and should present it before the end of the year, City Manager Dan E. Andersen said.

KEEPER OF BRAIN VOWS QUICKER VOTE COUNTING

Marin County's high priced electronic computer "George" fell on his face at the last general election but may pull up his sox and set a speed record next time, county supervisors were told today.

"I have tentatively prepared a key punch procedure for the next election," said Arleigh Sewell, director of data processing.

But Supervisor William D. Fusselman declared a recent Independent-Journal editorial "hit it on the head" in an analysis titled "Some Things Can Be Done Better without Electric Brain."

Sewell put his case in a report saying that the slow-speed election procedure on Nov. 7, 8 and 9 was "the first application I have run where I did not have complete control."

He said Fair-Isaac Co., recently retained on a $10,000 fee to program election work, brought in four people to finish the program for election night but "the program was never satisfactorily completed." Moreover, "we did not have, and still do not have, any written instructions for the election procedure."

Sewell said he'd planned to bring in six key punch operators and not do any verifying "but as the situation developed, I had to verify with three girls and key punch with three. Since this cut my key punch staff in half, it took us twice as long."

Fusselman called for the Fair-Isaac contracts and read that the firm was supposed to run a parallel job for comparison, not take over.

It seemed agreed that on election night the Fair-Isaac people at some time did take over because, explained Berle Isaac of the firm, "it seemed a needful and desirable thing . . . not by request of any particular person."

Sewell said that "contrary to statement by the press, the machines were never out of commission on election night.

India To Get MIGs In Big Arms Buildup

NEW DELHI (UPI)—India disclosed a massive buildup of its armed forces today in the wake of the invasion by Red Chinese troops. The buildup will include MIG jets from the Soviet Union.

The disclosure came as the Communists were reported to have fired on Indian soldiers at least three times without causing casualties since the Nov. 21 cease fire.

Shortly after Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru announced the firing incidents, Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan told Parliament that the country was increasing the size of its military forces.

Chavan declined to give any figures on the increase, but said that "some relaxations have been made in the physical standards and the upper age limits for recruitment."

Current estimates are that India has an army made up of 600,000 volunteers, who are receiving badly-needed modern automatic weapons from the United States, Britain, Canada and Australia. During World War II, India had about two million men in service, and some leaders have suggested this figure as the goal now for a possible protracted conflict with Red China.

'Zero-Zero' Fog Blankets Bay Counties

Heavy fog closed airports in Marin, San Mateo County and Oakland this morning, and the same dense fog was predicted for late tonight and tomorrow morning.

On the East Coast a similar thick fog blanketed the New York metropolitan area, closing all three major airports. The fog there began lifting around 7 a.m., three hours earlier than in the Bay Area.

"We call this zero-zero fog," said Harry Tollefson, manager at the Marin County Airport in Novato. "We can't see anything."

San Francisco Airport in San Mateo County and Oakland Airport were both closed.

At Hamilton Air Force Base all training flights were cancelled during the morning. The base's combat planes, which can fly in any weather, continued a normal schedule.

Fair weather, except for the fog, was predicted by the Weather Bureau for tomorrow in the Bay Area and northern and central parts of California. No new snows were anticipated in the Sierra and Siskiyous through tomorrow.

Gas Station Operator's Trial Opens

A court trial opened today before Judge N. Charles Brusatori to determine whether a Fairfax service station operator was guilty of assault with a deadly weapon when his station wagon crashed with a police car and nearly ran over two officers last July.

Defendant is Jerald A. Bredahl, 30, who was stopped when police fired several shots at his station wagon. One bullet wounded Bredahl in the head.

Public Defender Peter Allen Smith is defending Bredahl.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Charles L. Convis called Fairfax Officer Lee Alan Perry as the first witness to give his account of what happened on the night of July 17.

Police were called to the Bredahl home at 20 Park Street

Brown To Ask Law For Appointed School Head

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown called today for legislation to provide for appointment of California's superintendent of public instruction by the State Board of Education.

Brown twice emphasized that he renewed his proposal without reference to Dr. Max Rafferty of La Canada, whom the voters chose for the superintendency last month over the governor's choice, Ralph Richardson of Los Angeles.

He said he didn't want Rafferty to feel "I am taking a poke at him."

Brown noted that he supported a proposed constitutional amendment two years ago to make the job appointive, but that it failed to clear the legislature.

The governor gave his views on the key school post at a news conference at which he also:

1. Announced his nomination of Justice Paul Peek of the Third District Court of Appeal in Sacramento to succeed Thomas White on the California Supreme Court.

2. Disowned a report by the State Division of Architecture outlining a prospective 134-million-dollar construction program for the next year. Brown said the report had not been cleared by the Department of Finance or himself.

3. Disclosed that he had offered to appoint former Republican Gov. Goodwin J. Knight to an unspecified honorary board or commission, but that Knight said he couldn't spare the time from his private business.

4. Announced he will proclaim Dec. 31 as a holiday for state employees to mark California's new position as the No. 1 state in population.

5. Said he did not believe a recent decision by the Alcoholic Beverage Control Appeals Board took away state liquor director Malcolm Harris' power to refuse to grant liquor licenses to restaurants near college and university campuses.

The board said Harris' enforcement of a one-mile limit on the licenses was unconstitutional. Brown said the director still had the right to deny licenses if he found public morals and welfare would be affected.

Brown expressed regret that he has failed to give credit to Roy E. Simpson, outgoing su-

Planners Assert Right To Sound Off

By ALTON S. BOCK

Opinions from the Marin County Planning Commission may not always be appreciated by the board of supervisors, but commissioners made it clear yesterday they aren't going to stop saying what they think.

Miffed at the board's refusal last week to let Planning Director B. D. Dobbs read a commission resolution at a state hearing on Shoreline Highway relocation, the commission declared it's not a puppet of the board.

"Any time the planning commission becomes a rubber stamp, it shouldn't exist," said Chairman William Upton.

"We have the right to make recommendations on anything we like," said Commissioner Felix M. Warburg.

He added that the board of supervisors has the final say on planning matters, but this does not prevent the commission from expressing its opinions on related subjects.

Referring to the commission's resolution asking the State Highway Commission to delay a highway route adoption until completion of the West Marin Master Plan, Warburg said the supervisors had taken "a stand opposite from ours in asking for an early hearing."

"The board may realize now that most of the county seems to take an opposite view to it," Warburg said.

Dobbs reported to the commission that the resolution was not filed at the hearing, at the board's request, but was "held in reserve as a public document."

"Still, it may have served its purpose," Upton commented. "In any event, this is now water under the freeway."

Lions Find Twin City In St. Raphael, France

San Rafael, whose "sister city" project with San Rafael, Argentina, a year ago never quite got off the ground, has acquired another "twin" in France—this time as a Lions Club project.

This came about, president Leonard A. Phillips of the San Rafael Lions Club reported today, though a visit last week by Robert Rollando, first vice president of the Lions Club of St. Raphael, France.

Rollando presented Phillips with the French club's banner and expressed hope the relationship begun by the Lions Club would "join the two cities in a firm bond of friendship."

A planned meeting of Rollando with Mayor John F. McInnis of San Rafael failed to materialize.

Rollando and his wife are on a tour of the United States. They dined Thursday with Phillips at the Travelers Inn, where the San Rafael Lions Club meets, and on Friday attended the monthly meeting of the Marin County Assn. of Lions Clubs at Nave Lanes, Novato. On Sunday they were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Phillips at their Ross home, then left at midnight for Chicago.

St. Raphael, France, is a town of about 18,000 on the Riviera, about 25 miles south of Nice. It has more than a name resemblance to San Rafael, according to Phillips. Just outside its harbor are two small islands, much like the Marin Islands. The Rollandos called the resemblance striking.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

India Struggle May Be Long

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Informed sources said today that W. Averell Harriman told President John F. Kennedy India's border struggle with Red China will probably be a long one requiring long-term military aid.

Harriman, the assistant secretary of state for Asian affairs, reported to Kennedy yesterday on his two-week mission to India and Pakistan.

Sources said that nearly all Indian officials Harriman encountered regarded the dispute as a long-term Chinese assault on the Indian way of life, rather than a relatively simple border affair.

Jacqueline Kennedy Unhappy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy isn't happy about her popularity with Hollywood's movie magazines—and she has a lot of company.

Dozens of protests have been received by the White House from letter-writers who object to the pictures and articles on the first lady in publications that spend most of their space on movie stars.

Such magazines have been running photographs of Mrs. Kennedy with articles under titles like "Jackie Turns Her Back on Hollywood," or "Jacqueline Kennedy—America's Newest Star. What You Should Know About Her Fears."

White House sources said yesterday Mrs. Kennedy does not have to cooperate with magazines that want to write articles about her. In the case of the movie magazines, they said, she has offered no help or encouragement.

New York Fogged In

NEW YORK (AP) — Thick fog blanketed the New York metropolitan area last night and today, closing down all three major airports and contributing to a collision of two ships.

No one was hurt when a tanker and freighter came together off a Staten Island pier in New York harbor, but both ships were slightly damaged.

A Port of New York Authrity spokesman said he could recall only six other times in the past 14 years that Idlewild, La Guardia and Newark (N.J.) airports were all shut down because of bad weather.

Ceiling and visibility at Idlewild were zero early today.

Pope Rallies Fast

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John XXIII celebrated Mass in his private chapel today and generally increased the pace of his activities in an obviously rapid recovery from the first serious illness of his life.

The Vatican press office said the Pope's doctors eased their restrictions on his movements but suggested he remain in his rooms.

"The Holy Father still is confined to his apartments but he is moving about freely," the press office said.

N.J. Opposes Poll Tax

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — New Jersey has become the second state in the nation to ratify a proposed 24th amendment to the U.S. Constitution prohibiting the payment of a poll tax as a requirement for voting for federal office holders.

The assembly yesterday passed the resolution 58-0. The senate approved it 17-0. It does not require Gov. Richard J. Hughes' signature, although he supported it.

Illinois was the first state to ratify the measure Nov. 14.

5 Degrees At Butte

NEW YORK (UPI)—The lowest temperature reported this morning by the U.S. Weather Bureau was 5 degrees at Butte, Mont. The highest yesterday was 82 at Atletulla, Tex.

Door Shut To Negroes

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—The University of Alabama has closed the door on further enrollment for its spring semester, apparently blocking three Negro applicants.

The move means that racial integration on the campus seems put off at least through the present school year.

Dr. Frank A. Rose, university president, announced yesterday that the office of admissions and records was instructed last Friday to stop processing incomplete applications for the spring semester from freshmen or transfer students.

University officials said credentials from the three Negro applicants are among those which are incomplete.

Plane Crash Kills 2

AGANA, Guam (UPI)—A U.S. C121 Super-Constellation plane carrying relief supplies to typhoon Karen victims from Moffet Field, Calif., crashed during a landing attempt today killing two of eight crewmembers, the U.S. Navy announced.

Names of the two dead were being withheld pending notification of the next of kin.

Reds Cite Rocket Lead

MOSCOW (AP)—The commander of Soviet rocket forces claimed today that the Soviet Union continues to lead the United States in the field of powerful military rockets.

Marshal Sergei Biryuzov's statement in the military newspaper Krasnaya Zvezda (Red Star) apparently was an answer to recent statements by American leaders that it is the Soviet Union, and not the United States, which suffers from a missile gap.

The British Institute for Strategic Studies, in a report published Nov. 9, estimated that the Russians had about 75 operational intercontinental ballistic missiles, compared with 450-500 in the hands of the West.

Strike Talks Seen

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Talks may start again this weekend in the Lockheed strike. The subject, most likely, will be the same bitter deadlock: a union shop vote.

The strike itself has been temporarily halted. A federal court order prohibits picketing until Dec. 13. The court is to start hearings Monday on whether to order an 80-day cooling-off period under the Taft-Hartley law.

The union says it cooled off plenty — while waiting for a chance to strike. Last week's strike only lasted two days. But the picket signs are stockpiled, waiting.

Adlai Denies Cuban Soft Line Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, has denounced as inaccurate a magazine article coauthored by a close friend of President John F. Kennedy which portrays Stevenson as having urged a soft line in the Cuban crisis.

Stevenson said the Saturday Evening Post story "described my role in the Cuban affair in language both inaccurate and grossly misrepresenting my views."

DISAGREEMENT?

The article, "In Time of Crisis," contends that Stevenson disagreed with the president on the offensive arms blockade and "preferred political negotiation to the alternative of military action."

It was written by Stewart Alsop, the magazine's Washington editor, and Charles Bartlett, Washington correspondent for the Chattanooga Times and a long-time friend of Kennedy.

Illustrating the article is a photograph of the U.N. ambassador which is captioned: "Stevenson was strong during the U.N. debate, but inside the White House the hard-liners thought he was soft."

STATEMENT

In response to the article, White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said in a statement yesterday:

"I can say flatly that Ambassador Stevenson strongly supported the decision taken by the President on the quarantine and brilliantly developed the United States' position at the United Nations during the days which followed."

It was learned the statement was prepared with Kennedy's knowledge and on his advice.

No Rebuke For Hagerty

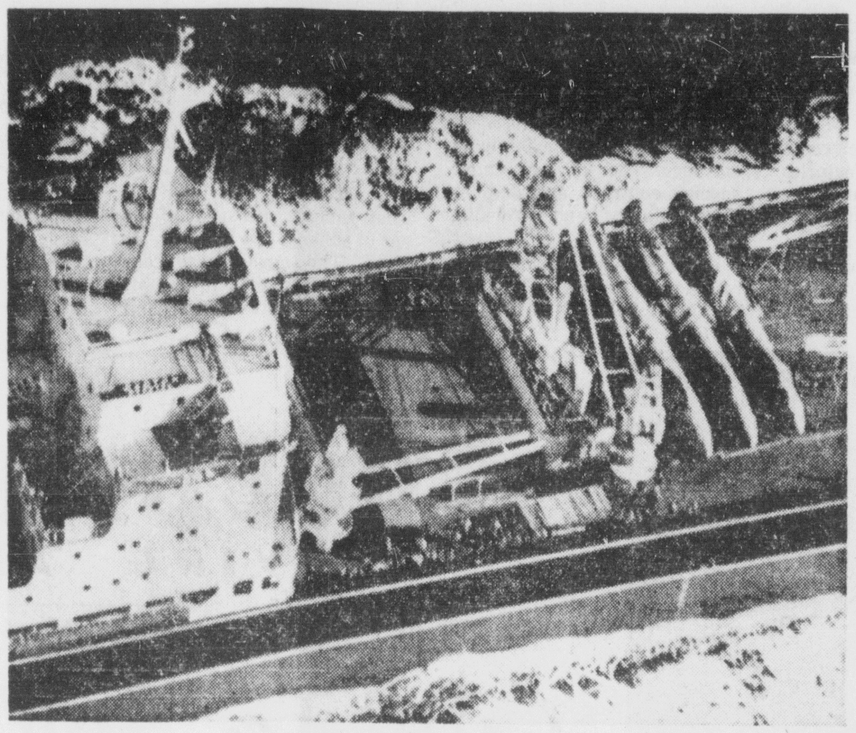
NEW YORK (UPI)—The American Broadcasting Co. denied last night a published report that James Hagerty, ABC vice president in charge of news and special events programs, will be "kicked upstairs" as a result of Alger Hiss' appearance on a program titled "The Political Obituary of Richard M. Nixon."

"Not true . . . period," an ABC spokesman said. "Hagerty will remain as ABC news, special events and public affairs vice president."

The report in a morning New York paper said ABC will announce in a few days that Hagerty will be "promoted" to a new post in charge of "policy." It said his successor in the news and special events post is expected to be Robert Lang, former CBS official who has been on Hagerty's staff for several months.

$2,300 Ring Lost

A lost ring, valued at $2,300, was reported to San Rafael police yesterday by Mrs. Howard Abrams of San Francisco. Mrs. Abrams said the French flower-basket designed ring was left on a wash basin at Peacock Cap Country Club Friday.



BOMBERS BOUND FROM CUBA

Fuselages of three Soviet IL-28 bombers appear on the deck of the Russian ship Okhotsk in a photograph released by the Defense Department in Washington yesterday. The picture was taken by a Navy patrol plane last Saturday in waters off the northern coast of Cuba. These were the first of a reported 30 or more Red twin-jet bombers to be removed from Cuban bases.

Boy Scouts Collect Books For Children

Five members of the Jaguar Patrol of Boy Scout Troop 25 in San Anselmo collected children's books for the Pediatric Ward in Marin General Hospital in a house to house canvass near the Wade Thomas schools, San Anselmo, Saturday.

Participants were Mike Mackay, Chuck Hodge, Barry Johnson, Russ Davis and Tim Luders. Books were taken to the hospital by William Mackey.

Goldwater Backed For President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Conservative Republicans have begun a determined drive to keep the 1964 presidential nomination from going to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York. Their favorite is Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

The Associated Press learned yesterday that between 30 and 50 Republicans, from all over the country, met secretly in Chicago Sunday.

Possibly because it was an informal meeting, it still was not too clear what they did.

One report was that $250,000 was pledged as a start on a three-million-dollar campaign fund.

Another report was that this was only an exploratory meeting, and that little definite was accomplished. One of the organizers said "I've attended dozens of meetings like this, and nothing ever came of them."

It was learned from several of those who were there that the sentiment was distinctly pro-Goldwater and anti-Rockefeller.

Goldwater said last night in Phoenix he didn't know a thing about the meeting.

He told a newsman: "I don't know who the group was, where they met or what it's all about. I did see or hear something about it today, but I don't know a thing. I still plan to run for the Senate two years from now."

But he added he might not "since things change and it's too early to be absolutely certain."

In New York, Rockefeller had no comment.

Some of those who attended the Chicago meeting also declined comment.

But Rep. John Ashbrook (R-Ohio) said: "The real purpose of the meeting was an effort to consolidate the Republican conservative groups around the country to make sure we have a candidate in 1964. Of course, Senator Goldwater is the frontrunner.

"There are those of us who believe Governor Rockefeller is the one Republican who could not win in 1964."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

India Struggle May Be Long

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Informed sources said today that W. Averell Harriman told President John F. Kennedy India's border struggle with Red China will probably be a long one requiring long-term military aid.

Harriman, the assistant secretary of state for Asian affairs, reported to Kennedy yesterday on his two-week mission to India and Pakistan.

Sources said that nearly all Indian officials Harriman encountered regarded the dispute as a long-term Chinese assault on the Indian way of life, rather than a relatively simple border affair.

Jacqueline Kennedy Unhappy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy isn't happy about her popularity with Hollywood's movie magazines—and she has a lot of company.

Dozens of protests have been received by the White House from letter-writers who object to the pictures and articles on the first lady in publications that spend most of their space on movie stars.

Such magazines have been running photographs of Mrs. Kennedy with articles under titles like "Jackie Turns Her Back on Hollywood," or "Jacqueline Kennedy—America's Newest Star. What You Should Know About Her Fears."

White House sources said yesterday Mrs. Kennedy does not have to cooperate with magazines that want to write articles about her. In the case of the movie magazines, they said, she has offered no help or encouragement.

New York Fogged In

NEW YORK (AP) — Thick fog blanketed the New York metropolitan area last night and today, closing down all three major airports and contributing to a collision of two ships.

No one was hurt when a tanker and freighter came together off a Staten Island pier in New York harbor, but both ships were slightly damaged.

A Port of New York Authrity spokesman said he could recall only six other times in the past 14 years that Idlewild, La Guardia and Newark (N.J.) airports were all shut down because of bad weather.

Ceiling and visibility at Idlewild were zero early today.

Pope Rallies Fast

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John XXIII celebrated Mass in his private chapel today and generally increased the pace of his activities in an obviously rapid recovery from the first serious illness of his life.

The Vatican press office said the Pope's doctors eased their restrictions on his movements but suggested he remain in his rooms.

"The Holy Father still is confined to his apartments but he is moving about freely," the press office said.

N.J. Opposes Poll Tax

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — New Jersey has become the second state in the nation to ratify a proposed 24th amendment to the U.S. Constitution prohibiting the payment of a poll tax as a requirement for voting for federal office holders.

The assembly yesterday passed the resolution 58-0. The senate approved it 17-0. It does not require Gov. Richard J. Hughes' signature, although he supported it.

Illinois was the first state to ratify the measure Nov. 14.

5 Degrees At Butte

NEW YORK (UPI)—The lowest temperature reported this morning by the U.S. Weather Bureau was 5 degrees at Butte, Mont. The highest yesterday was 82 at Atletulla, Tex.

Door Shut To Negroes

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—The University of Alabama has closed the door on further enrollment for its spring semester, apparently blocking three Negro applicants.

The move means that racial integration on the campus seems put off at least through the present school year.

Dr. Frank A. Rose, university president, announced yesterday that the office of admissions and records was instructed last Friday to stop processing incomplete applications for the spring semester from freshmen or transfer students.

University officials said credentials from the three Negro applicants are among those which are incomplete.

Plane Crash Kills 2

AGANA, Guam (UPI)—A U.S. C121 Super-Constellation plane carrying relief supplies to typhoon Karen victims from Moffet Field, Calif., crashed during a landing attempt today killing two of eight crewmembers, the U.S. Navy announced.

Names of the two dead were being withheld pending notification of the next of kin.

Sunny Hills Property Valued At $142,432

Thirteen and one-fourth acres of land at Sunny Hills Presbyterian Children's Home in San Anselmo is worth $142,432 in its undeveloped condition, an appraiser for the San Anselmo School District testified today in Marin Superior Court.

Neil J. Brodsgar of San Rafael, called by the school district, gave his figures to a jury which has been hearing the condemnation case since Nov. 1 in the court of Judge Thomas F. Keating.

Two appraisers called by Sunny Hills had valued the land at $394,000 to $400,000.

Brodsgar said he based his estimates from recent sale of comparable land in Marin County. He said that 50 acres of the Fagundes Ranch at Lucas Valley Road and Highway 101 recently sold for $540,000, or $10,800 per acre.

The trial is expected to continue into next week.

One of the developments which will cut down on space for Dobbs and his 13 employees was the arrival of desks longer and wider than ordered. "This is fine for work space on top of the desks," Dobbs said, "but it means very narrow aisles."

Drafting tables, huge filing cabinets, desks and boxes now crowd the planning offices on Grand Avenue. "It won't be any better in the Civic Center," Dobbs said.

But Public Works Director Donald Frost, whose department will be next door to planning on the center's second level, said:

"We'll have substantially larger quarters and a much better layout. It will be quite an improvement."

Andersen reported he had a firm offer which he thought might be acceptable from Dr. Frank Howard, owner of the property at Fifth Avenue and C Street. The proposed price: $171,500.

Councilman Charles W. Aby proposed the property be purchased. Mayor John F. McInnis suggested the city take an option on it.

However, after it was learned the price was slightly over the city's appraisal, the council decided to wait until the city manager makes further attempts at negotiation with owners of two other parcels needed for the new site.

Sabin Makeup Clinics Set For Marinites

Polio vaccine will be available to those persons who missed the public clinics this fall from tomorrow through Jan. 31, at the Marin County Health Department, 920 Grand Avenue, San Rafael.

Those who have received the type I Sabin oral vaccine only, during the week of Sept. 23, may get type II any time through Jan. 31.

Those who took type II only at the second clinics during the week of Nov. 4, may get type I between Jan. 2 and Jan. 31. Clinic hours are 9 a.m. to noon and 1:30-4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The vaccine will be offered free to those who cannot afford the services of private physicians, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

"Type I vaccine is considered the most important," she said. "Those who didn't take either vaccine should wait and take type I in January."

on a report of a family argument.

Officer Perry said he saw Bredahl run to the rear of the house, then back to a station wagon parked on the street. Perry grabbed the door handle as Bredahl started the car. The officer testified his hand was caught in the door handle, and he was pulled two or three house lengths before he broke loose.

He and Police Sgt. Charles C. Grasso chased Bredahl's station wagon but lost it on Bolinas Road. A few moments later, Perry said, he saw the station wagon coming toward him on Park Street. The two vehicles collided, and Sergeant Grasso jumped out.

Bredahl then raced his car toward the sergeant, Grasso jumped back and flattened himself against the police car to prevent being hit, Officer Perry testified.

Grasso and Perry later fired several bullets at the car. One struck Bredahl near the ear.

Marin County Grand Jurors absolved the officers of blame in the shooting and indicted Bredahl on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Bredahl's wife, who had sued him for divorce before the incident, sat with him in court this morning.

ON THE JOB FOR 30 YEARS—Mrs. Helen Wilson checks out a book at the Larkspur Public Library—a chore she's been doing each day the library was open since 1932. Mrs. Wilson, who has indicated no intention of leaving the librarianship to which she was named Dec. 7, 1932, was honored today by the Larkspur Library Board for her 30 years of service.

Mrs. Helen Wilson Is Honored For 30 Years As Librarian

By FRED WYATT

Mrs. Helen Wilson was honored today for her "intuitive and fair-sighted" 30 years service as Larkspur public librarian.

The library board, headed by Mrs. Robert D. Bowen, gave a lunch at the Woodlands Restaurant in Kent Woodlands for Mrs. Wilson, junior librarian Lois Howe Rand and assistant Alberta Potter.

Mrs. Wilson was named librarian Dec. 7, 1932, by the Larkspur Women's Club. For 10 years she also served as planning commission secretary and for five years she was city clerk.

She left the planning commission a number of years ago and stepped down from the city clerk job on June 7, 1931.

"I was one of 10 persons who took the library board examination in 1932," Mrs. Wilson recalled yesterday. "I was happy to get the position because I needed a job."

The library got its present home at Magnolia Avenue and King Street, back of the city hall, on July 19, 1939.

In the 23 years since then, while Larkspur's population grew from about 1,500 to 6,575 (as of last March), the number of books in the library climbed from 3,500 to more than 17,000.

The library now buys about 500 books a year. Circulation in 1961 totaled 47,000.

Reference materials include several encyclopedia sets, compilations of historical data, cultural anthologies, and 60 periodicals and magazines to which the library subscribes.

A cross-referenced card catalogue is centrally located in the main room, with Mrs. Wilson or one of her assistants ready to help with any research project while the library is open, from 2 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

In March, 1958, the children's room was opened, and it has been expanded rapidly. It contains more than 4,700 books, including about 1,500 non-fiction titles. Children's book circulation last year was nearly 20,000.

The library board gives Mrs. Wilson a large share of the credit for the library's growth. Serving as directors with Mrs. Bowen are Mrs. Howard W. Bray, Mrs. Frederic J. Brenlin, Mrs. Phillip S. Haly, and Mrs. Wilbur Lewis.

"Mrs. Wilson is an intuitive and for-sighted woman, with an ability to select works of representative thought, informative nature and lasting value," said a board description of her services.

Mrs. Wilson, a native of Montana and a graduate of Montana State College, came to California in 1914 and taught school in San Francisco for several years before settling in Larkspur in 1924.

During World War II she was a part-time eighth grade teacher at Larkspur-Corte Madera School.

She lives at 125 Wilson Way, a street named in her honor.

She has a daughter, Mrs. Phyllis Greer of Novato, wife of Jeff Greer, managing editor of the Fairfield Daily Republic.

Up to June, 1961, when she retired as city clerk, Mrs. Wilson had attended city council meetings with fair regularity for about 30 years.

Campaigning In California Called 'Nation's Dirtiest'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Bruce L. Felknor, the executive director of the Fair Campaign Practices Committee, Inc., says California's political campaigns are the dirtiest in the nation.

"We get more complaints from California every election year than any other state, the head of the New York headquartered organization said yesterday.

Felknor said a classic in fake photography occurred in the campaign for governor between Gov. Edmund G. Brown and former vice president Richard M. Nixon, who lost.

A pamphlet entitled, "The California Dynasty of Communism" showed photographs juxtaposed that showed Democrat Brown bowing to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, he said.

"It was the most fantastic example of picture faking I've seen in years," said Felknor. He said the photograph was actually a news picture of Brown greeting an Oriental visitor.

Board Delays Meeting

Tomorrow night's meeting of the Terra Linda Recreation Commission has been canceled because of holiday season activities. The next meeting will be held on Dec. 19 at 8 p.m. in the community center.

Council Gets Art Gift For New City Hall

The San Rafael City Council last night received with pleasure an offer of an art collection for the new city hall —for which the council has not yet even bought the land.

The offer came in a letter to City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen from Albert Shell of 1 Legend Road, Sleepy Hollow, who operates Nationwide Truck and Trailer Rental at 437 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael.

"We were very pleasantly surprised to read how rapidly our city fathers are moving towards the realization of the construction for the new, modern city hall," wrote Shell.

'ONLY FITTING'

"It is only fitting that these new offices should be graced by works of art of many kinds.

"My wife and I have a small collection of water colors by a San Francisco artist, Miss Betty Guy, which we value in excess of $2,500, and which we believe would add a worthwhile touch to the official surroundings. . . (We) would like to offer our collection to the residents of San Rafael through your office. . . .

THANKS EXPRESSED

"We feel it is only fitting that some small contribution of this sort should be made by us, and we hope that it will encourage others to contribute works of art for the new city business center."

Councilmen expressed thanks for the offer, and authorized Mayor John F. McInnis and City Mgr. Andersen to examine the collection before its formal acceptance. Mayor McInnis said, "I know Betty Guy's work and it is very fine."

Committee Backs 1-Year Divorce

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Free civil marriage ceremonies and California's one-year wait for divorce were upheld today by the Assembly Judiciary Committee.

The committee, in its report to the 1963 legislature, recalled the marrying judges incident of 1957 and said judges should perform civil marriages free of charge.

On divorce, the committee acknowledged that the wait actually is often longer than the prescribed year, but said the one-year interlocutory period, adopted in 1903, is an important way to encourage spouses to seriously and objectively consider their marital difficulties.

The provincial parks of Ontario entertained more than five and one-half million visitors in 1960.

Meter Maids Collect Big Haul For City

San Rafael police's "meter maids" are making quite a haul.

According to yesterday's Independent-Journal, 13,148 parking meter violations were issued in November of 1953 and 22,363 in 1962. The figures stated for both years were actually for the 11 months through November.

Corte Madera May Require Shatterproof Glass In Doors

Sliding glass doors in new homes, apartments and commercial buildings in Corte Madera would have to be of laminated, tempered or wired glass under an ordinance introduced last night by the Corte Madera Town Council.

The council will "adopt or reject" the building code revision Dec. 17, said Mayor Edward W. Colthurst.

Carl Brown, representing the Associated Home Builders of Marin, argued for no change in present regulations. Three doctors had urged that all moving and non-moving parts of glass partitions be of shatterproof safety glass.

Dr. Julian A. Waller, state public health accident prevention coordinator, reported five deaths from glass partition accidents in one 40-day period. Dr. Elmer A. Weden Jr. of San Anselmo and Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, Marin County Health officer, urged that safety glass be required. William H. Richardson of 14 Chickasaw Court, safety engineer for the National Park Service in San Francisco, agreed.

The compromise calling for safety glass only in movable portions of the doors was moved by Councilman Charles F. Pendleton and passed 4-0.

The Corte Madera council also:

1. Set for 7:30 p.m. Dec. 20 a joint meeting with the planning commission regarding the town general plan, and continue to Dec. 17 discussion of a contract with architect Eugene Crawford to design a public safety building.

2. Approved spending $500 to surround pre-school age playground equipment on San Clemente School grounds with a fence, after the Larkspur School District superintendent asked that it be left in its present location at request of the Mariner Cove Improvement Assn.

3. Continued a report on the employees' retirement system and appointment of a park and recreation commissioner to Jan. 7.

4. Approved placing a lien for $290.96 against property at 251 Sausalito Street for abatement of weeds and trash.

5. Referred to Town Mgr. Arthur H. Brandow and Town Atty. Sherrod S. Davis investigation of allegedly illegal building and use of the site as a trash dump on property of Holzinger Brothers east of the Northwestern Pacific raidroad tracks.

Red Chinese Says Peking Line Is Right

ROME (UPI) — A Communist Chinese spokesman today bluntly said Peking has different opinions than other Communist parties on "a number of important international problems" and believes it is right.

Chao Yi-Ming, Communist Chinese deputy delegate to the 10th Italian Party Congress, was answering biting criticism by Italian and Soviet Party leaders on the Peking "hard line" of communism.

Chao criticized previous speakers for making the congress "a forum for attacks on a brotherly party."

Then for half an hour he used the same forum to defend Peking's ideology and directly or indirectly score the Soviet co-existence line.

A girl translated Chao's Chinese-language address into Italian for a Communist audience which by its murmurs and restlessness did not seem to like the speech at all. By chance or design Italian party leader Palmiro Togliatti, a Moscow disciple, turned his back on Chao when the Chinese finished.

Sunny Hills Property Valued At $142,432

Thirteen and one-fourth acres of land at Sunny Hills Presbyterian Children's Home in San Anselmo is worth $142,432 in its undeveloped condition, an appraiser for the San Anselmo School District testified today in Marin Superior Court.

Neil J. Brodsgar of San Rafael, called by the school district, gave his figures to a jury which has been hearing the condemnation case since Nov. 1 in the court of Judge Thomas F. Keating.

Two appraisers called by Sunny Hills had valued the land at $394,000 to $400,000.

Brodsgar said he based his estimates from recent sale of comparable land in Marin County. He said that 50 acres of the Fagundes Ranch at Lucas Valley Road and Highway 101 recently sold for $540,000, or $10,800 per acre.

The trial is expected to continue into next week.

One of the developments which will cut down on space for Dobbs and his 13 employees was the arrival of desks longer and wider than ordered. "This is fine for work space on top of the desks," Dobbs said, "but it means very narrow aisles."

Drafting tables, huge filing cabinets, desks and boxes now crowd the planning offices on Grand Avenue. "It won't be any better in the Civic Center," Dobbs said.

But Public Works Director Donald Frost, whose department will be next door to planning on the center's second level, said:

"We'll have substantially larger quarters and a much better layout. It will be quite an improvement."

Sausalito Library Fund Event Termed Success

One hundred people attended the third annual Foundation Night last night given by Sausalito Foundation at the Alta Mira Hotel.

Kelso Norman, foundation president, described the occasion as "very successful. He said the amount of money raised, to be used for the proposed new Sausalito public library, will probably be known by the end of the week.

Andersen reported he had a firm offer which he thought might be acceptable from Dr. Frank Howard, owner of the property at Fifth Avenue and C Street. The proposed price: $171,500.

Councilman Charles W. Aby proposed the property be purchased. Mayor John F. McInnis suggested the city take an option on it.

However, after it was learned the price was slightly over the city's appraisal, the council decided to wait until the city manager makes further attempts at negotiation with owners of two other parcels needed for the new site.

West Marinites Plan School Split

The West Marin Citizens' Committee for Better Education expects to "have some definite plan" to divorce the West Marin School District from Tomales High School soon after the next local school board meeting.

West Marin school trustees will meet Monday. Lee Richardson Jr., co-chairman of the citizens' committee, said, "We should know what we're going to do after that. We met last night but still need a couple of extra meetings. We're waiting for more information."

The committee has declared its opposition to any unification including Tomales High School.

TRIAL

on a report of a family argument.

Officer Perry said he saw Bredahl run to the rear of the house, then back to a station wagon parked on the street. Perry grabbed the door handle as Bredahl started the car. The officer testified his hand was caught in the door handle, and he was pulled two or three house lengths before he broke loose.

He and Police Sgt. Charles C. Grasso chased Bredahl's station wagon but lost it on Bolinas Road. A few moments later, Perry said, he saw the station wagon coming toward him on Park Street. The two vehicles collided, and Sergeant Grasso jumped out.

Bredahl then raced his car toward the sergeant, Grasso jumped back and flattened himself against the police car to prevent being hit, Officer Perry testified.

Grasso and Perry later fired several bullets at the car. One struck Bredahl near the ear.

Marin County Grand Jurors absolved the officers of blame in the shooting and indicted Bredahl on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Bredahl's wife, who had sued him for divorce before the incident, sat with him in court this morning.

Acknowledging Simpson's criticism for the omission, the governor said Simpson has worked closely with the Board of Education and with him, adding:

"Dr. Simpson has made a tremendous contribution to California education."

Brown said he agreed that the superintendent's job should not be elective, but that the terms of board members should be so spaced that no governor could gain control.

He said he plans to confer for the first time with Rafferty Thursday. Rafferty takes over the state post in January.

SIX-LANE NOVATO FREEWAY GOES TO BID

The State Division of Highways today called for bids, to be opened Dec. 12, on this section of six-lane freeway on U.S. Highway 101 near Hamilton Air Force Base. The project will extend for about three miles, from just north of Entrada Drive to just South of Miller Creek Road. Interchanges will be constructed at San Jose Boulevard and Pacheco Creek. The job is expected to take 14 months and is estimated to cost $3,500,000.

Judge Thomas Says He Doubts Smith Proved Case

Judge Leonard A. Thomas, hearing William J. J. Smith's suit to regain his job as Novato school superintendent, yesterday told opposing attorneys that he has doubts whether Smith has proved his case.

Judge Thomas made some informal observations, following conclusion of four days of testimony, aimed at guiding the attorneys in preparation of briefs to be filed by noon Dec. 28.

"I don't want to see you do a lot of work on these," said the judge, "but I'd like to see some good, sharp, clear thinking."

Although he indicated he's not convinced that Smith proved his case, Judge Thomas said "my mind is not foreclosed."

Looking in the direction of Smith's attorneys, Arthur M. Lebow and Richard H. Perry, Judge Thomas said he would "like you to assist the court by drawing the inferences" from testimony on hand.

The judge observed that there had been little contradiction of fact in the case, so that resolving it becomes a matter of how the law operates on the facts.

Regarding the letter which Smith submitted to the school board on Dec. 19, the judge said:

"I don't think there's any question of a doubt that's a resignation. If it's not a resignation, it's nothing."

He said witness after witness had testified that Smith had not been told prior to the meeting that his contract was not going to be renewed.

"But I drew the impression that everyone felt there were three (board members) who were not about to allow the contract to be renewed automatically and two who would," he added.

He said several witnesses used the term "buying time" in relation ot Smith's resignation, but he doubted if any of them knew the significance of the term.

As for the negotiations which Smith contended were promised but never carried out, Judge Thomas said these were not negotiations on a contract, as such, but negotiations on the accumulated differences between Smith and the board majority over the way Smith performed his duties.

When the deadline neared for the board either to deny Smith a contract renewal or let it be renewed automatically, Judge Thomas said, Smith did "the most practical thing imaginable."

He added, however, that with either Smith's resignation or a notice of non-renewal by the board, "time would have been bought"—six months, in fact, before there would have been a vacancy in the superintendent's post.

He said he could not conceive of an employee terminating his contract without having hopes of another one at hand.

Judge Thomas may make his findings on the basis of briefs by Smith's attorneys and County Counsel E. Warren McGuire representing the Novato Unified School District. However, he said he might ask for oral arguments, or would hear them if the attorneys later decide they want to make any.

Special 'Little Subdivision' Law Proposed By Marin Planners

A special ordinance for "little subdivisions" was proposed yesterday by the Marin County Commission to close loopholes in existing subdivision laws.

Sidney Shaw of the county planning staff told the commission he is investigating controls of lot splitting not now covered by ordinance. "As it is now," Shaw said," a large tract can be split into three sections, again into three more sections, and so on, without filing a subdivision map at all."

The existing ordinance has no provision for control over divisions of fewer than four parcels.

"The result is poor streets, no access and eventually the development of slums," commented Chairman William Upton.

The commission asked for further study of the proposed changes to be presented at the Jan. 7 meeting.

The Marin County Planners Also:

1. Approved Jack and Evelyn West's application for use permit for a community recreation center and swimming club at Bel Marin Boulevard and Montego Key, Bel Marin Keys.

2. Approved Robert W. Pollock's application for adjustment, but continued to Dec. 17 consideration of development plans for putting 29 units on two acres fronting on Casa Buena Drive, Meadowsweet.

3. Approved application of John DeVries to build an interior decorator's shop at 915 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard opposite Terrace Avenue in Kentfield. A variance was approved to allow five off-street parking spaces instead of eight as required by zoning.

4. Approved use permit and architectural supervision for a Sunday school at Wesminster Presbyterian Church, 240 Tiburon Boulevard, Tiburon. The one-story building will be used as a nursery school on weekdays.

5. Approved "subdivision" of air space for a Redwood Medical Center condominium on a three-quarter-acre site on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Kentfield near the Ross town limits. A use permit and building plans were previously approved.

6. Approved a tentative map for the 20-acre subdivision of Pleasant Valley Unit 1 on Sutro Avenue near Novato. Lots in the residential tract will be 10,000 square feet.

7. Authorized architectural supervision for additions to two warehouses on the property of Edmond Meyers north of the Marin Motor Movies near San Rafael.

8. Approved a street name change from Bel-Marin Boulevard to Bel-Marin Keys to conform with name of Bel-Marin Keys subdivision.

9. Authorized architectural supervision for Eichler Homes community center at Lucas Valley Unit 1. The center will include a swimming pool, meeting hall, recreation areas, and parking for 27 cars.

MADERA BACKERS EASE BIND ON DEVELOPERS

Citizens with investments in the million-dollar Madera Village Motel next to Highway 101 extricated developers Phillip and Joseph Karp from two major troubles with the town of Corte Madera last night.

A third cloud was left still floating over the project as the town council agreed with Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow and Town Attorney Sherrod S. Davis that "no legal subdivision" had been carried out.

The council voted 4-0 to accept a third revision of parking plans to provide for 128 full 8 by 18-foot parking spaces.

Councilman Charles F. Pendleton specified that the minutes read that the council was approving parking and landscaping plans with the understanding that leading Corte Madera residents vouched that the plans would be carried out.

Pendleton identified some of the leading citizens as B. A. Sill, R. J. Zierolf, Martin Flynn and Domenic Dalecio.

Sill, who was present, said leading local citizens were backing the motel and wanted to see the deadlock with the city ended.

The council accepted an offer of attorney Joseph Casalnuova of San Francisco, representing the Karps, to deposit a $5,000 bond to guarantee completion of the parking-landscaping plans. On signing of an agreement and receipt of the money, the council will lift its bans on connecting utilities to the final building in the seven-structure development facing Tamal Vista Road, and will authorize the building inspector to issue occupancy permits.

However, the council stood fast on a vote of earlier in the evening to forbid issuance of further building permits until a "valid subdivision map" is approved — not for the two acres on which the motel stands but for the original plot of 6.3 acres.

Sill said numerous Marin residents were associated with some of 11 corporations financially interested in the motel.

Sill identified himself as a leader of one of the groups, Madera Village Inc. It and Madera Gardens Development Co. were named in the council's accusation of failing to effect a legal subdivision.

Resident Asks Why Street Not Accepted

A Mill Valley "B" street resident today asked the city council why his street—Lovell Avenue—which he claims was improved by property owners in 1935, was never accepted by the city as an "A" street.

He is John F. Caulfield of 351 Lovell, a resident of Mill Valley since 1927. He has lived at the same address 30 years.

Caulfield, who said he planned to "take a tour of some of the city's 'A' streets today to see how they compare with 'B' streets," claims that in 1935 property owners entered into a pact to improve Lovell for a distance 3,500 feet west from Cornelia Avenue.

Known as the Lovell Avenue Improvement Project, Caulfield stated, it came under the State Emergency Act. "The project was carried on with complete knowledge and consent of the City of Mill Valley," Caulfield related. "That is an indisputable fact."

He said pavement was broken and removed, the street widened, trees cut down, gutters placed, basins installed, corrugated pipe laid at many places to carry drainage across the street, retaining walls built, property deeded to the city, garages moved back at the owners' expense.

More than 100 people, at times, were working on the street, Caulfield said. Federal and state funds, county equipment and city funds, plus 45 cents a lineal foot from property owners were used. "The completed paving was stated as being permanent," he asserted.

"The question that now occurs is: if that was not an acceptable improvement in 1935 — what was it? Investigation can show other streets with somewhat similar history," said Caulfield.

"Records in the city hall," City Manager A. E. Almcrants said, "indicate that improvements on Lovell Avenue have never been accepted by the city council with exception of those between Corte Madera Avenue and Cornelia."

A progress report is to be made at the council meeting tomorrow night by Councilman Michael Wornum, who is doing a study of the "B streets report" given the council Nov. 21 by City Engineer Stanley M. Bala.

Bala's report on 37 of the city's "B," or unaccepted streets, stated that it would cost $61,480 to bring Lovell up to city standards. He designated the road in two parts—the first 3,287 feet (the portion Caulfield calls 3,300) as being "more or less a city street type." Bala said, "from there to Cascade it is a countryside road in character."

Within the first portion of the street, which Caulfield said has been improved, Bala listed: "Left travelled way collapsing; move roadway to right and install about 60 feet of guard rail; garage encroaching; concrete apron protruding, encroaching on right-of-way."

Sanitary District Annexation On Agenda

An application to annex the Uplands subdivision to the Corte Madera Sanitary District will be considered by the district board tonight at 7:30 p. m. in district headquarters, 500 Tamalpais Drive.

The subdivision, formerly called Carolands, is on Paradise Drive East of the Marin Country Day School in Corte Madera. A development map submitted by the Pullman Co., who also developed Paradise Cay, has been approved by the town.

Illinois To Give Birth Control Aid

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Illinois Public Aid Commission has approved a statewide policy to pay for birth control services for persons on relief.

The controversial measure passed yesterday, 10-4, with the four Roman Catholic members of the commission voting against it.

Commission Chairman Arnold H. Maremont, who offered the proposal, said it was needed to halt the ever-rising cost of providing aid to dependent children.

Flood Talk Offered

County Supervisor William D. Fusselman has offered to address the Corte Madera Town Council in January regarding the Corte Madera Creek flood control project, Mayor Edward W. Colthurst told the town council last night.

Meter Maids Collect Big Haul For City

San Rafael police's "meter maids" are making quite a haul.

According to yesterday's Independent-Journal, 13,148 parking meter violations were issued in November of 1953 and 22,363 in 1962. The figures stated for both years were actually for the 11 months through November.

Corte Madera May Require Shatterproof Glass In Doors

Sliding glass doors in new homes, apartments and commercial buildings in Corte Madera would have to be of laminated, tempered or wired glass under an ordinance introduced last night by the Corte Madera Town Council.

The council will "adopt or reject" the building code revision Dec. 17, said Mayor Edward W. Colthurst.

Carl Brown, representing the Associated Home Builders of Marin, argued for no change in present regulations. Three doctors had urged that all moving and non-moving parts of glass partitions be of shatterproof safety glass.

Dr. Julian A. Waller, state public health accident prevention coordinator, reported five deaths from glass partition accidents in one 40-day period. Dr. Elmer A. Weden Jr. of San Anselmo and Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, Marin County Health officer, urged that safety glass be required. William H. Richardson of 14 Chickasaw Court, safety engineer for the National Park Service in San Francisco, agreed.

The compromise calling for safety glass only in movable portions of the doors was moved by Councilman Charles F. Pendleton and passed 4-0.

The Corte Madera council also:

1. Set for 7:30 p.m. Dec. 20 a joint meeting with the planning commission regarding the town general plan, and continue to Dec. 17 discussion of a contract with architect Eugene Crawford to design a public safety building.

2. Approved spending $500 to surround pre-school age playground equipment on San Clemente School grounds with a fence, after the Larkspur School District superintendent asked that it be left in its present location at request of the Mariner Cove Improvement Assn.

3. Continued a report on the employees' retirement system and appointment of a park and recreation commissioner to Jan. 7.

4. Approved placing a lien for $290.96 against property at 251 Sausalito Street for abatement of weeds and trash.

5. Referred to Town Mgr. Arthur H. Brandow and Town Atty. Sherrod S. Davis investigation of allegedly illegal building and use of the site as a trash dump on property of Holzinger Brothers east of the Northwestern Pacific raidroad tracks.

Red Chinese Says Peking Line Is Right

ROME (UPI) — A Communist Chinese spokesman today bluntly said Peking has different opinions than other Communist parties on "a number of important international problems" and believes it is right.

Chao Yi-Ming, Communist Chinese deputy delegate to the 10th Italian Party Congress, was answering biting criticism by Italian and Soviet Party leaders on the Peking "hard line" of communism.

Chao criticized previous speakers for making the congress "a forum for attacks on a brotherly party."

Then for half an hour he used the same forum to defend Peking's ideology and directly or indirectly score the Soviet co-existence line.

A girl translated Chao's Chinese-language address into Italian for a Communist audience which by its murmurs and restlessness did not seem to like the speech at all. By chance or design Italian party leader Palmiro Togliatti, a Moscow disciple, turned his back on Chao when the Chinese finished.

San Rafael City Council Lets Contract For Storm Sewer Job

Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael won a contract for placing a storm sewer at Forbes Avenue and K Street as lowest of 10 bidders whose offers were opened at last night's San Rafael City Council meeting.

Ghilotti bid $10,892.90 for the job. The other nine bids ranged to a high of $15,865 by Maguire and Hester of Oakland.

The council put off until Friday noon action on creation of the Chula Vista Heights assessment district. Engineer Warren Nute said he would have assessment figures by then for inclusion of street work along with the sewers for which proceedings had been authorized two weeks ago. Streets and sewers can thus be combined in a single district.

The San Rafael City Council also:

1. Referred to the traffic committee a complaint by Mrs. Harry L. Mindle of 127 West End Avenue regarding the parking situation on her street.

2. Turnd over to the county jurisdidction over construction by Earl White on a lot in Bret Harte which is two-thirds outside and one-third inside the city.

3. Agreed to pay half the cost of relocating a storm drain next to the property line of a Scenic Avenue lot. Part of the drain has caved in, and tatorney Bryan J. McCarthy, representing the owners, sought to have the city pay the cost of a new line while moving it from its present course through the middle of the lot.

4. Accepted a proposal by public accountant H. D. Klinker to audit the city's books for fiscal 1962-63. Mayor John F. McInnis and City Clerk W. L. Morgan praised the manner in which Klinker handled the audit for the past year.

5. Referred to the public works department letters from the Terra Linda Community Services District requesting that the city maintain a Terra Linda bus shelter, providing greater protection at the intersection of Las Gallinas Avenue and Freitas Parkway, and station a crossing guard at Freitas Parkway and Las Pavadas Avenue. Regarding the bus shelter, Mayor McInnis and Councilman L. H. Baar pointed out it has not been the city's policy to maintain bus shelters.

6. Referred to the public works department a letter from Mrs. Olive M. Howe of 11 Scenic Avenue complaining of a sewer backup.

7. Voted final adoption of the ordinance calling a special election Jan. 22 on making the police chief and city attorney appointive.

Rezoning Proposal Protested Loudly

What looked like the simplest of three rezoning proposals before the San Rafael City Council last night turned out to be the one drawing the loudest protests.

It involved an application of Calvin C. B. Wheeler to add four units to his 215-unit, 24½-acre Terra Linda Meadows planned community project.

The planning commission had refused permission, holding Wheeler should stick to his original plan. As the council's hearing on Wheeler's appeal opened, Mayor John F. McInnis and Councilman Fred E. Jensen wondered out loud why the matter was even before them.

Wheeler, along with William Russo of the architectural firm of Welton Beckett and Associates, explained the addition would change the density only from 10.7 to 10.88 family units per acre, and the amount of the acreage covered by buildings only from 3.1 to 3.15 acres.

The four additional units were necessary, said Wheeler, to get Federal Administration financing for a project upgraded by addition of two sunken tennis courts, an enlarged swimming pool, a bigger gymnasium building including sauna baths, and a second bathroom in each two-bedroom apartment.

"Is there anyone here opposed to this application?" asked Mayor McInnis innocently.

Eight Terra Lindans answered by speaking against the proposal. Seven of them said they had been opposed to the planned community development from its beginning. All expressed fear that Wheeler would further change the plans approved a year ago by the planning commission.

When they had finished, Councilman Jensen declared, "You are really protesting the entire development, not the four units."

Mayor McInnis went further. He told the Terra Lindans:

"I suggest that you got together in one of your meetings and figured out that if the financing of the entire project hinged on these four units, you might be able at one stroke to kill the whole project. This, to me, is a most unconstructive attitude."

The council voted unanimously for Councilman L. H. Baar's motion to grant Wheeler what he asked.

The council went along with the planning commission in unanimously denying William R. Batey's appeal for rezoning from duplex to garden apartments of 37,000 square feet on Bungalow Avenue near Woodland Avenue. City Planner James R. Garrett said one letter and a petition with 36 signatures had opposed the rezoning. E. Charles and Mr. and Mrs. Caesar Bettini, Bungalow Avenue residents, spoke against it.

Long-discussed rezoning of Bayo Vista Way to permit 11 duplexes and three garden apartments totaling 18 units was approved 3-to-2. Weighing heavily with the council was an agreement on behalf of the unidentified owners by attorney Roderick P. Martinelli for improvement of Scenic Avenue behind the lots, with a non-access strip so there could be no egress onto Scenic.

Several residents of the area spoke against the rezoning, but it was approved with the "yes" votes of McInnis, Baar and Charles W. Aby; Councilmen Jensen and David Menary Jr. opposing.

ONLY ONE FILES FOR RECALL VOTE

Mrs. Aileen Graham, secretary at Manzanita School in Marin City, is the sole person to file a petition by deadline for a director's seat in the community services district recall election Jan. 17.

Mrs. Graham is the wife of Charles S. Graham, a Mill Valley garage owner. The Grahams live at Muir Beach.

Recall of Wilbur R. Brown, president of the district's board, was asked Oct. 9 by 24 persons who charged Brown worked toward development of a project (an assessment district to improve the water) against protests of a large number of property owners. Petitioners also said Brown was not diligent in directing the present water system efficiently.

Brown has defended himself saying Muir Beach has the poorest water in the state. He claims the water requires treatment and it's the prime duty of the board to work to improve it.

A proposal has been made to the district for an $80,000 water system to be paid for through an assessment district.

There will be two questions on the ballot, according to secretary William Hunt. One is, should Brown be recalled? If "yes," then voters should answer the second question, which is a vote for Mrs. Graham. A simple majority is needed in the election.

"We have always had very poor water," Mrs. Graham said today. "But I don't think what was proposed was very well publicized nor was it the answer to our water problem. I don't think it would have been a fair thing." She said she referred to the proposed assessment district.

The board is to hold its regular meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Hunt's residence.

Novato Streets To Be Discussed

The Novato city council will study a proposed policy for use of the Community building at an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. today in the Community building.

It will also consider a road priority system for repair and rebuilding the streets of the city.

The council may also hear a progress report on the swimming pool from Edmund Mahany, parks and recreation director.

Insurance Bids

A summary of insurance bids will be heard by North Marin County Water District commissioners at their meeting at 8 p.m. today in the district offices.

SIX-LANE NOVATO FREEWAY GOES TO BID

The State Division of Highways today called for bids, to be opened Dec. 12, on this section of six-lane freeway on U.S. Highway 101 near Hamilton Air Force Base. The project will extend for about three miles, from just north of Entrada Drive to just South of Miller Creek Road. Interchanges will be constructed at San Jose Boulevard and Pacheco Creek. The job is expected to take 14 months and is estimated to cost $3,500,000.

Judge Thomas Says He Doubts Smith Proved Case

Judge Leonard A. Thomas, hearing William J. J. Smith's suit to regain his job as Novato school superintendent, yesterday told opposing attorneys that he has doubts whether Smith has proved his case.

Judge Thomas made some informal observations, following conclusion of four days of testimony, aimed at guiding the attorneys in preparation of briefs to be filed by noon Dec. 28.

"I don't want to see you do a lot of work on these," said the judge, "but I'd like to see some good, sharp, clear thinking."

Although he indicated he's not convinced that Smith proved his case, Judge Thomas said "my mind is not foreclosed."

Looking in the direction of Smith's attorneys, Arthur M. Lebow and Richard H. Perry, Judge Thomas said he would "like you to assist the court by drawing the inferences" from testimony on hand.

The judge observed that there had been little contradiction of fact in the case, so that resolving it becomes a matter of how the law operates on the facts.

Regarding the letter which Smith submitted to the school board on Dec. 19, the judge said:

"I don't think there's any question of a doubt that's a resignation. If it's not a resignation, it's nothing."

He said witness after witness had testified that Smith had not been told prior to the meeting that his contract was not going to be renewed.

"But I drew the impression that everyone felt there were three (board members) who were not about to allow the contract to be renewed automatically and two who would," he added.

He said several witnesses used the term "buying time" in relation ot Smith's resignation, but he doubted if any of them knew the significance of the term.

As for the negotiations which Smith contended were promised but never carried out, Judge Thomas said these were not negotiations on a contract, as such, but negotiations on the accumulated differences between Smith and the board majority over the way Smith performed his duties.

When the deadline neared for the board either to deny Smith a contract renewal or let it be renewed automatically, Judge Thomas said, Smith did "the most practical thing imaginable."

He added, however, that with either Smith's resignation or a notice of non-renewal by the board, "time would have been bought"—six months, in fact, before there would have been a vacancy in the superintendent's post.

He said he could not conceive of an employee terminating his contract without having hopes of another one at hand.

Judge Thomas may make his findings on the basis of briefs by Smith's attorneys and County Counsel E. Warren McGuire representing the Novato Unified School District. However, he said he might ask for oral arguments, or would hear them if the attorneys later decide they want to make any.

Special 'Little Subdivision' Law Proposed By Marin Planners

A special ordinance for "little subdivisions" was proposed yesterday by the Marin County Commission to close loopholes in existing subdivision laws.

Sidney Shaw of the county planning staff told the commission he is investigating controls of lot splitting not now covered by ordinance. "As it is now," Shaw said," a large tract can be split into three sections, again into three more sections, and so on, without filing a subdivision map at all."

The existing ordinance has no provision for control over divisions of fewer than four parcels.

"The result is poor streets, no access and eventually the development of slums," commented Chairman William Upton.

The commission asked for further study of the proposed changes to be presented at the Jan. 7 meeting.

The Marin County Planners Also:

1. Approved Jack and Evelyn West's application for use permit for a community recreation center and swimming club at Bel Marin Boulevard and Montego Key, Bel Marin Keys.

2. Approved Robert W. Pollock's application for adjustment, but continued to Dec. 17 consideration of development plans for putting 29 units on two acres fronting on Casa Buena Drive, Meadowsweet.

3. Approved application of John DeVries to build an interior decorator's shop at 915 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard opposite Terrace Avenue in Kentfield. A variance was approved to allow five off-street parking spaces instead of eight as required by zoning.

4. Approved use permit and architectural supervision for a Sunday school at Wesminster Presbyterian Church, 240 Tiburon Boulevard, Tiburon. The one-story building will be used as a nursery school on weekdays.

5. Approved "subdivision" of air space for a Redwood Medical Center condominium on a three-quarter-acre site on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Kentfield near the Ross town limits. A use permit and building plans were previously approved.

6. Approved a tentative map for the 20-acre subdivision of Pleasant Valley Unit 1 on Sutro Avenue near Novato. Lots in the residential tract will be 10,000 square feet.

7. Authorized architectural supervision for additions to two warehouses on the property of Edmond Meyers north of the Marin Motor Movies near San Rafael.

8. Approved a street name change from Bel-Marin Boulevard to Bel-Marin Keys to conform with name of Bel-Marin Keys subdivision.

9. Authorized architectural supervision for Eichler Homes community center at Lucas Valley Unit 1. The center will include a swimming pool, meeting hall, recreation areas, and parking for 27 cars.

Novato High Plans Three Yule Events

MADERA BACKERS EASE BIND ON DEVELOPERS

Citizens with investments in the million-dollar Madera Village Motel next to Highway 101 extricated developers Phillip and Joseph Karp from two major troubles with the town of Corte Madera last night.

A third cloud was left still floating over the project as the town council agreed with Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow and Town Attorney Sherrod S. Davis that "no legal subdivision" had been carried out.

The council voted 4-0 to accept a third revision of parking plans to provide for 128 full 8 by 18-foot parking spaces.

Councilman Charles F. Pendleton specified that the minutes read that the council was approving parking and landscaping plans with the understanding that leading Corte Madera residents vouched that the plans would be carried out.

Pendleton identified some of the leading citizens as B. A. Sill, R. J. Zierolf, Martin Flynn and Domenic Dalecio.

Sill, who was present, said leading local citizens were backing the motel and wanted to see the deadlock with the city ended.

The council accepted an offer of attorney Joseph Casalnuova of San Francisco, representing the Karps, to deposit a $5,000 bond to guarantee completion of the parking-landscaping plans. On signing of an agreement and receipt of the money, the council will lift its bans on connecting utilities to the final building in the seven-structure development facing Tamal Vista Road, and will authorize the building inspector to issue occupancy permits.

However, the council stood fast on a vote of earlier in the evening to forbid issuance of further building permits until a "valid subdivision map" is approved — not for the two acres on which the motel stands but for the original plot of 6.3 acres.

Sill said numerous Marin residents were associated with some of 11 corporations financially interested in the motel.

Sill identified himself as a leader of one of the groups, Madera Village Inc. It and Madera Gardens Development Co. were named in the council's accusation of failing to effect a legal subdivision.

Resident Asks Why Street Not Accepted

A Mill Valley "B" street resident today asked the city council why his street—Lovell Avenue—which he claims was improved by property owners in 1935, was never accepted by the city as an "A" street.

He is John F. Caulfield of 351 Lovell, a resident of Mill Valley since 1927. He has lived at the same address 30 years.

Caulfield, who said he planned to "take a tour of some of the city's 'A' streets today to see how they compare with 'B' streets," claims that in 1935 property owners entered into a pact to improve Lovell for a distance 3,500 feet west from Cornelia Avenue.

Known as the Lovell Avenue Improvement Project, Caulfield stated, it came under the State Emergency Act. "The project was carried on with complete knowledge and consent of the City of Mill Valley," Caulfield related. "That is an indisputable fact."

He said pavement was broken and removed, the street widened, trees cut down, gutters placed, basins installed, corrugated pipe laid at many places to carry drainage across the street, retaining walls built, property deeded to the city, garages moved back at the owners' expense.

More than 100 people, at times, were working on the street, Caulfield said. Federal and state funds, county equipment and city funds, plus 45 cents a lineal foot from property owners were used. "The completed paving was stated as being permanent," he asserted.

"The question that now occurs is: if that was not an acceptable improvement in 1935 — what was it? Investigation can show other streets with somewhat similar history," said Caulfield.

"Records in the city hall," City Manager A. E. Almcrants said, "indicate that improvements on Lovell Avenue have never been accepted by the city council with exception of those between Corte Madera Avenue and Cornelia."

A progress report is to be made at the council meeting tomorrow night by Councilman Michael Wornum, who is doing a study of the "B streets report" given the council Nov. 21 by City Engineer Stanley M. Bala.

Bala's report on 37 of the city's "B," or unaccepted streets, stated that it would cost $61,480 to bring Lovell up to city standards. He designated the road in two parts—the first 3,287 feet (the portion Caulfield calls 3,300) as being "more or less a city street type." Bala said, "from there to Cascade it is a countryside road in character."

Within the first portion of the street, which Caulfield said has been improved, Bala listed: "Left travelled way collapsing; move roadway to right and install about 60 feet of guard rail; garage encroaching; concrete apron protruding, encroaching on right-of-way."

Sanitary District Annexation On Agenda

An application to annex the Uplands subdivision to the Corte Madera Sanitary District will be considered by the district board tonight at 7:30 p. m. in district headquarters, 500 Tamalpais Drive.

The subdivision, formerly called Carolands, is on Paradise Drive East of the Marin Country Day School in Corte Madera. A development map submitted by the Pullman Co., who also developed Paradise Cay, has been approved by the town.

Illinois To Give Birth Control Aid

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Illinois Public Aid Commission has approved a statewide policy to pay for birth control services for persons on relief.

Kobseff Enters Race As Kupfer Pulls Out

Nick Kobseff, Nicasio tavern owner, entered the race for Congress today by taking out nominating papers at the Marin County Courthouse.

Another rumored candidate, Rudolph S. Kupfer, assistant county superintendent of schools, pulled himself out of contention at the Jan. 22 special election.

Kobseff appeared at the courthouse with his wife, Mary Evelyn, and two childen to become a candidate even though he did not receive the endorsement of the Democratic endorsing convention last month.

"I've searched my whole mind," Kobseff declared, "and if I didn't go for it, I wouldn't want to live with myself."

He becomes the fourth candidate to take out papers for the race. Others are Democrats William F. Grader of Fort Bragg and John S. Stuart of Novato, and Republican Donald H. Clausen of Crescent City.

Kobseff said that since he appeared before and been turned down by the nominating caucus, "people have written me and called me urging me to run. They feel, and I do too, that this end of the district has the most people and needs direct representation. I am a Democrat and I've been a good one, but I haven't received any help. I am going to run as an independent Democrat and I think I will get considerable backing from Republicans too, because I've helped both parties."

Kobseff, 46, was born in San Francisco and moved to Marin 16 years ago. He lived in Corte Madera, where he ran a newspaper agency, became a volunteer fireman and a charter member of the Corte Madera Lions Club.

He moved to Nicasio 10 years ago, He owns and operates the Rancho Nicasio and has become prominent in sports and charitable organizations throughout the county.

"Nobody can be Clem Miller," declared Kobseff, who was a strong Miller supporter. "Our new congressman has to come up with his own ideas and ways to carry them out."

He said major issues are proper schools and educational facilities, a medical care program, problems of the timber industry, the need for industry in the district, highway improvement, conservation, and "preserving the beauty of our area before we toss it away."

He said he has "many friends" in the Sonoma, Mendocino and Napa areas, but is less well known in the district's other two counties, Humboldt and Del Norte.

He is a graduate of San Francisco schools and was a chief radioman in the Navy during World War II.

Kupfer, who "explored the possibilities of becoming an independent, unendorsed candidate," decided against it, he said, "despite the fact that the two major parties may not have nominated the best possible men."

NICK KOBSEFF
Running for Congress

He said he found, through a questionnaire and personal contact, that financing, party organization and available time are "greatly in favor of the endorsed candidates."

"Funds by the bucket, bushel, barrel or bale will probably be poured by both parties into this hotly contested race which the entire nation will be watching," Kupfer, a Republican declared. "Although I was encouraged by many of my friends, the political reality is that I might well have been used by one or both of the major parties for their own ends."

Clausen filed completed petitions of candidacy at the Marin county clerk's office today —a day after similar petitions were filed by Grader.

Proposed Marin City Co-Op Rates Submitted To Agency

Tentative rates for 48 cooperative apartments to be constructed in Marin City were submitted to the Marin County Redevelopment Agency yesterday but no action was taken on them.

Commissioners asked for further details and put the matter over to a special meeting at 2 p.m. Monday.

Rates, executive director Bert Klahn said today, are the same as submitted last January and are subject to final Federal Housing Administration approval, which he hopes to get by Monday. They are $92 for a one-bedroom apartment, $107 for a two-bedroom and $123 for a three-bedroom.

Apartments, to be purchased under a cooperative plan, are to be constructed immediately following FHA and agency approval. The interest rate, Klahn said, is three and one-eighth per cent.

Also to be discussed at the special meeting is possible eviction of 10 families who are ineligible for relocation assistance. They are among 51 families in the path of the development of Drake Avenue and the Presbyterian Church site at Drake and Donohue avenues.

The commission postponed to Monday final action on plan approval of the First Missionary Baptist Church, pending more details, Klahn said. It adopted a resolution approving transfer and assignment of interest in the Church of God site, the church to be built at Drake and Buckelew avenues.

At the Marin County Housing Authority meeting, preceding the agency meeting, it was announced that there are 534 families living in Marin City, a decrease of eight from last month.

Reserve To Get Modernization

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara set in motion today a drastic modernization of the Army Reserve and National Guard.

The reorganization involves eliminating eight Reserve and National Guard infantry divisions, all of low priority, and dropping 731 smaller units which are considered out of date.

Most of the men in these units will be reformed into streamlined outfits which—together with a picked group of six National Guard divisions—will make up a top priority force trained and ready to back up the Army's 16 divisions within eight weeks after a call to active duty.

The Defense Department sent state governors proposals —and appeals for cooperation —in a parallel revamping of the National Guard. This calls for cutting out four low priority Guard divisions and 338 obsolete units.

Under the law, a governor must approve any changes in the Guard within his state—and this could cause the Pentagon problems.

Ticketed for major surgery are these Reserve divisions:

The 79th of Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland; the 94th of Massachusetts; the 103rd of Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin, and the 96th covering Arizona, Nevada, Utah, Idaho, Montana and Washington.

The four Guard divisions facing drastic changes are the 34th of Nebraska and Iowa; the 35th of Kansas and Missouri; the 43rd of Connecticut, Rhode Island and Vermont, and the 51st of Florida and South Carolina.

U.S. Reject Soviet Plan On A-Test Ban

GENEVA (AP) — The United States rejected today the "black box" system of unmanned robot seismic stations as a foolproof method of policing a ban on underground nuclear tests.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean told the 17-nation disarmament conference that the Soviet Union's own scientists recognized that the black boxes could not by themselves provide the complete answer to enforcing a test ban.

"Initial studies," Dean said, "lead us to believe that substantial numbers of these stations would be required before there could be any reduction in the number of required on-site inspections. And even then an appropriate number of on-site inspections would be required."

Dean asked Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin to give a precise statement of Moscow's view on the value of the black boxes.

Tsarapkin revived the subject in the nuclear negotiations yesterday when he declared the Soviet government supports the black boxes concept and believes such a network of unmanned detection stations can help prevent test ban violations.

The Soviet delegate left the impression that Moscow thinks the black boxes, plus existing national detection systems, would eliminate the need for on-site inspections.

Dean challenged that concept.

A House or Senate resolution does not require the other chamber's approval or the president's signature.

Belvedere Teen-Agers Get Center

Belvedere will open a teen center in the community hall in mid-January with $1,000 appropriated from recreation commission money.

As outlined at last night's meeting of the city council by Charles E. Auerbach, the center will be open to Belvedere high school students Monday through Thursday from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m., with special activities planned for Friday night and Saturday afternoon and night.

Recreation facilities such as table tennis, a juke box, reading materials and soft drinks will be provided. Weekend activities will include movies, dances and ski trips.

Gary Thomas, a senior student specializing in recreational activities at San Francisco State College, will be hired to supervise the program through June. His services will partially fulfill a college requirement. He will be paid $2 an hour plus transportation.

Those eligible for membership will pay a nominal fee to join, according to Auerbach.

A mid-December meeting is scheduled with the teen-agers to discuss plans.

New Air Stamp Sales Precede Postal Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new eight-cent air mail postage stamp will go on sale tomorrow, more than a month before the effective date of new postal rate increases.

The one-cent boost in the present seven-cent air mail and four-cent first class mail rates will go into effect Jan. 7.

Home Meeting Delayed

The Loma Verde Homeowners Assn. did not hold its regular monthly meeting last night. It will have its annual dinner-dance at the Marin Golf and Country Club on Saturday night instead.

RUSS WON'T PAY UN CONGO COSTS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y (AP) —The Soviet Union has told the United Nations once more it has no intention of sharing the huge cost of U.N. forces in the Congo and the Middle East despite warnings that refusal could bankrupt the United Nations.

Soviet delegate Pavel M. Tchernyshev told the 110-nation budgetary committee Monday that the Soviet Union rejects responsibility for the two peace-keeping operations because they were approved by the General Assembly instead of the Security Council, where the Soviets have a veto.

"This has been and continues to be the position of the Soviet Union," Tchernyshev declared.

The Russian rejection came after Secretary-General U Thant and U.S. delegate Philip M. Klutznick both warned that the United Nations is headed for financial disaster unless members abandon political considerations and find a formula for raising the money.

The committee began debate on a U.S. resolution calling for acceptance of the World Court's opinion that costs of maintaining the two forces come under "expenses of the organization" that the U.N. charter says shall be shared by all members.

Thant asserted that the United Nations' financial plight "transcends political controversy."

"A financially bankrupt United Nations would be an ineffective United Nations," he said, "if indeed it could survive on such a basis."

The secretary-general recalled that member states have agreed that the United Nations in indispensable. To resolve its financial crisis would "represent a vote of confidence in its future," he said.

Klutznick said it was not a question of what was the right or wrong method of providing the money.

"What we now do must be guided by only one consideration—nurturing this institution," he said.

"We don't believe it is the intent of any member to bankrupt the United Natoins. Whatever our differences, we share to keep life in the United Nations."

Klutznick warned that to reject the court's opinion "would leave us at best where we were a year ago, exposed to argument, debate and confusion while the organization sinks deeper and deeper into the quicksand of financial disaster."

Mill Valley Teachers Get Pay Boost

Mill Valley School District trustees last night adopted a teacher salary schedule for fiscal 1963-64 increasing the present $5,000-$9,000 range to $5,150-$9,530.

Approval was given in discussion of the district's operating budget for 1963-64. Specific salaries will be submitted to the board in January.

A survey of salaries other than those for teachers and administrators is being made, said Leo B. Edson, assistant superintendent.

The board reviewed the building fund budget and authorized hiring Eugene E. Crawford of Novato as architect to study rehabilitation of Old Mill School auditorium. Crawford, who will also study relocation of the school library to Room 11, is to report to the board Jan. 12.

Pupils are expected to be moved into the four new classrooms at Old Mill School this week, Edson said.

Observers along the Kiel Canal, West Germany's 61-mile shortcut between the North and Baltic seas, note that East German shipping has almost vanished.

San Rafael City Council Lets Contract For Storm Sewer Job

Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael won a contract for placing a storm sewer at Forbes Avenue and K Street as lowest of 10 bidders whose offers were opened at last night's San Rafael City Council meeting.

Ghilotti bid $10,892.90 for the job. The other nine bids ranged to a high of $15.865 by Maguire and Hester of Oakland.

The council put off until Friday noon action on creation of the Chula Vista Heights assessment district. Engineer Warren Nute said he would have assessment figures by then for inclusion of street work along with the sewers for which proceedings had been authorized two weeks ago. Streets and sewers can thus be combined in a single district.

The San Rafael City Council also:

1. Referred to the traffic committee a complaint by Mrs. Harry L. Mindle of 127 West End Avenue regarding the parking situation on her street.

2. Turnd over to the county jurisdidction over construction by Earl White on a lot in Bret Harte which is two-thirds outside and one-third inside the city.

3. Agreed to pay half the cost of relocating a storm drain next to the property line of a Scenic Avenue lot. Part of the drain has caved in, and tatorney Bryan J. McCarthy, representing the owners, sought to have the city pay the cost of a new line while moving it from its present course through the middle of the lot.

4. Accepted a proposal by public accountant H. D. Klinker to audit the city's books for fiscal 1962-63. Mayor John F. McInnis and City Clerk W. L. Morgan praised the manner in which Klinker handled the audit for the past year.

5. Referred to the public works department letters from the Terra Linda Community Services District requesting that the city maintain a Terra Linda bus shelter, providing greater protection at the intersection of Las Gallinas Avenue and Freitas Parkway, and station a crossing guard at Freitas Parkway and Las Pavadas Avenue. Regarding the bus shelter, Mayor McInnis and Councilman L. H. Baar pointed out it has not been the city's policy to maintain bus shelters.

6. Referred to the public works department a letter from Mrs. Olive M. Howe of 11 Scenic Avenue complaining of a sewer backup.

7. Voted final adoption of the ordinance calling a special election Jan. 22 on making the police chief and city attorney appointive.

Rezoning Proposal Protested Loudly

What looked like the simplest of three rezoning proposals before the San Rafael City Council last night turned out to be the one drawing the loudest protests.

It involved an application of Calvin C. B. Wheeler to add four units to his 215-unit, 24½-acre Terra Linda Meadows planned community project.

The planning commission had refused permission, holding Wheeler should stick to his original plan. As the council's hearing on Wheeler's appeal opened, Mayor John F. McInnis and Councilman Fred E. Jensen wondered out loud why the matter was even before them.

Wheeler, along with William Russo of the architectural firm of Welton Beckett and Associates, explained the addition would change the density only from 10.7 to 10.88 family units per acre, and the amount of the acreage covered by buildings only from 3.1 to 3.15 acres.

The four additional units were necessary, said Wheeler, to get Federal Administration financing for a project upgraded by addition of two sunken tennis courts, an enlarged swimming pool, a bigger gymnasium building including sauna baths, and a second bathroom in each two-bedroom apartment.

"Is there anyone here opposed to this application?" asked Mayor McInnis innocently.

Eight Terra Lindans answered by speaking against the proposal. Seven of them said they had been opposed to the planned community development from its beginning. All expressed fear that Wheeler would further change the plans approved a year ago by the planning commission.

When they had finished, Councilman Jensen declared, "You are really protesting the entire development, not the four units."

Mayor McInnis went further. He told the Terra Lindans:

"I suggest that you got together in one of your meetings and figured out that if the financing of the entire project hinged on these four units, you might be able at one stroke to kill the whole project. This, to me, is a most unconstructive attitude."

The council voted unanimously for Councilman L. H. Baar's motion to grant Wheeler what he asked.

The council went along with the planning commission in unanimously denying William R. Batey's appeal for rezoning from duplex to garden apartments of 37,000 square feet on Bungalow Avenue near Woodland Avenue. City Planner James R. Garrett said one letter and a petition with 36 signatures had opposed the rezoning. E. Charles and Mr. and Mrs. Caesar Bettini, Bungalow Avenue residents, spoke against it.

Long-discussed rezoning of Bayo Vista Way to permit 11 duplexes and three garden apartments totaling 18 units was approved 3-to-2. Weighing heavily with the council was an agreement on behalf of the unidentified owners by attorney Roderick P. Martinelli for improvement of Scenic Avenue behind the lots, with a non-access strip so there could be no egress onto Scenic.

Several residents of the area spoke against the rezoning, but it was approved with the "yes" votes of McInnis, Baar and Charles W. Aby; Councilmen Jensen and David Menary Jr. opposing.

New Safety Devices To Speed Up Autos

RACINE, Wis. (UPI) — Automobiles will move over the highways at 80 to 85 miles an hour within 10 years, believes Walter H. Powers of Walker Manufacturing Co., maker of mufflers.

He said many new safety devices must be built into cars to meet the new situation.

ONLY ONE FILES FOR RECALL VOTE

Mrs. Aileen Graham, secretary at Manzanita School in Marin City, is the sole person to file a petition by deadline for a director's seat in the community services district recall election Jan. 17.

Mrs. Graham is the wife of Charles S. Graham, a Mill Valley garage owner. The Grahams live at Muir Beach.

Recall of Wilbur R. Brown, president of the district's board, was asked Oct. 9 by 24 persons who charged Brown worked toward development of a project (an assessment district to improve the water) against protests of a large number of property owners. Petitioners also said Brown was not diligent in directing the present water system efficiently.

Brown has defended himself saying Muir Beach has the poorest water in the state. He claims the water requires treatment and it's the prime duty of the board to work to improve it.

A proposal has been made to the district for an $80,000 water system to be paid for through an assessment district.

There will be two questions on the ballot, according to secretary William Hunt. One is, should Brown be recalled? If "yes," then voters should answer the second question, which is a vote for Mrs. Graham. A simple majority is needed in the election.

"We have always had very poor water," Mrs. Graham said today. "But I don't think what was proposed was very well publicized nor was it the answer to our water problem. I don't think it would have been a fair thing." She said she referred to the proposed assessment district.

The board is to hold its regular meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Hunt's residence.

Novato Streets To Be Discussed

The Novato city council will study a proposed policy for use of the Community building at an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. today in the Community building.

It will also consider a road priority system for repair and rebuilding the streets of the city.

The council may also hear a progress report on the swimming pool from Edmund Mahany, parks and recreation director.

Insurance Bids

A summary of insurance bids will be heard by North Marin County Water District commissioners at their meeting at 8 p.m. today in the district offices.

5 Injured In 3 Motoring Accidents

Five persons were hurt in three unrelated motoring accidents in Marin County just before or after last midnight. All the injuries appeared minor.

Shortly after 10 p.m., a northbound car driven by Irwin A. Rotohy, a bartender of 230 Elm Street, Mill Valley, crossed the divider on the Richardson Bay Bridge and struck a southbound car driven by Dorothy M. O'Connor, San Francisco teacher.

Rotohy was cited by the California Highway Patrol for crossing the divider. Neither driver was seriously hurt.

William J. Hill Jr. of 83 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, was thrown off his motorcycle at 11 p.m. when it skidded on gravel as he was westbound on Bellam Boulevard turning into Jacoby Street, south San Rafael. He was treated at Marin General Hospital for forehead cuts and shoulder bruises and cited by the patrol on a charge of unsafe speed.

A car in which Leonard F. Duggan Jr. of Sonoma and Gary Huyck of Glen Ellen were westbound on the Black Point cutoff just west of the Petaluma River bridge crossed the divider at 1:30 a.m. and overturned on a curve.

Both occupants were slightly cut and bruised but not hospitalized. Duggan, believed to have been the driver, was taken to the county jail on a charge of being drunk.

Blow Will Cost Weekends In Jail

Novato plumber Andrew Longoria, 27, of 72 Alice Street must spend two weekends in Marin County Jail and remain on one year probation for hitting another man last month.

Longoria pleaded guilty to battery and being drunk and was sentenced yesterday by Judge Joseph G. Wilson in Marin Municipal Court.

Novato police arrested Longoria on Nov. 24 in front of Cloud Five on First Street for hitting John Babbage of 1036 Third Street during an argument.

Kobseff Enters Race As Kupfer Pulls Out

Nick Kobseff, Nicasio tavern owner, entered the race for Congress today by taking out nominating papers at the Marin County Courthouse.

Another rumored candidate, Rudolph S. Kupfer, assistant county superintendent of schools, pulled himself out of contention at the Jan. 22 special election.

Kobseff appeared at the courthouse with his wife, Mary Evelyn, and two childen to become a candidate even though he did not receive the endorsement of the Democratic endorsing convention last month.

"I've searched my whole mind," Kobseff declared, "and if I didn't go for it, I wouldn't want to live with myself."

He becomes the fourth candidate to take out papers for the race. Others are Democrats William F. Grader of Fort Bragg and John S. Stuart of Novato, and Republican Donald H. Clausen of Crescent City.

Kobseff said that since he appeared before and been turned down by the nominating caucus, "people have written me and called me urging me to run. They feel, and I do too, that this end of the district has the most people and needs direct representation. I am a Democrat and I've been a good one, but I haven't received any help. I am going to run as an independent Democrat and I think I will get considerable backing from Republicans too, because I've helped both parties."

Kobseff, 46, was born in San Francisco and moved to Marin 16 years ago. He lived in Corte Madera, where he ran a newspaper agency, became a volunteer fireman and a charter member of the Corte Madera Lions Club.

He moved to Nicasio 10 years ago, He owns and operates the Rancho Nicasio and has become prominent in sports and charitable organizations throughout the county.

"Nobody can be Clem Miller," declared Kobseff, who was a strong Miller supporter. "Our new congressman has to come up with his own ideas and ways to carry them out."

He said major issues are proper schools and educational facilities, a medical care program, problems of the timber industry, the need for industry in the district, highway improvement, conservation, and "preserving the beauty of our area before we toss it away."

He said he has "many friends" in the Sonoma, Mendocino and Napa areas, but is less well known in the district's other two counties, Humboldt and Del Norte.

He is a graduate of San Francisco schools and was a chief radioman in the Navy during World War II.

Kupfer, who "explored the possibilities of becoming an independent, unendorsed candidate," decided against it, he said, "despite the fact that the two major parties may not have nominated the best possible men."

NICK KOBSEFF
Running for Congress

He said he found, through a questionnaire and personal contact, that financing, party organization and available time are "greatly in favor of the endorsed candidates."

"Funds by the bucket, bushel, barrel or bale will probably be poured by both parties into this hotly contested race which the entire nation will be watching," Kupfer, a Republican declared. "Although I was encouraged by many of my friends, the political reality is that I might well have been used by one or both of the major parties for their own ends."

Clausen filed completed petitions of candidacy at the Marin county clerk's office today —a day after similar petitions were filed by Grader.

Proposed Marin City Co-Op Rates Submitted To Agency

Tentative rates for 48 cooperative apartments to be constructed in Marin City were submitted to the Marin County Redevelopment Agency yesterday but no action was taken on them.

Commissioners asked for further details and put the matter over to a special meeting at 2 p.m. Monday.

Rates, executive director Bert Klahn said today, are the same as submitted last January and are subject to final Federal Housing Administration approval, which he hopes to get by Monday. They are $92 for a one-bedroom apartment, $107 for a two-bedroom and $123 for a three-bedroom.

Apartments, to be purchased under a cooperative plan, are to be constructed immediately following FHA and agency approval. The interest rate, Klahn said, is three and one-eighth per cent.

Also to be discussed at the special meeting is possible eviction of 10 families who are ineligible for relocation assistance. They are among 51 families in the path of the development of Drake Avenue and the Presbyterian Church site at Drake and Donohue avenues.

The commission postponed to Monday final action on plan approval of the First Missionary Baptist Church, pending more details, Klahn said. It adopted a resolution approving transfer and assignment of interest in the Church of God site, the church to be built at Drake and Buckelew avenues.

At the Marin County Housing Authority meeting, preceding the agency meeting, it was announced that there are 534 families living in Marin City, a decrease of eight from last month.

Reserve To Get Modernization

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara set in motion today a drastic modernization of the Army Reserve and National Guard.

The reorganization involves eliminating eight Reserve and National Guard infantry divisions, all of low priority, and dropping 731 smaller units which are considered out of date.

Most of the men in these units will be reformed into streamlined outfits which—together with a picked group of six National Guard divisions—will make up a top priority force trained and ready to back up the Army's 16 divisions within eight weeks after a call to active duty.

The Defense Department sent state governors proposals —and appeals for cooperation —in a parallel revamping of the National Guard. This calls for cutting out four low priority Guard divisions and 338 obsolete units.

Under the law, a governor must approve any changes in the Guard within his state—and this could cause the Pentagon problems.

Ticketed for major surgery are these Reserve divisions:

The 79th of Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland; the 94th of Massachusetts; the 103rd of Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin, and the 96th covering Arizona, Nevada, Utah, Idaho, Montana and Washington.

The four Guard divisions facing drastic changes are the 34th of Nebraska and Iowa; the 35th of Kansas and Missouri; the 43rd of Connecticut, Rhode Island and Vermont, and the 51st of Florida and South Carolina.

U.S. Reject Soviet Plan On A-Test Ban

GENEVA (AP) — The United States rejected today the "black box" system of unmanned robot seismic stations as a foolproof method of policing a ban on underground nuclear tests.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean told the 17-nation disarmament conference that the Soviet Union's own scientists recognized that the black boxes could not by themselves provide the complete answer to enforcing a test ban.

"Initial studies," Dean said, "lead us to believe that substantial numbers of these stations would be required before there could be any reduction in the number of required on-site inspections. And even then an appropriate number of on-site inspections would be required."

Dean asked Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin to give a precise statement of Moscow's view on the value of the black boxes.

Tsarapkin revived the subject in the nuclear negotiations yesterday when he declared the Soviet government supports the black boxes concept and believes such a network of unmanned detection stations can help prevent test ban violations.

The Soviet delegate left the impression that Moscow thinks the black boxes, plus existing national detection systems, would eliminate the need for on-site inspections.

Dean challenged that concept.

A House or Senate resolution does not require the other chamber's approval or the president's signature.

Belvedere Teen-Agers Get Center

Belvedere will open a teen center in the community hall in mid-January with $1,000 appropriated from recreation commission money.

As outlined at last night's meeting of the city council by Charles E. Auerbach, the center will be open to Belvedere high school students Monday through Thursday from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m., with special activities planned for Friday night and Saturday afternoon and night.

Recreation facilities such as table tennis, a juke box, reading materials and soft drinks will be provided. Weekend activities will include movies, dances and ski trips.

Gary Thomas, a senior student specializing in recreational activities at San Francisco State College, will be hired to supervise the program through June. His services will partially fulfill a college requirement. He will be paid $2 an hour plus transportation.

Those eligible for membership will pay a nominal fee to join, according to Auerbach.

A mid-December meeting is scheduled with the teen-agers to discuss plans.

New Air Stamp Sales Precede Postal Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new eight-cent air mail postage stamp will go on sale tomorrow, more than a month before the effective date of new postal rate increases.

The one-cent boost in the present seven-cent air mail and four-cent first class mail rates will go into effect Jan. 7.

Home Meeting Delayed

The Loma Verde Homeowners Assn. did not hold its regular monthly meeting last night. It will have its annual dinner-dance at the Marin Golf and Country Club on Saturday night instead.

RUSS WON'T PAY UN CONGO COSTS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y (AP) —The Soviet Union has told the United Nations once more it has no intention of sharing the huge cost of U.N. forces in the Congo and the Middle East despite warnings that refusal could bankrupt the United Nations.

Soviet delegate Pavel M. Tchernyshev told the 110-nation budgetary committee Monday that the Soviet Union rejects responsibility for the two peace-keeping operations because they were approved by the General Assembly instead of the Security Council, where the Soviets have a veto.

"This has been and continues to be the position of the Soviet Union," Tchernyshev declared.

The Russian rejection came after Secretary-General U Thant and U.S. delegate Philip M. Klutznick both warned that the United Nations is headed for financial disaster unless members abandon political considerations and find a formula for raising the money.

The committee began debate on a U.S. resolution calling for acceptance of the World Court's opinion that costs of maintaining the two forces come under "expenses of the organization" that the U.N. charter says shall be shared by all members.

Thant asserted that the United Nations' financial plight "transcends political controversy."

"A financially bankrupt United Nations would be an ineffective United Nations," he said, "if indeed it could survive on such a basis."

The secretary-general recalled that member states have agreed that the United Nations in indispensable. To resolve its financial crisis would "represent a vote of confidence in its future," he said.

Klutznick said it was not a question of what was the right or wrong method of providing the money.

"What we now do must be guided by only one consideration—nurturing this institution," he said.

"We don't believe it is the intent of any member to bankrupt the United Natoins. Whatever our differences, we share to keep life in the United Nations."

Klutznick warned that to reject the court's opinion "would leave us at best where we were a year ago, exposed to argument, debate and confusion while the organization sinks deeper and deeper into the quicksand of financial disaster."

Mill Valley Teachers Get Pay Boost

Mill Valley School District trustees last night adopted a teacher salary schedule for fiscal 1963-64 increasing the present $5,000-$9,000 range to $5,150-$9,530.

Approval was given in discussion of the district's operating budget for 1963-64. Specific salaries will be submitted to the board in January.

A survey of salaries other than those for teachers and administrators is being made, said Leo B. Edson, assistant superintendent.

The board reviewed the building fund budget and authorized hiring Eugene E. Crawford of Novato as architect to study rehabilitation of Old Mill School auditorium. Crawford, who will also study relocation of the school library to Room 11, is to report to the board Jan. 12.

Pupils are expected to be moved into the four new classrooms at Old Mill School this week, Edson said.

DREAM SHATTERED

Skin Diving Experiment Ends In Tragic Death For Two

LONG BEACH (UPI)—A Swiss scientist's dreams of a revolutionary new skin diving method ended in tragedy yesterday when two of his companions died as a result of a deep-sea dive.

Peter Small, 35, a well known British diver and journalist, died of an air embolism after being brought to the surface. During the scientific experiment, safety diver Christopher Duncan Whittaker, 21, slipped beneath the surface of the water and failed to return.

Small and Hannes Keller, 28, who hoped to prove the effectiveness of a secret gaseous mixture as a means of avoiding the "bends," were pulled unconscious from a diving bell after returning from a 1,000-foot descent.

Keller, after going through decompression, was reported recovered and walking around last night. He was released from the hospital shortly before midnight.

The coroner's office said Small apparently suffered the bends, explosion of nitrogen bubbles in the blood from external pressure and lack of oxygen.

However, Fleury Niggli, also of Switzerland and chief of operations in the experiment, claimed it was a "scientific success." He said the trouble was caused by a leak in the diving apparatus althought he did not yet know where it occurred.

Small "was too tired, his heart was too weak," Niggli said. "It seems that in these last few mintues that Small had a cardiac arrest."

Whittaker, a geology student at UCLA, was from London. He was a member of the British Sub-Aqua Club there, which Small helped found.

Small and Keller were taken from the bell to the deck of the oil exploration ship Eureka from which it had been launched off Santa Catalina Island.

Crew members of the Eureka said Whittaker and another safety diver were told they should not go down again after they had returned from one 200-foot dive to the chamber. It was reported that Whittaker had blood under his nose and that the top portion of his diving suit was inflated before he disappeared.

A Coast Guard helicopter, an amphibious plane and several boats participated in a three-hour search for Whittaker, but no trace was found.

Both Keller and Niggli are from Winterthur, Switzerland. Keller, a professor of mathematics, holds the world record for an open-water dive. He set it in June of 1961 with a dive of 728 feet in Lake Maggiore, Switzerland.

He said his gas mixture cuts down the normal decompression time required by divers to an estimated four hours. His experiments have been financed by the U.S. Navy and by private oil companies.

5 Injured In 3 Motoring Accidents

Five persons were hurt in three unrelated motoring accidents in Marin County just before or after last midnight. All the injuries appeared minor.

Shortly after 10 p.m., a northbound car driven by Irwin A. Rotohy, a bartender of 230 Elm Street, Mill Valley, crossed the divider on the Richardson Bay Bridge and struck a southbound car driven by Dorothy M. O'Connor, San Francisco teacher.

Rotohy was cited by the California Highway Patrol for crossing the divider. Neither driver was seriously hurt.

William J. Hill Jr. of 83 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, was thrown off his motorcycle at 11 p.m. when it skidded on gravel as he was westbound on Bellam Boulevard turning into Jacoby Street, south San Rafael. He was treated at Marin General Hospital for forehead cuts and shoulder bruises and cited by the patrol on a charge of unsafe speed.

A car in which Leonard F. Duggan Jr. of Sonoma and Gary Huyck of Glen Ellen were westbound on the Black Point cutoff just west of the Petaluma River bridge crossed the divider at 1:30 a.m. and overturned on a curve.

Both occupants were slightly cut and bruised but not hospitalized. Duggan, believed to have been the driver, was taken to the county jail on a charge of being drunk.

Blow Will Cost Weekends In Jail

Novato plumber Andrew Longoria, 27, of 72 Alice Street must spend two weekends in Marin County Jail and remain on one year probation for hitting another man last month.

Longoria pleaded guilty to battery and being drunk and was sentenced yesterday by Judge Joseph G. Wilson in Marin Municipal Court.

Novato police arrested Longoria on Nov. 24 in front of Cloud Five on First Street for hitting John Babbage of 1036 Third Street during an argument.

Vandals Enter School

Vandals broke into Old Mill School sometime Sunday evening, Mill Valley police reported today, but took nothing. They broke a window of Room 11, then broke a glass in the door of the office.

DREAM SHATTERED

Skin Diving Experiment Ends In Tragic Death For Two

LONG BEACH (UPI)—A Swiss scientist's dreams of a revolutionary new skin diving method ended in tragedy yesterday when two of his companions died as a result of a deep-sea dive.

Peter Small, 35, a well known British diver and journalist, died of an air embolism after being brought to the surface. During the scientific experiment, safety diver Christopher Duncan Whittaker, 21, slipped beneath the surface of the water and failed to return.

Small and Hannes Keller, 28, who hoped to prove the effectiveness of a secret gaseous mixture as a means of avoiding the "bends," were pulled unconscious from a diving bell after returning from a 1,000-foot descent.

Keller, after going through decompression, was reported recovered and walking around last night. He was released from the hospital shortly before midnight.

The coroner's office said Small apparently suffered the bends, explosion of nitrogen bubbles in the blood from external pressure and lack of oxygen.

However, Fleury Niggli, also of Switzerland and chief of operations in the experiment, claimed it was a "scientific success." He said the trouble was caused by a leak in the diving apparatus althought he did not yet know where it occurred.

Small "was too tired, his heart was too weak," Niggli said. "It seems that in these last few mintues that Small had a cardiac arrest."

Whittaker, a geology student at UCLA, was from London. He was a member of the British Sub-Aqua Club there, which Small helped found.

Small and Keller were taken from the bell to the deck of the oil exploration ship Eureka from which it had been launched off Santa Catalina Island.

Crew members of the Eureka said Whittaker and another safety diver were told they should not go down again after they had returned from one 200-foot dive to the chamber. It was reported that Whittaker had blood under his nose and that the top portion of his diving suit was inflated before he disappeared.

A Coast Guard helicopter, an amphibious plane and several boats participated in a three-hour search for Whittaker, but no trace was found.

Both Keller and Niggli are from Winterthur, Switzerland. Keller, a professor of mathematics, holds the world record for an open-water dive. He set it in June of 1961 with a dive of 728 feet in Lake Maggiore, Switzerland.

He said his gas mixture cuts down the normal decompression time required by divers to an estimated four hours. His experiments have been financed by the U.S. Navy and by private oil companies.

REUNION WITH MOTHER

David Collins, 5, clings to his mother, Mrs. Catherine Collins, whom he has not seen since his father took him from his St. Petersburg, Fla., home six months ago and left him in a Los Angeles bar. Move On To Unite Novato Home Improvement Groups

A move to unite all home owner groups in Novato into one large federation was started last night by the Lynwood Park Improvement Assn., meeting in the Lynwood School.

The association called a meeting of directors of the various associations to be held at 8 p.m. Dec. 17 at the Lynwood School. Representatives of the Monte Marie, Rancho Village, Marin Golf and Country Club, Loma Verda, St. Francis Heights, Hidden Valley and any other groups that represent home owners will be invited to the meeting, said Mrs. Ethel Fields, secretary.

Directors of the Lynwood group hope to form a federation which can present a united front to the city council and planning commission on zoning matters, she said.

Jack Monahan of 1286 Leafwood Drive, was named to the board of directors to fill a vacancy created by resignation of Mrs. Betty Miller.

S. Spencer Morse of 1037 Greenwood Drive was placed in charge of the Christmas decorations. The directors decided to have the annual caroling on the night of Dec. 23.

The directors also voted to take legal action to collect dues from delinquent members.

Probation Ordered In Theft From Cafe

Christopher Hugh Hinman, 19, of San Rafael, who stole about $800 in cash from Griddle Cafe last July, drew three years probation and 24 days in county jail, which he has already served.

Hinman must also make restitution for the amount taken. Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court sentenced him yesterday for grand theft.

Expense Account Ease Due

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service today announced it has started easing proposed regulations, sharply criticized by business, which are aimed at ending "expense account living."

Mortimer M. Chaplin, IRS commissoner, made the announcement in a statement opening two days of public hearings on rules implementing the 1962 tax law. In general the regulations call for more detailed record keeping to support tax deductions for business travel, entertainment and gifts.

DECISIONS

Chaplin said that on the basis of protest letters received so far, "we have already made positive decisions to liberalize the regulations in several specific areas."

And he said the tax collecting agency is giving "serious study" to one of the most contraversial features of the proposed rules—a requirement that businessmen save receipts for all travel-entertainment-gift outlays of $10 or more.

IRS has been receiving about 400 letters a day from businessmen, most of them criticizing the rules proposals issued Nov. 8. In addition, some 60 businessmen, labor leaders and members of Congress lined up to testify at the public hearings.

REGULATIONS

Chaplin said final regulations will be issued in about three weeks, before the new law becomes effective Jan. 1.

Business spokesmen attending the hearing were given an IRS statement detailing the steps already contemplated to ease the regulations.

The statement said final rules will not require record-keeping much different from that required by "many prudently managed businesses."

PLANNERS NOSTALGIC AS THEY LEAVE OLD COLEMAN SCHOOL

The Marin County Planning Commission bid a not-too-sorrowful farewell yesterday to the old Coleman School at 1711 Grand Avenue, San Rafael, where commission meetings have been held for nearly 15 years.

When the commission meets again Dec. 17, it expects to be in the new Civic Center.

"Perhaps we should have a minute of silence," Chairman William Upton suggested. "Looking back somewhat nostalgically, this old building, with its poor acoustics, has heard some interesting and lively discussions."

The county planning department will move to the Civic Center next Tuesday. The 40-year-old former school building, headquarters for the planners, public works department and county library, will be sold, probably to the State Division of Highways for freeway right-of-way.

After Upton's benediction, the commissioners adjourned "in memory" of the old building.

San Quentin Convict Slashes Own Throat

A convicted burglar from Los Angeles attempted to commit suicide in his San Quentin cell yesterday by slashing his throat with a razor blade at about 8 p.m., according to Associate Warden Dale Frady.

Robert Swanson, 26, was in fair condition today in the prison hospital after receiving 19 stitches. Swanson, serving a one-year-to-life term, has been at San Quentin since Jan. 11.

Five inmates who suffered stab wounds since Friday, also in the prison hospital, were all "in improved condition" today. They are Jesus Amora, 27; Maura Martinez, 27; Leonard Baca, 34; Salvador Gomez, 34, and Lorenzo Castro, 23.

Frady said the inmates still refuse to tell why or by whom they were stabbed.

Assembly Group Calls For Controls On Drug Traffic

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee said yesterday that new controls on dangerous drugs are needed, but warned against going too far.

Too stringent controls could lead to a black market traffic in homemade drugs—similar to the bathtub gin problem during prohibition — the committee said in a report on its interim investigations.

The committee pointed out that dangerous drugs, unlilke narcotics, can be manufactured by almost anyone from readily available materials.

Both Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk have called for tighter controls on dangerous drugs.

The committee favored federal laws to forbid shipment of dangerous drugs to unlicensed retail outlets, and to require manufacturers to keep records of quantities manufactured and sales made.

Baha'i Faith Plans Three Meetings

Three meetings are planned this month by Baha'i World Faith members to commemorate the United Nations' universal declaration of human rights.

They will include an informal fireside at 8:30 p.m. next Saturday at 1317 Clinton Avenue, San Rafael; a 2 p.m. tea next Sunday at 774 Las Colindas Road, Terra Linda; and an 8 p.m. meeting next Monday at 12 Jude Road, Mill Valley.

Looks Like Mansion Tour On

A motion to seek a temporary injunction against owners of the Moffitt mansion to prevent a decorators' tour scheduled for this weekend and next was defeated by 3-2 vote of the Belvedere City Council last night.

The motion was by Councilman John R. Moore and supported by Councilman E. G. Weed. Planning commission chairman E. K. Allison recommended measures be taken to stop the tour.

OWNER ACTS

The Peter Pan Chapter of the Children's Home Society in September was refused a permit for such a tour. At the October city council meeting the chapter withdrew its application, but owner William S. Johnstone announced he would personally invite guests and Peter Pan was welcomed to accept donations.

Merritt K. Ruddock, planning commissioner, said he felt this was another "toe in the door" to circumvent city ordinances. "They are simply thumbing their noses at us," he said.

WORTHY PROJECT

Stating he felt it was a worthy project (the Children's Home Society is a licensed adoption agency), Mayor Robert P. Watkins said Belvedere would actually benefit by the tour. He said the tour had speeded up landscaping and refurbishing of the mansion.

Mrs. Thomas S. Price, who lives across from the mansion, termed the tour "an invasion of privacy."

City Atty. William H. MacKay reminded the council that the mansion is not occupied. Therefore, the council is facing a technical violation of the ordinance, he said. He also observed that a building permit must be obtained prior to occupancy.

Druggist Is Funny

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A Tucson drug store being remodeled had this sign in the window: "Bismuth As Usual."

Belvedere Denies Home Apartment

In spite of a request for delay, the Belvedere City Council last night upheld planning commission denial of a variance to permit Charles T. Mishkind to let his son-in-law live in his Corinthian Island home.

Mishkind had requested a variance to permit his daughter and son-in-law to occupy a separate apartment in the home, rent free. His request also stipulated he could invite others, satisfactory to him, to live there.

Jerome A. Duffy, attorney for Mishkind, asked a month's continuance. He said he had learned there were many such zoning violations on the island.

Richard J. MacLaury, Corinthian Island resident, said property owners would not object to the daughter living there if Mishkind would disconnect the two units. "If this is granted, others on the island are ready to rent separate living units."

In moving denial, Councilman John H. Flint said: "We must stand behind our laws; otherwise they are worthless."

Councilman Sally Mathews suggested a certificate of legality be required whenever a house is sold, to be sure the use complies with ordinance requirements. City Atty. William H. MacKay was asked to investigate this possibility.

MacLaury asked what had happened to the "Belvedere bachelors" who are occupying property owned by R. O. Valentine.

MacKay replied there appeared to be a violation. He was asked to advise at the next meeting regarding legal recourse.

William H. Rafter, chairman of the Tiburon Peninsula Coordinating Council, asked city council support for an effort to prevent Aerojet General Corp. from putting a rocket testing base at the Tiburon Naval Net Depot.

He said the International Science Foundation, which would install a marine research center, was also interested in the property and the coordinating council favored this type of project.

Seeking more information, the council requested Rafter to invite Carroll A. Snyker, executive secretary of Marin Development Assn., to attend the January meeting.

The Belvedere City Council Also

1. Granted Dr. Richard S. Hahn a revocable permit to built a fence on city property.
2. Appointed Councilmen Sally Mathews, delegate, and E. G. Weed, alternate, to the Assn. of Bay Area Governments.
3. Requested City. Mgr. Britton Rey to assure Leonard Born, Peninsula Road resident, that measures would be taken to abate a noisy sewer pump.
4. Requested the city manager to contact the State Division of Highways regarding cleaning up the right-of-way between Lagoon Road and Tiburon Boulevard.
5. Learned that Pacific Gas and Electric Co. is working on a plan for better lighting on San Rafael Avenue. This followed a complaint from Charles Fleischman.

Meeting Postponed

The Novato Parks and Recreation advisory commission did not meet last night because of a lack of a quorum. The next regularly scheduled meeting of the commission is Dec. 17.

big day

Moving into your new home brings a magic moment of pride and satisfaction. Answers to these 4 questions can help make your own big buy a wise one.

1. How much home can you afford? Buying a home is a big investment—perhaps the biggest single one you'll ever make. So your first step is to take a long look at how much you can really afford to invest. There are basic methods for establishing the price you should pay, such as 2½ times your gross annual income — or, monthly home payments not exceeding one week's take-home pay. But these guides can vary with individual circumstances. The real estate officer at your nearest Wells Fargo Bank will help you decide the price and monthly payments you can comfortably manage.

2. What does your family need most in a home? Your home should be chosen with heart as well as head, so what you "need" may range from a big shade tree to an extra bedroom. Comfortable living is important, too. You'll want ample closets, a convenient kitchen, adequate playspace. Chances are, the home you settle on won't have everything you want, so decide now which factors are most important, how you could expand later.

3. How do you know "a good house for the money?" There are many facts that affect a home's value. How close are schools, churches, shopping areas, transportation? Is the neighborhood new or long-established? How is it zoned? Ask when the house was last repainted, how old the roof is, what load the wiring will carry. You can arrange for expert opinion on its construction.

4. You've found the home, now how do you buy it? As soon as you've found the home, you'll want to arrange financing as quickly as possible. You'll need to know past and present taxes, and the exact value of the house to a lender. Your family banker will help you judge value and the various types of financing available.

At Wells Fargo Bank we know every area served by our more than 140 offices, and we've been helping our customers buy homes for over a century. We can help you. Come in and talk to us soon.

Make Wells Fargo Your Family Bank. In today's complex world of money, it is increasingly difficult to manage family finances efficiently. Here at Wells Fargo Bank we have broadened and deepened our services to meet your changing needs. Ask the manager of the Wells Fargo office in your area how our comprehensive facilities and experienced counsel can save you time and money.

Simpson Calls For Recognition Of Post

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Dr. Roy Simpson, state superintendent of public instruction, who will retire Jan. 7, yesterday called for greater recognition for the post which he has held for the past 17 years.

"The superintendent needs to have greater recognition from the public," Simpson told a news conference. "The office should have greater influence."

Simpson, who is attending the annual convention of the California Assn. of School Administrators, said the legislature should maintain a "hands-off" policy in defining details of the state's educational program.

He said details involve the nonpartisan elected superintendents in politics, adding "that's not the way to carry on an educational program for children of all the people."

Simpson said he backed Dr. Ralph Richardson as his successor because Richardson's opponent, Dr. Maxwell Rafferty, made false statements during the election campaign.

Simpson said Rafferty made such statements as: "Kids can't read," and had the idea that "children are just taught frills."

New Novato Drug Store Opens Today

Grand opening of the Medicine Chest, Novato's newest drug store, will be held tomorrow through Sunday, Henry H. Puccinelli Jr., owner, announced today.

The store is the second in the Novato Fair Shopping Center, and is two doors away from the Safeway store.

Puccinelli said that the Medicine Chest will stock drugs, cosmetics, stationery, baby goods, tobacco, fashion jewelry, greeting cards, and magazines. It will feature its prescription department and delivery service in north Marin County.

Puccinelli, a 1955 graduate of University of California, has worked as a pharmacist at De Martini Drug Store in San Anselmo and Kap's Drug store in Fairfax. He and his wife, with their three children, live in Fairfax but plan to move to Novato.

Clerks in the store include Mrs. aida Farling of Fairfax, formerly with De Martini Drugs; Dorothy Morton of San Rafael, formerly with Kaps Drug Store and Thrifty Drug Store in San Rafael, and Mrs. Phyllis Wolfe of Novato.

An attraction at the store is a mural of a Parisian scene on the wall over the cosmetic department, done by Fritz Wasser, Lucas Valley artist.

Stinson Beach Fire Chief Named

'Jazzy' Sign Is Ruled Out

"A certain jarring jazziness" about a free-standing tall sign proposed for the recently approved Hi-Ho Motel by Highway 101 just south of Alto disturbed both Marin County's planning Commission and its planning staff yesterday.

Of the sign's 144-square-foot area and 42-foot height, a staff report commented: "It is this type of sign which, when strung out along a highway, adds substantially to the visual chaos and ugliness so widely deplored in our modern urban environment."

Commissioner Felix M. Warburg said he'd inspected signs on roofs nearby, prescribed by ordinance, and "they're all horrible."

Robert Bohanna of Marin Neon Co., contractors to install the sign for Charles Mowers, defended it but finally consented to a continuance to Dec. 17 so he could try to comply with staff desires for something of not more than 100 square feet, preferably against the building and vertical.

THINK CRITICALLY, STUDENTS URGED

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — An educator told the opening of the annual conference of the California Assn. of School Administrators last night that quality education must encourage students to think critically in a world "where the bottom has dropped out of the barrel."

Dr. Warren Martin, provost of Raymond College, University of the Pacific, spoke to more than 800 state school superintendents on the topic, "What is expected of quality education?"

"Man is living in a world where the bottom has dropped out of the barrel," Martin said, "when a man's companion is not faith so much as fear, where he is not so much aware of the presence of God as the absence of God, when the truth does not make him free but more often makes him furious, where he has not confidence but, at best, concern."

Martin said quality education must acknowledge that we live in a time of "rudely shaken" values and must have the courage "to make value commitments."

"Our job in quality education is to encourage students . . . to think critically, independently, creatively," he said. "If our citizens never learn to think independently, then democracy is unworkable and we will become the pawns of demagogues or anarchists," he added.

Tamalpais Theater Getting To Tam Theater Front, Lobby

Several new improvements are planned for the Tamalpais Theater in San Anselmo which has closed for remodeling.

Most of the work is being done in the front and in the foyer which will have a new color scheme, terrazzo, carpeting and lighting fixtures. Box office will be moved to the right side, and candy bar will be moved forward and to the right. Rest rooms will be retiled and theater seats are in for complete renovation.

You'll notice a big difference when it's ready to open again Dec. 25, says manager Ed Gates. All of which will cost the Blumenfelds a pretty piece of change—upward from $35,000.

With this in mind, Jack Blumenfeld who does the chain's film booking must have had tongue in cheek when he scheduled the reopening feature — Jerry Lewis in "It's Only Money."

AND SPEAKING of money, James L. Callan and Sons, San Rafael jewelers, are now among the few dealers in the U. S. to handle the famous high-accuracy Patek Philippe watches. Highly accurate and highly priced. They start at $425 and stop climbing around $65,000.

LATEST Marinite to join the parade of bridge crossers working for San Francisco advertising agency Hoefer, Dietrich and Brown, Inc. is Carl H. Winston Jr. of Terra Linda, recently appointed public relations director. He was former state public relations director for the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

If the Golden Gate Bridge should be knocked out of commission, the firm probably would, too. This makes 10 of the agency's 12 top executives to live on this side of it—including president John H. Hoefer himself.

WORD from John Brusati, sales manager of the recently opened Chrysler-Plymouth dealer James L. Walker, Inc., Mill Valley, announces that this firm will have its grand opening celebration Friday and Saturday from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Besides new automobiles it will also feature champagne on the house (as long as it lasts) and candy for the youngsters.

Walker has started a leasing department and has taken on a franchise for International trucks.

MARIN SIGN CO. in San Rafael has moved from 914 A Street to make way for the new Wells Fargo Bank building. Owner J. Rad Ingram is now in business at his home, 14 Mary Street.

CHRISTMAS BUYS: Staple clothing items, electrical goods, some toys and playthings.

Many wash and wear shirts for men and boys, and blouses for women and girls in the $3-$3.50 range are well made (cotton and synthetic blends). Look for numerous tucks at shoulder yoke to give fullness for best quality. Good choices in sweaters of synthetic fibers, more easily washed than wool — though not as warm. Run resistant hosiery prices are lower.

Lower prices prevail in electric frypans, toaster ovens, portable mixers and steam-dry irons.

Ag Scholarship Applications Due By March 26

Applications for 400 state agricultural scholarships may be filed until next March 26, Rep. William T. Bagley (R-San Rafael) announced today. Awards up to a maximum $600 yearly will be available in the 1963-64 college year for high school seniors, junior college students or students already in a four-year college.

The award may be used at four-year colleges in California leading to a bachelor's degree in agriculture. Awards may be continued throughout a four-year college program so long as financial eligibility remains.

Application blanks will be available from local schools, the state scholarship commission in Sacramento or from Bagley's office in the Albert Building, San Rafael. A special agricultural examination will be given in Santa Rosa April 27.

REUNION WITH MOTHER

Move On To Unite Novato Home Improvement Groups

A move to unite all home owner groups in Novato into one large federation was started last night by the Lynwood Park Improvement Assn., meeting in the Lynwood School.

The association called a meeting of directors of the various associations to be held at 8 p.m. Dec. 17 at the Lynwood School. Representatives of the Monte Marie, Rancho Village, Marin Golf and Country Club, Loma Verda, St. Francis Heights, Hidden Valley and any other groups that represent home owners will be invited to the meeting, said Mrs. Ethel Fields, secretary.

Directors of the Lynwood group hope to form a federation which can present a united front to the city council and planning commission on zoning matters, she said.

Jack Monahan of 1286 Leafwood Drive, was named to the board of directors to fill a vacancy created by resignation of Mrs. Betty Miller.

S. Spencer Morse of 1037 Greenwood Drive was placed in charge of the Christmas decorations. The directors decided to have the annual caroling on the night of Dec. 23.

The directors also voted to take legal action to collect dues from delinquent members.

Probation Ordered In Theft From Cafe

Christopher Hugh Hinman, 19, of San Rafael, who stole about $800 in cash from Griddle Cafe last July, drew three years probation and 24 days in county jail, which he has already served.

Hinman must also make restitution for the amount taken. Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court sentenced him yesterday for grand theft.

Expense Account Ease Due

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service today announced it has started easing proposed regulations, sharply criticized by business, which are aimed at ending "expense account living."

Mortimer M. Chaplin, IRS commissoner, made the announcement in a statement opening two days of public hearings on rules implementing the 1962 tax law. In general the regulations call for more detailed record keeping to support tax deductions for business travel, entertainment and gifts.

DECISIONS

Chaplin said that on the basis of protest letters received so far, "we have already made positive decisions to liberalize the regulations in several specific areas."

And he said the tax collecting agency is giving "serious study" to one of the most controversial features of the proposed rules—a requirement that businessmen save receipts for all travel-entertainment-gift outlays of $10 or more.

IRS has been receiving about 400 letters a day from businessmen, most of them criticizing the rules proposals issued Nov. 8. In addition, some 60 businessmen, labor leaders and members of Congress lined up to testify at the public hearings.

REGULATIONS

Chaplin said final regulations will be issued in about three weeks, before the new law becomes effective Jan. 1.

Business spokesmen attending the hearing were given an IRS statement detailing the steps already contemplated to ease the regulations.

The statement said final rules will not require record-keeping much different from that required by "many prudently managed businesses."

PLANNERS NOSTALGIC AS THEY LEAVE OLD COLEMAN SCHOOL

The Marin County Planning Commission bid a not-too-sorrowful farewell yesterday to the old Coleman School at 1711 Grand Avenue, San Rafael, where commission meetings have been held for nearly 15 years.

When the commission meets again Dec. 17, it expects to be in the new Civic Center.

"Perhaps we should have a minute of silence," Chairman William Upton suggested. "Looking back somewhat nostalgically, this old building, with its poor acoustics, has heard some interesting and lively discussions."

The county planning department will move to the Civic Center next Tuesday. The 40-year-old former school building, headquarters for the planners, public works department and county library, will be sold, probably to the State Division of Highways for freeway right-of-way.

After Upton's benediction, the commissioners adjourned "in memory" of the old building.

San Quentin Convict Slashes Own Throat

A convicted burglar from Los Angeles attempted to commit suicide in his San Quentin cell yesterday by slashing his throat with a razor blade at about 8 p.m., according to Associate Warden Dale Frady.

Robert Swanson, 26, was in fair condition today in the prison hospital after receiving 19 stitches. Swanson, serving a one-year-to-life term, has been at San Quentin since Jan. 11.

Five inmates who suffered stab wounds since Friday, also in the prison hospital, were all "in improved condition" today. They are Jesus Amora, 27; Maura Martinez, 27; Leonard Baca, 34; Salvador Gomez, 34, and Lorenzo Castro, 23.

Frady said the inmates still refuse to tell why or by whom they were stabbed.

Assembly Group Calls For Controls On Drug Traffic

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee said yesterday that new controls on dangerous drugs are needed, but warned against going too far.

Too stringent controls could lead to a black market traffic in homemade drugs—similar to the bathtub gin problem during prohibition — the committee said in a report on its interim investigations.

The committee pointed out that dangerous drugs, unlike narcotics, can be manufactured by almost anyone from readily available materials.

Both Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk have called for tighter controls on dangerous drugs.

The committee favored federal laws to forbid shipment of dangerous drugs to unlicensed retail outlets, and to require manufacturers to keep records of quantities manufactured and sales made.

Baha'i Faith Plans Three Meetings

Three meetings are planned this month by Baha'i World Faith members to commemorate the United Nations' universal declaration of human rights.

They will include an informal fireside at 8:30 p.m. next Saturday at 1317 Clinton Avenue, San Rafael; a 2 p.m. tea next Sunday at 774 Las Colindas Road, Terra Linda; and an 8 p.m. meeting next Monday at 12 Jude Road, Mill Valley.

Looks Like Mansion Tour On

A motion to seek a temporary injunction against owners of the Moffitt mansion to prevent a decorators' tour scheduled for this weekend and next was defeated by 3-2 vote of the Belvedere City Council last night.

The motion was by Councilman John R. Moore and supported by Councilman E. G. Weed. Planning commission chairman E. K. Allison recommended measures be taken to stop the tour.

OWNER ACTS

The Peter Pan Chapter of the Children's Home Society in September was refused a permit for such a tour. At the October city council meeting the chapter withdrew its application, but owner William S. Johnstone announced he would personally invite guests and Peter Pan was welcomed to accept donations.

Merritt K. Ruddock, planning commissioner, said he felt this was another "toe in the door" to circumvent city ordinances. "They are simply thumbing their noses at us," he said.

WORTHY PROJECT

Stating he felt it was a worthy project (the Children's Home Society is a licensed adoption agency), Mayor Robert P. Watkins said Belvedere would actually benefit by the tour. He said the tour had speeded up landscaping and refurbishing of the mansion.

Mrs. Thomas S. Price, who lives across from the mansion, termed the tour "an invasion of privacy."

City Atty. William H. MacKay reminded the council that the mansion is not occupied. Therefore, the council is facing a technical violation of the ordinance, he said. He also observed that a building permit must be obtained prior to occupancy.

Druggist Is Funny

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A Tucson drug store being remodeled had this sign in the window: "Bismuth As Usual."

Belvedere Denies Home Apartment

In spite of a request for delay, the Belvedere City Council last night upheld planning commission denial of a variance to permit Charles T. Mishkind to let his son-in-law live in his Corinthian Island home.

Mishkind had requested a variance to permit his daughter and son-in-law to occupy a separate apartment in the home, rent free. His request also stipulated he could invite others, satisfactory to him, to live there.

Jerome A. Duffy, attorney for Mishkind, asked a month's continuance. He said he had learned there were many such zoning violations on the island.

Richard J. MacLaury, Corinthian Island resident, said property owners would not object to the daughter living there if Mishkind would disconnect the two units. "If this is granted, others on the island are ready to rent separate living units."

In moving denial, Councilman John H. Flint said: "We must stand behind our laws; otherwise they are worthless."

Councilman Sally Mathews suggested a certificate of legality be required whenever a house is sold, to be sure the use complies with ordinance requirements. City Atty. William H. MacKay was asked to investigate this possibility.

MacLaury asked what had happened to the "Belvedere bachelors" who are occupying property owned by R. O. Valentine.

MacKay replied there appeared to be a violation. He was asked to advise at the next meeting regarding legal recourse.

William H. Rafter, chairman of the Tiburon Peninsula Coordinating Council, asked city council support for an effort to prevent Aerojet General Corp. from putting a rocket testing base at the Tiburon Naval Net Depot.

He said the International Science Foundation, which would install a marine research center, was also interested in the property and the coordinating council favored this type of project.

Seeking more information, the council requested Rafter to invite Carroll A. Snyker, executive secretary of Marin Development Assn., to attend the January meeting.

The Belvedere City Council Also

1. Granted Dr. Richard S. Hahn a revocable permit to built a fence on city property.
2. Appointed Councilmen Sally Mathews, delegate, and E. G. Weed, alternate, to the Assn. of Bay Area Governments.
3. Requested City Mgr. Britton Rey to assure Leonard Born, Peninsula Road resident, that measures would be taken to abate a noisy sewer pump.
4. Requested the city manager to contact the State Division of Highways regarding cleaning up the right-of-way between Lagoon Road and Tiburon Boulevard.
5. Learned that Pacific Gas and Electric Co. is working on a plan for better lighting on San Rafael Avenue. This followed a complaint from Charles Fleischman.

Meeting Postponed

The Novato Parks and Recreation advisory commission did not meet last night because of a lack of a quorum. The next regularly scheduled meeting of the commission is Dec. 17.

big day

Moving into your new home brings a magic moment of pride and satisfaction. Answers to these 4 questions can help make your own big buy a wise one.

1. How much home can you afford? Buying a home is a big investment—perhaps the biggest single one you'll ever make. So your first step is to take a long look at how much you can really afford to invest. There are basic methods for establishing the price you should pay, such as 2½ times your gross annual income — or, monthly home payments not exceeding one week's take-home pay. But these guides can vary with individual circumstances. The real estate officer at your nearest Wells Fargo Bank will help you decide the price and monthly payments you can comfortably manage.

2. What does your family need most in a home? Your home should be chosen with heart as well as head, so what you "need" may range from a big shade tree to an extra bedroom. Comfortable living is important, too. You'll want ample closets, a convenient kitchen, adequate playspace. Chances are, the home you settle on won't have everything you want, so decide now which factors are most important, how you could expand later.

3. How do you know "a good house for the money?" There are many facts that affect a home's value. How close are schools, churches, shopping areas, transportation? Is the neighborhood new or long-established? How is it zoned? Ask when the house was last repainted, how old the roof is, what load the wiring will carry. You can arrange for expert opinion on its construction.

4. You've found the home, now how do you buy it? As soon as you've found the home, you'll want to arrange financing as quickly as possible. You'll need to know past and present taxes, and the exact value of the house to a lender. Your family banker will help you judge value and the various types of financing available.

At Wells Fargo Bank we know every area served by our more than 140 offices, and we've been helping our customers buy homes for over a century. We can help you. Come in and talk to us soon.

Make Wells Fargo Your Family Bank. In today's complex world of money, it is increasingly difficult to manage family finances efficiently. 49ers Draft Best Back, Best Lineman'

CHICAGO (UPI)—The San Francisco 49ers, with representatives scattered across the country in key spots, signed their number two and three darft choices minutes after picking them yesterday.

The Prospectors' number one choice, halfback Kermit Alexander of UCLA, has track eligibility and can't be signed yet. But guard Walter Rock, a 255-pounder from Maryland, and halfback Don Lisbon of Bowling Green, the number three choice, were inked by eastern scout Jim White and line coach Bill Johnson moments after they were selected.

Coach Red Hickey cheered the choice of Alexander, a 190-pounder who is a spectacular runner but even better on defense, where he is expected to perform for the Prospectors.

Although the 49ers were eighth in the picking, Coach Hickey said: "Alexander was our number one choice all the way. We would have picked him if we had gotten the first choice."

"We consider him the top back in the country," Hickey sadi. "He's a complete football player. He does everything. He can run, block and catch. What's more, he's a great defensive player. He can play regularly on our team some place. The whole staff has seen him at some time or another and we all like him."

Of his number two choice, the 49er coach: "We've got the top college line prospect in Rock. Pappy Waldorf's been watching this Maryland boy for three years. He's a fine offensive and defensive lineman. I'm not sure whether he'll play offense or defense but he weighs 255 pounds nad he's been pulling to lead the interference at guard. That means he has plenty of speed."

Hickey explained his staff argued over who the first draft choice should be—Alexander or Rock. "I never dreamed we'd get both," he added gleefully.

Here is the complete list of the 49er draftees:

1, Kermit Alexander, UCLA halfback. 2, Walter Rock, Mrayland guard. 3, Don Lisbon, Bowling Green, Ohio, back. 4, Harrison Rosdahl, Penn State guard, choice obtained from Philadelphia; Hugh Campbell, Washington State end, choice obtained from Washington. 5, Vern Burke, Oregon State end; James Pilto, New Mexico State back, choice obtained from Pittsburgh; Gary Moeller, Ohio State guard, choice obtained from Chicago.

6, Pat Emerick, Western Michigan guard. 7, Ernest de Courley, Morehead State tackle. 8, Roger Locke, Arizona State end. 9, John Maczuza, Pittsburgh tackle. 10, Vic Lopour, Huron back. 11, Steve Shafer, Utah back. 12, Bob Benton, Mississippi State tackle. 13, Dick Schultz, Ohio University tackle. 14, Blil Tobin, Missouri back. 15, Oliver Ross, West Texas State back. 16, Jim Bogdelek, Toledo tackle. 17, Ken Reed, Tulsa guard. 18, John Sellers, Bakersfield J.C. tackle. 19, Bob Price, North Texas State guard. 20, Don Davis, MacMurray College back.

1962 College Grid Talent Rated 'Poor'

CHICAGO (UPI)—The National Football League wound up its player draft early today after 17 hours and 18 minutes dividing the spoils of 1962 college football, generally rated a poor crop.

The 14 NFL teams chose 60 "futures," players whose college eligibility has not expired, and a total of 280 for whom negotiating rights were established.

Prospective quarterbacks were rated so low that only 15 were chosen, only three in the first nine rounds, and only one of these, the No. 1 choice, was picked for immediate service.

The pro clubs emphasized burly tackles, choosing 74, and halfbacks, with 78, while only 19 fullbacks, another position rated weak this year, were named.

LEADING SCHOOLS

Michigan State topped the individual schools in number of players chosen with nine, with seven players from Miami, Fla., and six from Ohio State, Pittsburgh, Penn State and Georgia Tech. The Big Ten and Southeastern conferences each furnished 37 of the total.

Virtually all the "name" players, plus a few surprises, were picked in the first two rounds.

The 1962 crop was so poorly rated that nine of the first 20 drafted were "futures," and 22 of the first 126. Futures can't be signed for another year.

EQUAL ABILITY

Paul Brown of the Cleveland Browns said that after the first few picks it was a matter of choosing "between six or eight players of about equal ability at several positions."

George Halas, owner of the Chicago Bears, agreed.

The big names went fast. Oregon State's quarterback Terry Baker, the Heisman Trophy winner, was the first choice, by the Los Angeles Rams. The Rams also picked guard Rufus Guthrie of Georgia Tech on another first round selection. St. Louis, with two first round choices, went for halfback Jerry Stovall of LSU and tackle Don Brumm of Purdue.

Other first round picks were Minnesota, tackle Jim Dunaway, Mississippi; Philadelphia, tackle Ed Budde, Michigan State; Baltimore, tackle Bob Vogel, Ohio State; Dallas, center Leroy Jordan, Alabama; Washington, end Pat Richter of Wisconsin; San Francisco, halfback Kermit Alexander, UCLA; Cleveland, end Tom Hutchinson, Kentucky; Chicago, center Dave Behrman, Michigan State; Detroit, tackle Daryl Sanders, Ohio State, and Green Bay took end Dave Robinson of Penn State.

Other notable selections were Minnesota tackle Bobby Bell by the Vikings and Oregon tackle Steve Barnett by the Bears on the second round, and fullback Ray Poadge of Texas by the Vikings, and quarterback Dennis Claridge of Nebraska by Green Bay on the third round.

Switch Of All-Star Game Stirs Bitter Reaction In Twin Cities

HANLEY

Baseball's hierarchy is being severely chastised by Minneapolis-St. Paul sports writers for granting the 1963 All-Star game to Cleveland instead of the Twin Cities.

"Only a gullible sucker would swallow Ford Frick's statement that money or stadium size had nothing to do with Cleveland's landing the All-Star game," Don Riley wrote in the St. Paul Pioneer Press. "This was the most grossly mishandled, flagrant capitulation to greenbacks in modern baseball. Greed may swallow baseball."

"There was no conniving," said Frick, the commissioner. "Furthermore, I want it understood that the players' committee (which agreed to drop the second All-Star game after being assured the players' pension fund would receive double its take from the first All-Star game) had nothing to do with his decision. It was a final verdict of those assembled and I had no vote in it."

Charles Johnson of the Minneapolis Tribune declared that Gabe Paul "out-politicked" the Twins for the game. Paul, boss of the new group that bought the Cleveland franchise a month ago, readily admitted "politicking, but you have to when you really want something and I wanted this game."

Paul added that he believed Cleveland, with its 80,000 Municipal Stadium seats (double those of the Twins' Metropolitan Stadium), was entitled to the game ahead of Minnesota "because the Twins have been in operation for only two years."

The 1963 All-Star game originally was slated for New York with Casey Stengel and his Mets playing host but the Mets passed up the National League turn with the understanding they would get the game in 1964 for the World's Fair.

Calvin Griffith applied for the game shortly after moving his Washington team to the Twin Cities. Until the last fortnight, he had a clear field.

"The Twins thought that made them a cinch," wrote Johnson. "They reckoned without Paul and his knowledge of how to get around. He worked every angle he knew. This is what happened at the final meeting in New York during the weekend:

"Warren Giles, president of the National League, told 20 club owners of both circuits that his league would defer to the American League for the 1963 All-Star game. He made the offer to Joe Cronin, A.L. prexy.

"Before Cronin had a chance to say a word, Paul got to his feet and asked that the game be assigned to Cleveland. Not a word of protest was offered. The vote was taken and Cleveland won its prize."

Why didn't Griffith kick up a fuss? Johnson, a good reporter, put the question and Griffith told him:

"The cards were stacked against us. We worked for two years to get it and we thought we had it. There wasn't anything I could do."

Polls Give Trojans U.S. Title

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Unbeaten, untied Southern California was voted the 1962 national collegiate football championship in the final Associated Press poll today, the first West Coast team to be so honored since 1939.

(Last night the United Press International also announced the Trojans finished No. 1 in its final balloting of the year.)

The Trojans, who completed their perfect season by defeating Notre Dame 25-0 Saturday, polled 509 points to 428 for runner-up Wisconsin and drew 42 of a possible 52 first-place votes.

The balloting was done by sportswriters and broadcasters who are members of the A.P. poll board. Points are determined on a basis of 10 for first, 9 for second down to 1 for a 10th-place selection.

The rankings remained unchanged from a week ago with Mississippi's first all-winning team in history finished third, unbeaten but once-tied Texas fourth, 1961 champion Alabama fifth, followed by Arkansas, Louisiana State, Oklahoma, Penn State and Minnesota in that order.

Others receiving votes listed alphabetically: Dartmouth, Duke, Georgia Tech, Missouri, Northwestern, Ohio State, Oregon State, Washington.

Southern Cal was the last Far West squad to capture a national title 23 years ago. In fact, the men of Troy now own four of the five crowns worn on the Pacific slopes. The powerhouses of coach Howard Jones also were rated supreme in 1928 and 1931. Standford got the nod in 1926.

None of the other Southern Cal titlists, however, boasted perfect records. The last such USC club in 1932 (10-0) lost the championship race to one of Michigan's mighty "punt, pass and prayer" elevens.

The Trojans zoomed to the top in the third season of coach John McKay who helped knock the same school out of the Rose Bowl picture as an Oregon back in 1948. Hurt by injuries in his first two losing campaigns at the Trojan helm, McKay found success this year blending a stubborn defense and a versatile attack.

The first Big Ten swimming meet was held on March 25, 1911 at Northwestern. Illinois won.

Midwest Dominates East Shrine Squad

NEW YORK (AP) — Quarterbacks Daryle Lamonica of Notre Dame and Bill Mrukowski of Ohio State, one a skilled passer and the other a battering runner, are on the Midwest-dominated East squad picked for the 38th annual East-West Shrine football game.

Mrukowski, who proved a rugged rusher for Ohio State's ground-oriented forces, and Lamonica head a strong backfield that also includes Michigan State's George Saimes, Larry Ferguson of Iowa and Paul Flatley of Northwestern.

The end crew is headed by Kentucky's Tom Hutchinson and Boston College's Art Graham, with such other standouts in the line as tackles Bob Vogel of Ohio State and Don Brumm of Purdue, and Guard Ed Budde of Michigan State.

Foss Thinks Raiders Will Stay In Oakland

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Commissioner Joe Foss of the American Football League says Kansas City has great potential but "the boys that own Oakland have plenty of jack and I think they'll wind up keeping the club in Oakland."

Both Kansas City and New Orleans hope to buy the Oakland AFL franchise. Foss told the Kansas City Byline Club yesterday the AFL has some problems "but I'm not one bit as worried as you might think from reading the papers."

Foss added he's not worried about the New York Titans because "these are fine people bidding for the Titans . . . New York and everyone in the country will be proud of the group that finally takes over the club."

Kansas City has been promised a franchise in 1964 if the league expands.

Foss said the AFL is a year ahead of schedule because five teams will finish in the black this year and ratings indicate the AFL has 14 million television viewers to about 16 million for the National Football League.

Indian Cage Team Gets Fast Start

The Indians, who blasted St. Mary's Gaels Saturday night, ran over Utah's Redskins 81-50 last night for their second straight win without a loss.

Four Stanford men scored in double figures and the entire 14-man squad saw action. The Indians grabbed the lead midway in the opening half and held at 39-32 halftime margin.

Tom Dose and Don Clemetson each scored 16, Darrell Sutherland tallied 15 and Kent Hickley had 11 for Stanford.

The loss was Utah's second in as many games.

Wisconsin Now Only 3½-Point Favorite

The Trojans are now 3½-point underdogs to Wisconsin in their Rose Bowl clash with the Badgers. Wisconsin had previously held a 5-point edge.

Simpson Calls For Recognition Of Post

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Dr. Roy Simpson, state superintendent of public instruction, who will retire Jan. 7, yesterday called for greater recognition for the post which he has held for the past 17 years.

"The superintendent needs to have greater recognition from the public," Simpson told a news conference. "The office should have greater influence."

Simpson, who is attending the annual convention of the California Assn. of School Administrators, said the legislature should maintain a "hands-off" policy in defining details of the state's educational program.

He said details involve the nonpartisan elected superintendents in politics, adding "that's not the way to carry on an educational program for children of all the people."

Simpson said he backed Dr. Ralph Richardson as his successor because Richardson's opponent, Dr. Maxwell Rafferty, made false statements during the election campaign.

Simpson said Rafferty made such statements as: "Kids can't read," and had the idea that "children are just taught frills."

New Novato Drug Store Opens Today

Grand opening of the Medicine Chest, Novato's newest drug store, will be held tomorrow through Sunday, Henry H. Puccinelli Jr., owner, announced today.

The store is the second in the Novato Fair Shopping Center, and is two doors away from the Safeway store.

Puccinelli said that the Medicine Chest will stock drugs, cosmetics, stationery, baby goods, tobacco, fashion jewelry, greeting cards, and magazines. It will feature its prescription department and delivery service in north Marin County.

Puccinelli, a 1955 graduate of University of California, has worked as a pharmacist at De Martini Drug Store in San Anselmo and Kap's Drug store in Fairfax. He and his wife, with their three children, live in Fairfax but plan to move to Novato.

Clerks in the store include Mrs. aida Farling of Fairfax, formerly with De Martini Drugs; Dorothy Morton of San Rafael, formerly with Kaps Drug Store and Thrifty Drug Store in San Rafael, and Mrs. Phyllis Wolfe of Novato.

An attraction at the store is a mural of a Parisian scene on the wall over the cosmetic department, done by Fritz Wasser, Lucas Valley artist.

Stinson Beach Fire Chief Named

William Sherfey has been elected chief of the Stinson Beach volunteer fire department for 1963. He succeeds Fred Conradi.

Gary Upton was elected first assistant; Ira Switzer, second assistant, and James Gibson, third assistant.

'Jazzy' Sign Is Ruled Out

"A certain jarring jazziness" about a free-standing tall sign proposed for the recently approved Hi-Ho Motel by Highway 101 just south of Alto disturbed both Marin County's planning Commission and its planning staff yesterday.

Of the sign's 144-square-foot area and 42-foot height, a staff report commented: "It is this type of sign which, when strung out along a highway, adds substantially to the visual chaos and ugliness so widely deplored in our modern urban environment."

Commissioner Felix M. Warburg said he'd inspected signs on roofs nearby, prescribed by ordinance, and "they're all horrible."

Robert Bohanna of Marin Neon Co., contractors to install the sign for Charles Mowers, defended it but finally consented to a continuance to Dec. 17 so he could try to comply with staff desires for something of not more than 100 square feet, preferably against the building and vertical.

THINK CRITICALLY, STUDENTS URGED

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — An educator told the opening of the annual conference of the California Assn. of School Administrators last night that quality education must encourage students to think critically in a world "where the bottom has dropped out of the barrel."

Dr. Warren Martin, provost of Raymond College, University of the Pacific, spoke to more than 800 state school superintendents on the topic, "What is expected of quality education?"

"Man is living in a world where the bottom has dropped out of the barrel," Martin said, "when a man's companion is not faith so much as fear, where he is not so much aware of the presence of God as the absence of God, when the truth does not make him free but more often makes him furious, where he has not confidence but, at best, concern."

Martin said quality education must acknowledge that we live in a time of "rudely shaken" values and must have the courage "to make value commitments."

"Our job in quality education is to encourage students . . . to think critically, independently, creatively," he said. "If our citizens never learn to think independently, then democracy is unworkable and we will become the pawns of demagogues or anarchists," he added.

Tamalpais Theater Getting To Tam Theater Front, Lobby

Several new improvements are planned for the Tamalpais Theater in San Anselmo which has closed for remodeling.

Most of the work is being done in the front and in the foyer which will have a new color scheme, terrazzo, carpeting and lighting fixtures. Box office will be moved to the right side, and candy bar will be moved forward and to the right. Rest rooms will be retiled and theater seats are in for complete renovation.

You'll notice a big difference when it's ready to open again Dec. 25, says manager Ed Gates. All of which will cost the Blumenfelds a pretty piece of change—upward from $35,000.

With this in mind, Jack Blumenfeld who does the chain's film booking must have had tongue in cheek when he scheduled the reopening feature — Jerry Lewis in "It's Only Money."

AND SPEAKING of money, James L. Callan and Sons, San Rafael jewelers, are now among the few dealers in the U. S. to handle the famous high-accuracy Patek Philippe watches. Highly accurate and highly priced. They start at $425 and stop climbing around $65,000.

LATEST Marinite to join the parade of bridge crossers working for San Francisco advertising agency Hoefer, Dietrich and Brown, Inc. is Carl H. Winston Jr. of Terra Linda, recently appointed public relations director. He was former state public relations director for the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

If the Golden Gate Bridge should be knocked out of commission, the firm probably would, too. This makes 10 of the agency's 12 top executives to live on this side of it—including president John H. Hoefer himself.

WORD from John Brusati, sales manager of the recently opened Chrysler-Plymouth dealer James L. Walker, Inc., Mill Valley, announces that this firm will have its grand opening celebration Friday and Saturday from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Besides new automobiles it will also feature champagne on the house (as long as it lasts) and candy for the youngsters.

Walker has started a leasing department and has taken on a franchise for International trucks.

MARIN SIGN CO. in San Rafael has moved from 914 A Street to make way for the new Wells Fargo Bank building. Owner J. Rad Ingram is now in business at his home, 14 Mary Street.

CHRISTMAS BUYS: Staple clothing items, electrical goods, some toys and playthings.

Many wash and wear shirts for men and boys, and blouses for women and girls in the $3-$3.50 range are well made (cotton and synthetic blends). Look for numerous tucks at shoulder yoke to give fullness for best quality. Good choices in sweaters of synthetic fibers, more easily washed than wool — though not as warm. Run resistant hosiery prices are lower.

Lower prices prevail in electric frypans, toaster ovens, portable mixers and steam-dry irons.

Ag Scholarship Applications Due By March 26

Applications for 400 state agricultural scholarships may be filed until next March 26, Rep. William T. Bagley (R-San Rafael) announced today. Awards up to a maximum $600 yearly will be available in the 1963-64 college year for high school seniors, junior college students or students already in a four-year college.

The award may be used at four-year colleges in California leading to a bachelor's degree in agriculture. Awards may be continued throughout a four-year college program so long as financial eligibility remains.

Application blanks will be available from local schools, the state scholarship commission in Sacramento or from Bagley's office in the Albert Building, San Rafael. A special agricultural examination will be given in Santa Rosa April 27.

Ex-Marin Star Wins All-Coast Honors

Oregon's Snidow Named; Former San Rafael Hero

Ron Snidow, tackle for the University of Oregon and a former great athlete at San Rafael High School, has been named on the first team of the Associated Press' 1962 All-Pacific Coast football squad.

The 6-foot 3, 225-pound senior who now makes his home in Aurora, Colo., was All-Northern California selection when starring as an end for the champion San Rafael Bulldogs in 1958. That season he also was selected to play in the North-South Shrine game in Los Angeles.

Snidow also wrote his name in track and field record books. In his senior year at San Rafael, 1959, he won the California Interscholastic Federation discus championship with a record throw of 176 feet, 1 inch.

The All-Coast team has an explosive backfield headed by the incomparable Terry Baker of Oregon State University and a line of quick, tall muscle men.

Oregon, which campaigned to a 6-3-1 season with a line of iron-hard seniors, picked off three berths on the team selected by the seven members of the A.P. West Coast football board and A.P. sports writers.

Southern California, bound for the Rose Bowl, placed end Hal Bedsole and guard Damon Bame on the first 11. Washington landed two line positions when Ray Mansfield was named at center and Rod Scheyer at tackle.

STANFORD BACK

Washington State contributUCLA landed a backfield berth with Kermit Alexander and Stanford another with Ed Cummings.

Oregon's three were guard Mickey Ording, tackle Snidow and halfbcak Mel Renfro. Steve Barnett, twice named All-Coast tackle, was edged out of the first spot this year by teammate Snidow and Scheyer. It wsa a didfficult decision, but the selectors felt the chosen pair turned in stronger and more consistent performances than Barnett, especially on defense.

This was the third consecutive ear that Baker and Campbell have claimed berths on the All-Coast team and the second ear for Ording. Although the West Coast teams were heavily staffed this season with sophomores and juniors, eight places went to seniors.

The 1962 Associated Press All-Pacific Coast football squad:

Rafael Osuna took his singles match from India's Ramathan Krishnan, postponed from Monday while deadlocked 6-6 in the fourth set, by a final score of 8-6, 2-6, 7-5, 6-8, 6-4. He then teamed with Antonio Palafox to defeat Joydeep Mukerjea and Primjit Lal in the doubles 10-8, 12-10, 6-4.

Mexico will meet Australia in December for the coveted silver cup.

Wilt Still Holds Commanding Lead In NBA Scoring

NEW YORK (AP)—Despite the erratic play of his San Francisco Warriors, Wilt Chamberlain holds a commanding lead in the National Basketball Assn. scoring race today over Elgin Baylor of the Los Angeles Lakers.

Chamberlain, the defending scoring king, is averaging 52.6 points per game for the first 21 games, compared to 31.8 for Baylor in 23 games. Chamberlain has score 1,104 points so far and Baylor 731.

In third place is Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson with a 30.3 average in 23 games. Robertson also leads in field goal accuracy with a 54.5 percentage and in assists with 218, one more than the Warriors' Guy Rodgers.

The Royals, who set field goal accuracy records the last two seasons, have a league-leading 47 per cent through games of last Saturday night.

Adult Basketball Meetings Are Set

There will be two meetings for basketball managers in the San Rafael Recreation Department Adult League to didscuss rules and plans for a possible tournament and the setting up of the league, Joseph D. Rodota, head of the department, announced today.

Class "A" and "B" league managers will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. and Class "C" league managers will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. Both meetings will be at Alberts Field in San Rafael.

In order to have a team in any of the three leagues, the manager or representative of the teams must be at these meetings, Rodota said.

Young Newcomers Impressive In Norcal College Basketball

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Basketball newcomers already have made solid impressions in the Northern California basketball picture.

Oliver Johnson and Dick Brainard of the University of San Francisco, Dick Wolthers of California, Ron Labetich, Mel Simpson and Eddie Sims of San Jose State.

Those were the new names for 1962-63 that cropped up at yesterday's meeting of the Northern California Basektball Writers and Broadcasters. From indications, there'll be more as the season progresses.

"I was impressed with Johnson (6-foot-8) at center," said USF Coach Pete Peletta whose team downed the Olympic Club and Cal Poly of San Luis Obispo in last weekend's openers. "As the season progresses, he'll improve into a top notch ball player. Brainard played good ball both nights."

BOTH SOPHOMORES

Both are sophomores. The 220-pound Johnson hails from Washington, D.C., and Brainard at 6-3½ and 195 is from Fresno.

California beat its alumni and Utah in opening weekend games and Coach Rene Herreroias said, "Our reserves sparked us, especially Wolthers. He played guard as a freshman last year but has fit in as a forward this season.

Wolthers, from Redlands, stands 6-4½ and weighs 185.

Herrerias also was pleased with the play of 6-10 Camden Wall who can't be classified as an ewcomer. He played half a season two years ago but was ineligible last yast.

San Jose beat Portland twice and Coach Stu Inman gave credit to the three newcomers and veteran guard Bill Yonge.

"I think the three new kids and Yonge were the fellows who beat Portland," Inman declared.

Labetich, a sophomore from Alameda, stands 5-10 and weighs 16.5. Sims transferred from San Jose City College and stands 6-5 at 190 while Simpson is a sophomore from Lafayette at 6-4 and 170.

Despite the good showing of the newcomers, the player-of-the-week award went to Stanford senior Don Clemetson for his play in the 81-72 victory over St. Mary's.

FURTHER TESTS

Further tests are approaching this week, and as Herrerias says, "We'll know this week how good we're going to be for the coming season."

The Bears meet St. Mary's at Berkeley on Wednesday and USF on Saturday night.

San Jose plays San Francisco State on Thursday while University of the Pacific sees its first action in the Camelia Bowl tournament at Sacramento Wednesday and Thursday nights with Cal Poly of Pomona, Cal Aggies and Sacramento State participating.

Santa Clara, loser to both Southern California and UCLA, seeks to get on the right track for new Coach Dick Garibaldi tonight's playing host to San Francisco State.

Realigned Coast Baseball League May Be Renamed

SEATTLE (AP) — The Pacific Coast Baseball League may be given a new name now that Dallas-Fort Worth, Denver and Oklahoma City have been added to it.

Dewey Soriano, league president, said yesterday a possible name change was one of the items on the agenda for a meeting in Salt Lake City Dec. 15 and 16.

Soriano said the PCL would be formally dissolved as an eight-team loop, dropping Vancouver, B.C., and reconstituted as a 10-team league at the meeting.

The new line-up was decided upon at the recent baseball convention in Rochester, N.Y.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

TOKYO—World Champion Carlos Ortiz, 134¾, New York., knocked out Teru Kosaka, 133, Japan 5, lightweight title.

PARIS — Jean Josselin, 146, France, defeated Angel Garcia, 138, Cuba, 10.

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—James Ellis, 167, Louisville, defeated Leroy Green, 178, Kansas City, 10.

U.S. Olympic Team Hit By AAU Action

DETROIT (AP) — The AAU'S action in declaring a large group of athletes ineligible for competing in unsanctioned meets met with resounding criticism today from track officials across the country.

The athletes were found ineligible for future American open and international competition including the Olympics, the AAU announced yesterday.

It was the first hard blow struck in the AAU's bitter struggle with the U.S. Track and Field Federation for control of the sport. Until the AAU's move at its annual convention that wound up here Sunday, the battle had been fought mostly with words for two and one-half years.

Col. Don Hull, the AAU's executive secretary, said the athletes were declared ineligible because they competed in meets that included both collegians and non-collegians. In such open meets, the AAU claims it has sole power of sanction.

NCAA BLAST

"It is completely unreasonable and ridiculous for the AAU to rule ineligible fine young men merely for running in track competition conducted by the nation's high schools and colleges," said Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, which supports the Federation.

"The international rules do not require this. This is an internal decision of the AAU as reflected by its belated action and its accompanying offer of reinstatement through the district AAU committees."

The AAU held out an offer that all affected athletes may appeal to their AAU district associations.

Three meets were inovlved: At Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 28; at Houston early last month, and at Columbus, O., Nov. 22.

"They can't do this to good American college kids," said Larry Snyder, Ohio State track coach and host at the Columbus meet. "This (AAU) is a group that has grasped power and is trying to hold onto it by this action. They will go to any means, even to destroying American track and field, to retain this power."

Snyder coached the U.S. track team in the 1960 Olympics.

VERBAL SLUGFEST

The long verbal slugfest between the AAU and Federation—a group consisting mainly of track coaches—has jeopardized U.S. chances in the 1964 Olympic Games at Tokyo.

A coalition involving the AAU, Federation and other track groups was proposed last month at a New York meeting called by Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy. The AAU, at its convention, endorsed a coalition plan, but Federation officials immediately charged it was not the same as the one agreed on in New York.

49ers Draft Best Back, Best Lineman'

CHICAGO (UPI)—The San Francisco 49ers, with representatives scattered across the country in key spots, signed their number two and three darft choices minutes after picking them yesterday.

The Prospectors' number one choice, halfback Kermit Alexander of UCLA, has track eligibility and can't be signed yet. But guard Walter Rock, a 255-pounder from Maryland, and halfback Don Lisbon of Bowling Green, the number three choice, were inked by eastern scout Jim White and line coach Bill Johnson moments after they were selected.

Coach Red Hickey cheered the choice of Alexander, a 190-pounder who is a spectacular runner but even better on defense, where he is expected to perform for the Prospectors.

Although the 49ers were eighth in the picking, Coach Hickey said: "Alexander was our number one choice all the way. We would have picked him if we had gotten the first choice."

"We consider him the top back in the country," Hickey sadi. "He's a complete football player. He does everything. He can run, block and catch. What's more, he's a great defensive player. He can play regularly on our team some place. The whole staff has seen him at some time or another and we all like him."

Of his number two choice, the 49er coach: "We've got the top college line prospect in Rock. Pappy Waldorf's been watching this Maryland boy for three years. He's a fine offensive and defensive lineman. I'm not sure whether he'll play offense or defense but he weighs 255 pounds nad he's been pulling to lead the interference at guard. That means he has plenty of speed."

Hickey explained his staff argued over who the first draft choice should be—Alexander or Rock. "I never dreamed we'd get both," he added gleefully.

Here is the complete list of the 49er draftees:

1, Kermit Alexander, UCLA halfback. 2, Walter Rock, Mrayland guard. 3, Don Lisbon, Bowling Green, Ohio, back. 4, Harrison Rosdahl, Penn State guard, choice obtained from Philadelphia; Hugh Campbell, Washington State end, choice obtained from Washington. 5, Vern Burke, Oregon State end; James Pilto, New Mexico State back, choice obtained from Pittsburgh; Gary Moeller, Ohio State guard, choice obtained from Chicago.

6, Pat Emerick, Western Michigan guard. 7, Ernest de Courley, Morehead State tackle. 8, Roger Locke, Arizona State end. 9, John Maczuza, Pittsburgh tackle. 10, Vic Lopour, Huron back. 11, Steve Shafer, Utah back. 12, Bob Benton, Mississippi State tackle. 13, Dick Schultz, Ohio University tackle. 14, Bill Tobin, Missouri back. 15, Oliver Ross, West Texas State back. 16, Jim Bogdelek, Toledo tackle. 17, Ken Reed, Tulsa guard. 18, John Sellers, Bakersfield J.C. tackle. 19, Bob Price, North Texas State guard. 20, Don Davis, MacMurray College back.

1962 College Grid Talent Rated 'Poor'

CHICAGO (UPI)—The National Football League wound up its player draft early today after 17 hours and 18 minutes dividing the spoils of 1962 college football, generally rated a poor crop.

The 14 NFL teams chose 60 "futures," players whose college eligibility has not expired, and a total of 280 for whom negotiating rights were established.

Prospective quarterbacks were rated so low that only 15 were chosen, only three in the first nine rounds, and only one of these, the No. 1 choice, was picked for immediate service.

The pro clubs emphasized burly tackles, choosing 74, and halfbacks, with 78, while only 19 fullbacks, another position rated weak this year, were named.

LEADING SCHOOLS

Michigan State topped the individual schools in number of players chosen with nine, with seven players from Miami, Fla., and six from Ohio State, Pittsburgh, Penn State and Georgia Tech. The Big Ten and Southeastern conferences each furnished 37 of the total.

Virtually all the "name" players, plus a few surprises, were picked in the first two rounds.

The 1962 crop was so poorly rated that nine of the first 20 drafted were "futures," and 22 of the first 126. Futures can't be signed for another year.

EQUAL ABILITY

Paul Brown of the Cleveland Browns said that after the first few picks it was a matter of choosing "between six or eight players of about equal ability at several positions."

George Halas, owner of the Chicago Bears, agreed.

The big names went fast. Oregon State's quarterback Terry Baker, the Heisman Trophy winner, was the first choice, by the Los Angeles Rams. The Rams also picked guard Rufus Guthrie of Georgia Tech on another first round selection. St. Louis, with two first round choices, went for halfback Jerry Stovall of LSU and tackle Don Brumm of Purdue.

Other first round picks were Minnesota, tackle Jim Dunaway, Mississippi; Philadelphia, tackle Ed Budde, Michigan State; Baltimore, tackle Bob Vogel, Ohio State; Dallas, center Leroy Jordan, Alabama; Washington, end Pat Richter of Wisconsin; San Francisco, halfback Kermit Alexander, UCLA; Cleveland, end Tom Hutchinson, Kentucky; Chicago, center Dave Behrman, Michigan State; Detroit, tackle Daryl Sanders, Ohio State, and Green Bay took end Dave Robinson of Penn State.

Other notable selections were Minnesota tackle Bobby Bell by the Vikings and Oregon tackle Steve Barnett by the Bears on the second round, and fullback Ray Poadge of Texas by the Vikings, and quarterback Dennis Claridge of Nebraska by Green Bay on the third round.

Polls Give Trojans U.S. Title

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Unbeaten, untied Southern California was voted the 1962 national collegiate football championship in the final Associated Press poll today, the first West Coast team to be so honored since 1939.

(Last night the United Press International also announced the Trojans finished No. 1 in its final balloting of the year.)

The Trojans, who completed their perfect season by defeating Notre Dame 25-0 Saturday, polled 509 points to 428 for runner-up Wisconsin and drew 42 of a possible 52 first-place votes.

The balloting was done by sportswriters and broadcasters who are members of the A.P. poll board. Points are determined on a basis of 10 for first, 9 for second down to 1 for a 10th-place selection.

The rankings remained unchanged from a week ago with Mississippi's first all-winning team in history finished third, unbeaten but once-tied Texas fourth, 1961 champion Alabama fifth, followed by Arkansas, Louisiana State, Oklahoma, Penn State and Minnesota in that order.

Others receiving votes listed alphabetically: Dartmouth, Duke, Georgia Tech, Missouri, Northwestern, Ohio State, Oregon State, Washington.

Southern Cal was the last Far West squad to capture a national title 23 years ago. In fact, the men of Troy now own four of the five crowns worn on the Pacific slopes. The powerhouses of coach Howard Jones also were rated supreme in 1928 and 1931. Standford got the nod in 1926.

None of the other Southern Cal titlists, however, boasted perfect records. The last such USC club in 1932 (10-0) lost the championship race to one of Michigan's mighty "punt, pass and prayer" elevens.

The Trojans zoomed to the top in the third season of coach John McKay who helped knock the same school out of the Rose Bowl picture as an Oregon back in 1948. Hurt by injuries in his first two losing campaigns at the Trojan helm, McKay found success this year blending a stubborn defense and a versatile attack.

Switch Of All-Star Game Stirs Bitter Reaction In Twin Cities

HANLEY

Baseball's hierarchy is being severely chastised by Minneapolis-St. Paul sports writers for granting the 1963 All-Star game to Cleveland instead of the Twin Cities.

"Only a gullible sucker would swallow Ford Frick's statement that money or stadium size had nothing to do with Cleveland's landing the All-Star game," Don Riley wrote in the St. Paul Pioneer Press. "This was the most grossly mishandled, flagrant capitulation to greenbacks in modern baseball. Greed may swallow baseball."

"There was no conniving," said Frick, the commissioner. "Furthermore, I want it understood that the players' committee (which agreed to drop the second All-Star game after being assured the players' pension fund would receive double its take from the first All-Star game) had nothing to do with his decision. It was a final verdict of those assembled and I had no vote in it."

Charles Johnson of the Minneapolis Tribune declared that Gabe Paul "out-politicked" the Twins for the game. Paul, boss of the new group that bought the Cleveland franchise a month ago, readily admitted "politicking, but you have to when you really want something and I wanted this game."

Paul added that he believed Cleveland, with its 80,000 Municipal Stadium seats (double those of the Twins' Metropolitan Stadium), was entitled to the game ahead of Minnesota "because the Twins have been in operation for only two years."

The 1963 All-Star game originally was slated for New York with Casey Stengel and his Mets playing host but the Mets passed up the National League turn with the understanding they would get the game in 1964 for the World's Fair.

Calvin Griffith applied for the game shortly after moving his Washington team to the Twin Cities. Until the last fortnight, he had a clear field.

"The Twins thought that made them a cinch," wrote Johnson. "They reckoned without Paul and his knowledge of how to get around. He worked every angle he knew. This is what happened at the final meeting in New York during the weekend:

"Warren Giles, president of the National League, told 20 club owners of both circuits that his league would defer to the American League for the 1963 All-Star game. He made the offer to Joe Cronin, A.L. prexy.

"Before Cronin had a chance to say a word, Paul got to his feet and asked that the game be assigned to Cleveland. Not a word of protest was offered. The vote was taken and Cleveland won its prize."

Why didn't Griffith kick up a fuss? Johnson, a good reporter, put the question and Griffith told him:

"The cards were stacked against us. We worked for two years to get it and we thought we had it. There wasn't anything I could do."

Mrukowski, who proved a rugged rusher for Ohio State's ground-oriented forces, and Lamonica head a strong backfield that also includes Michigan State's George Saimes, Larry Ferguson of Iowa and Paul Flatley of Northwestern.

The end crew is headed by Kentucky's Tom Hutchinson and Boston College's Art Graham, with such other standouts in the line as tackles Bob Vogel of Ohio State and Don Brumm of Purdue, and Guard Ed Budde of Michigan State.

Foss Thinks Raiders Will Stay In Oakland

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Commissioner Joe Foss of the American Football League says Kansas City has great potential but "the boys that own Oakland have plenty of jack and I think they'll wind up keeping the club in Oakland."

Both Kansas City and New Orleans hope to buy the Oakland AFL franchise. Foss told the Kansas City Byline Club yesterday the AFL has some problems "but I'm not one bit as worried as you might think from reading the papers."

Foss added he's not worried about the New York Titans because "these are fine people bidding for the Titans . . . New York and everyone in the country will be proud of the group that finally takes over the club."

Kansas City has been promised a franchise in 1964 if the league expands.

Foss said the AFL is a year ahead of schedule because five teams will finish in the black this year and ratings indicate the AFL has 14 million television viewers to about 16 million for the National Football League.

Indian Cage Team Gets Fast Start

The Indians, who blasted St. Mary's Gaels Saturday night, ran over Utah's Redskins 81-50 last night for their second straight win without a loss.

Four Stanford men scored in double figures and the entire 14-man squad saw action. The Indians grabbed the lead midway in the opening half and held at 39-32 halftime margin.

Tom Dose and Don Clemetson each scored 16, Darrell Sutherland tallied 15 and Kent Hickley had 11 for Stanford.

The loss was Utah's second in as many games.

Novato Wrestlers Win First Match

Novato High School opened its wrestling season with a 42-15 win over Ygnacio Valley High School Friday in Concord.

The varsity wrestlers from Novato won eight bouts, lost three and drew two. The Novato jayvees also won, by edging Ygnacio Valley junior varsity wrestlers 27-25.

Varsity winners from Novato High were:

Bill Carrigan, Frank Madsen, Tom Cooper, Ron Tieche, Mike Patterson, Kris Kristofers and Rich Rotchy. Drawing were Ron Paris and Jon Meers, while Mike Conway won by forfeit.

Wisconsin Now Only 3½-Point Favorite

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Oddsmakers are giving the University of Southern California a break following the Trojans' 25-0 blasting of Notre Dame last Saturday.

The Trojans are now 3½-point underdogs to Wisconsin in their Rose Bowl clash with the Badgers. Wisconsin had previously held a 5-point edge.

Mays Is Crowned 'Sultan Of Swat'

BALTIMORE (AP) — Willie Mays, San Francisco Giants outfielder, was named "Sultan of Swat" for 1962 today by the Maryland Professional Baseball Players Assn.

Mays will receive the Gold Crown Award at the association's annual "Tops in Sports" banquet here Jan. 14.

Mays is the sixth recipient of the award named in memory of Babe Ruth, a Baltimore native.

Mays batted .304 for the champion Giants of the National League, clouted 49 home runs and drove in 141 runs.

The first Big Ten swimming meet was held on March 25, 1911 at Northwestern. Illinois won.

State Announces $134 Million Building Program For Next Year

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A 134-million-dollar construction program, the biggest in recent years, has been announced by the state for next year.

The big spending program, bolstered by voter approval of a 270-million-dollar bond issue in November, includes major prison and higher education projects. More than half the projects depended on the bond funds.

Of the total, 75 million dollars would be spent in Northern California and 58.5 million dollars in the south.

Major Southern California projects include a new 15-million-dollar medium security prison for 1,200 inmates at Tehachapi and a 2.53-million-dollar office building in San Bernardino. Both are to be advertised for bids late in 1963.

The largest Northern California project is a 10.37-million-dollar Sierra Branch Conservation center near Sonora, where 1,200 minimum security prison inmates will be housed. It's to be up for bid shortly after the first of the year.

Other projects include a 9.27-million-dollar California Youth Center and an eight million-dollar, 17-story office building in Sacramento.

Ex-Marin Star Wins All-Coast Honors

Oregon's Snidow Named; Former San Rafael Hero

Ron Snidow, tackle for the University of Oregon and a former great athlete at San Rafael High School, has been named on the first team of the Associated Press' 1962 All-Pacific Coast football squad.

The 6-foot 3, 225-pound senior who now makes his home in Aurora, Colo., was All-Northern California selection when starring as an end for the champion San Rafael Bulldogs in 1958. That season he also was selected to play in the North-South Shrine game in Los Angeles.

Snidow also wrote his name in track and field record books. In his senior year at San Rafael, 1959, he won the California Interscholastic Federation discus championship with a record throw of 176 feet, 1 inch.

The All-Coast team has an explosive backfield headed by the incomparable Terry Baker of Oregon State University and a line of quick, tall muscle men.

Oregon, which campaigned to a 6-3-1 season with a line of iron-hard seniors, picked off three berths on the team selected by the seven members of the A.P. West Coast football board and A.P. sports writers.

Southern California, bound for the Rose Bowl, placed end Hal Bedsole and guard Damon Bame on the first 11. Washington landed two line positions when Ray Mansfield was named at center and Rod Scheyer at tackle.

STANFORD BACK

Washington State contributUCLA landed a backfield berth with Kermit Alexander and Stanford another with Ed Cummings.

Oregon's three were guard Mickey Ording, tackle Snidow and halfbcak Mel Renfro. Steve Barnett, twice named All-Coast tackle, was edged out of the first spot this year by teammate Snidow and Scheyer. It wsa a didfficult decision, but the selectors felt the chosen pair turned in stronger and more consistent performances than Barnett, especially on defense.

This was the third consecutive ear that Baker and Campbell have claimed berths on the All-Coast team and the second ear for Ording. Although the West Coast teams were heavily staffed this season with sophomores and juniors, eight places went to seniors.

The 1962 Associated Press All-Pacific Coast football squad:

FIRST TEAM

Ends—Hal Bedsole, Southern California, 225 pounds, 6 feet 5 inches, junior from Northridge, Calif.; Hugh Campbell, Washington State, 180- 6-1, senior, Saratoga, Calif.

Guards—Mickey Ording, Oregon, 220, 6-2, senior, Richmond, Calif.; Damon Bame, USC, 200, 6-1, junior, Glendale, Calif.

Center—Ray Mansfield, Washington, 235, 6-3, senior, Kennewick, Wash.

Mexico will meet Australia in December for the coveted silver cup.

Wilt Still Holds Commanding Lead In NBA Scoring

NEW YORK (AP)—Despite the erratic play of his San Francisco Warriors, Wilt Chamberlain holds a commanding lead in the National Basketball Assn. scoring race today over Elgin Baylor of the Los Angeles Lakers.

Chamberlain, the defending scoring king, is averaging 52.6 points per game for the first 21 games, compared to 31.8 for Baylor in 23 games. Chamberlain has score 1,104 points so far and Baylor 731.

In third place is Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson with a 30.3 average in 23 games. Robertson also leads in field goal accuracy with a 54.5 percentage and in assists with 218, one more than the Warriors' Guy Rodgers.

The Royals, who set field goal accuracy records the last two seasons, have a league-leading 47 per cent through games of last Saturday night.

Adult Basketball Meetings Are Set

There will be two meetings for basketball managers in the San Rafael Recreation Department Adult League to didscuss rules and plans for a possible tournament and the setting up of the league, Joseph D. Rodota, head of the department, announced today.

Class "A" and "B" league managers will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. and Class "C" league managers will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. Both meetings will be at Alberts Field in San Rafael.

In order to have a team in any of the three leagues, the manager or representative of the teams must be at these meetings, Rodota said.

Young Newcomers Impressive In Norcal College Basketball

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Basketball newcomers already have made solid impressions in the Northern California basketball picture.

Oliver Johnson and Dick Brainard of the University of San Francisco, Dick Wolthers of California, Ron Labetich, Mel Simpson and Eddie Sims of San Jose State.

Those were the new names for 1962-63 that cropped up at yesterday's meeting of the Northern California Basektball Writers and Broadcasters. From indications, there'll be more as the season progresses.

"I was impressed with Johnson (6-foot-8) at center," said USF Coach Pete Peletta whose team downed the Olympic Club and Cal Poly of San Luis Obispo in last weekend's openers. "As the season progresses, he'll improve into a top notch ball player. Brainard played good ball both nights."

BOTH SOPHOMORES

Both are sophomores. The 220-pound Johnson hails from Washington, D.C., and Brainard at 6-3½ and 195 is from Fresno.

California beat its alumni and Utah in opening weekend games and Coach Rene Herreroias said, "Our reserves sparked us, especially Wolthers. He played guard as a freshman last year but has fit in as a forward this season.

Wolthers, from Redlands, stands 6-4½ and weighs 185.

Herrerias also was pleased with the play of 6-10 Camden Wall who can't be classified as an ewcomer. He played half a season two years ago but was ineligible last yast.

San Jose beat Portland twice and Coach Stu Inman gave credit to the three newcomers and veteran guard Bill Yonge.

"I think the three new kids and Yonge were the fellows who beat Portland," Inman declared.

Labetich, a sophomore from Alameda, stands 5-10 and weighs 16.5. Sims transferred from San Jose City College and stands 6-5 at 190 while Simpson is a sophomore from Lafayette at 6-4 and 170.

Despite the good showing of the newcomers, the player-of-the-week award went to Stanford senior Don Clemetson for his play in the 81-72 victory over St. Mary's.

FURTHER TESTS

Further tests are approaching this week, and as Herrerias says, "We'll know this week how good we're going to be for the coming season."

The Bears meet St. Mary's at Berkeley on Wednesday and USF on Saturday night.

San Jose plays San Francisco State on Thursday while University of the Pacific sees its first action in the Camelia Bowl tournament at Sacramento Wednesday and Thursday nights with Cal Poly of Pomona, Cal Aggies and Sacramento State participating.

Santa Clara, loser to both Southern California and UCLA, seeks to get on the right track for new Coach Dick Garibaldi tonight's playing host to San Francisco State.

Realigned Coast Baseball League May Be Renamed

SEATTLE (AP) — The Pacific Coast Baseball League may be given a new name now that Dallas-Fort Worth, Denver and Oklahoma City have been added to it.

Soriano said the PCL would be formally dissolved as an eight-team loop, dropping Vancouver, B.C., and reconstituted as a 10-team league at the meeting.

The new line-up was decided upon at the recent baseball convention in Rochester, N.Y.

U.S. Olympic Team Hit By AAU Action

DETROIT (AP) — The AAU'S action in declaring a large group of athletes ineligible for competing in unsanctioned meets met with resounding criticism today from track officials across the country.

The athletes were found ineligible for future American open and international competition including the Olympics, the AAU announced yesterday.

It was the first hard blow struck in the AAU's bitter struggle with the U.S. Track and Field Federation for control of the sport. Until the AAU's move at its annual convention that wound up here Sunday, the battle had been fought mostly with words for two and one-half years.

Col. Don Hull, the AAU's executive secretary, said the athletes were declared ineligible because they competed in meets that included both collegians and non-collegians. In such open meets, the AAU claims it has sole power of sanction.

NCAA BLAST

"It is completely unreasonable and ridiculous for the AAU to rule ineligible fine young men merely for running in track competition conducted by the nation's high schools and colleges," said Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, which supports the Federation.

"The international rules do not require this. This is an internal decision of the AAU as reflected by its belated action and its accompanying offer of reinstatement through the district AAU committees."

The AAU held out an offer that all affected athletes may appeal to their AAU district associations.

Three meets were inovlved: At Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 28; at Houston early last month, and at Columbus, O., Nov. 22.

"They can't do this to good American college kids," said Larry Snyder, Ohio State track coach and host at the Columbus meet. "This (AAU) is a group that has grasped power and is trying to hold onto it by this action. They will go to any means; even to destroying American track and field, to retain this power."

Snyder coached the U.S. track team in the 1960 Olympics.

VERBAL SLUGFEST

The long verbal slugfest between the AAU and Federation—a group consisting mainly of track coaches—has jeopardized U.S. chances in the 1964 Olympic Games at Tokyo.

A coalition involving the AAU, Federation and other track groups was proposed last month at a New York meeting called by Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy. The AAU, at its convention, endorsed a coalition plan, but Federation officials immediately charged it was not the same as the one agreed on in New York.

PRESIDENT'S CHOICE

Chicken Breasts, Noodles

NEW YORK—President Kennedy's favorite dish is Chicken Breasts with Noodles, despite published reports listing other recipes as the first choice in entrees at the White House.

In Second Helping, the Women's National Press Club Cookbook, the presidential preference is listed as Beef Stroganoff, but The Insider's Newsletter says the President gallantly made the substitution for his real favorite only because both he and the First Lady submitted chicken recipes to the publishers.

Here's the recipe for a dish fit for a President:

(1) Eight chicken breasts, seasoned with salt, pepper, marjoram, sauteed in butter until done. (2) Dice 3 lbs. fresh mushrooms, season with salt, pepper, saute in ½ lb. butter. (3) Prepare 12 oz. noodles, strain, mix with heaping T. butter. (4) Make 2 cups medium creamsauce, combine with 1 cup chicken stock, cook until mixture thickens. (5) Prepare 1 cup Hollandaise sauce, mix with cream sauce, add ½ cup dry white wine. (6) Butter casserole; place noodles on bottom, top with mushrooms, then chicken breasts; pour sauce over all. (7) Heat in 325 degree F. oven about 45 minutes. (8) Sprinkle generously with grated Parmesan cheese; brown quickly under broiler. Serves 8, depending on size of the chicken breasts; 12 breasts may be used without increasing other ingredients.

Snappy Gravy

If yours is a meat-and-potato family, enjoy this easy-to-do gravy made with drippings from beefburgers or chops. Stir into drippings a generous amount of catsup, a little Worcestershire, a dash of Tabasco and plenty of instant minced onion straight from the container.

Dandy Date Delights For Holiday Serving

Holiday cookie-making won't be complete until you've made "Ginger Date Crispies" at least once. The family is bound to deplete the supply fast but try to save some of these cookies for friends who drop in during the festive season.

Small pieces of fresh California dates, bits of semi-sweet chocolate and chopped candied ginger give these attractive treats unusually distinctive flavor. They would be ideal Christmas gifts for neighbors.

When using fresh California dates in preparing cookies, cakes, candies and stuffed delicacies, remember that they now come pitted in pound and half-pound packages and are found on grocery store shelves as well as in produce sections of stores.

If you buy unpitted dates, simply snip along one side with kitchen scissors and flip out the pit. For holiday parties, stuff pitted fresh California dates with an assortment of fillings—softened cream cheese (then rolled in colored sugar or gelatin powder, if you like), Cheddar cheese cubes, miniature marshmallows or colored gumdrops.

GINGER DATE CRISPIES

2 cups fresh California dates
⅓ cup shortening
⅓ cup butter or margarine
½ cup brown sugar, packed
2 eggs
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces.
¼ cup chopped candied ginger

Cut dates into small pieces. Cream shortening and butter well; beat in brown sugar. Beat in eggs until light. Sift flour, salt and baking powder together. Stir into butter mixture. Stir in vanilla, date pieces, chocolate and ginger. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto a greased cookie sheet. Flatten cookies with bottom of a glass dipped in sugar. Bake in 350 degree (moderate) oven 12 to 15 minutes, until golden brown.

Makes about 4 dozen cookies.

Next-Day Turkey

That leftover turkey will disappear with gusto when served in California avocado half-shells. Combine diced turkey, chopped celery, sliced olives and slivered almonds with your favorite salad dressing. Cut avocados lengthwise into halves. Remove seeds and skin and sprinkle with lemon juice. Mound salad into avocados and serve with hot soup and muffins.

King Gingerbread To Reign At Saturday Cookie Carnival

The fragrant scent and sight of home baked foods will entice the young and old at the annual Cookie Carnival to be presented by the San Rafael Ward Relief Society of the Latter-Day Saints Church on Saturday, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

King Gingerbread will again reign over the Carnival which will feature cookies made with butter. Snowballs, Thumbprints, Raggedy Prune Bars, and old fashioned sugar cookies will be among the large variety of cookies for sale. There will also be an assortment of nut and fruit breads, applesauce cakes, fruit cakes, and homemade bread and rolls from Mormon Pioneer recipes. The Candy Shop will have English Toffee, spiced walnuts, divinity, fudge, and peanut brittle.

THE BOUTIQUE, according to Mrs. Neal Sorenson, general chairman of the Cookie Carnival, will have gifts such as button on toys, Christmas stockings, bean bags, crocheted poodles, and huge tote bags, all hand made by the Relief Society members.

There will be fresh hot popcorn for the children and a continuous movie cartoon program. Lunch will be from 11:30 a.m.

The Carnival is open to the public. The Chapel is located on Bon Air Road at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Kentfield near Greenbrae.

MRS. EDWARD Morgan is president of the Relief Society. Committee Chairmen are Mesdames Clifford Marshall, Frank Hunsaker, Fred Woods, William Myers, Allan Judson, and Max Kimball.

The recipes for Mrs. Edward Morgan's Raggedy Prune Bars and Mrs. William Deaver's Mincemeat or Date Crescents are:

RAGGEDY PRUNE BARS

1 cup soft cooked prunes
2 eggs
1¼ cups brown sugar packed

Sift flour with baking powder and salt and stir into first mixture. Blend in Vanilla, walnuts, and prunes. Turn into a greased 9" square pan. Sprinkle with coconut. Preheat oven to 325° and bake about 35 minutes or until done when tested with tooth pick. Cut into bars while warm. Makes 2 dozen.

MINCEMEAT OR DATE CRESCENTS

1¼ cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons powdered sugar
⅓ cup margarine.

Sift flour, salt, and powdered sugar together. Cut in margarine. Sprinkle with water and form a ball. Chill.

Cranberry Cottage Pudding New Recipe For Holidays

Good cooks everywhere enjoy the game of giving new twists to old recipes.

Latest addition to these recipe ranks: Cranberry Cottage Pudding.

This dessert is an unassuming ending to a family meal. Lemon sauce, tangy with the rind and juice of the fresh fruit, is its traditional partner.

When I was a little girl, cottage pudding was sometimes served for Sunday dinner. It went into the oven when the roast came out so it could be rushed to the table while it was piping hot, bursting with freshness. The lemon sauce was passed in a gravy boat with a matching china ladle, and we children helped ourselves to copious amounts. Your small fry will probably do the same!

CRANBERRY COTTAGE PUDDING

2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups coarsely chopped fresh cranberries
1½ cups sugar
⅓ cup butter or margarine
2 eggs
⅔ cup milk

Sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Mix cranberries with ¼ cup of the sugar. Cream butter and remaining 1 cup sugar; beat in eggs thoroughly, one at a time. Stir in flour mixture alternately with milk, fold in cranberries. Turn into well-greased lightly floured baking pan (9 by 9 by 2 inches). Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 1 hour or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cut in squares in pan and serve hot with Lemon Sauce.

LEMON SAUCE

½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup boiling water
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
3 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons butter

In a saucepan stir together thoroughly the sugar, cornstarch and salt. Gradually stir in water, keeping smooth. Cook and stir constantly over moderately low heat until slightly thickened and clear. Stir in, off the heat, the lemon rind, lemon juice and butter. Serve hot.

Simple Dip To Have Ready Just In Case

Holiday time brings in visitors—often unexpectedly. Here's a simple dip you can have ready—"just in case." For variety, use yogurt instead of sour cream.

TOASTED ONION AND SOUR CREAM DIP

1 cup of dairy sour cream
1½ tablespoons of instant toasted onions
3 teaspoons of beef stock base
½ teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce
Dash of cayenne pepper

To the sour cream add toasted onions, beef stock base, Worcestershire sauce and cayenne. Let stand for 1 hour for flavors to blend. Serve with potato or corn chips, crisp crackers or chilled raw vegetables.

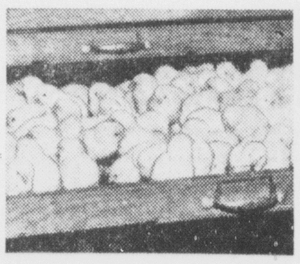
California Grown
FRYING CHICKEN

...Especially fed to give richer, tastier flavor!

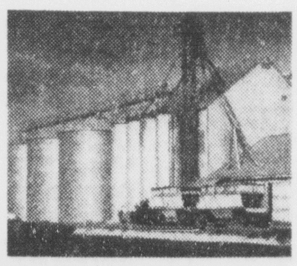
Now you can enjoy the true flavor and succulent goodness of fine corn fed Cornish fryers—bred, fed, and cared for till that day when they are exactly the right size, then processed and rushed to your market FIRST DAY FRESH.

No longer need you settle for fryers which have spent several days travel time from Arkansas or Mississippi. (Three out of four fryers eaten in California are trucked from Southern states.) Instead, insist on Foster Farms fryers, grown by us in the San Joaquin Valley, processed by us and sold by many quality conscious markets.

How can you be sure of getting these tasty young birds, which are delicious for frying, barbecuing, or roasting? Just insist on the Foster Farms label which is attached to the wing.



1. Foster Farms maintains breeding flocks to produce chicks like these, a Cornish cross with ideal growth which gives a richer, tastier flavor.



2. Only our own rations, with yellow corn the only grain used, are good enough to produce the quality fryer we demand.

3. In ten weeks or a little less, good chicks and good feed have been combined with painstaking care to turn out fryers like these.

4. This is the end product: Foster Farms fryers, grown and processed by us and delivered FIRST DAY FRESH. Watch for our wing label.

State Announces $134 Million Building Program For Next Year

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A 134-million-dollar construction program, the biggest in recent years, has been announced by the state for next year.

The big spending program, bolstered by voter approval of a 270-million-dollar bond issue in November, includes major prison and higher education projects. More than half the projects depended on the bond funds.

Of the total, 75 million dollars would be spent in Northern California and 58.5 million dollars in the south.

Major Southern California projects include a new 15-million-dollar medium security prison for 1,200 inmates at Tehachapi and a 2.53-million-dollar office building in San Bernardino. Both are to be advertised for bids late in 1963.

The largest Northern California project is a 10.37-million-dollar Sierra Branch Conservation center near Sonora, where 1,200 minimum security prison inmates will be housed. It's to be up for bid shortly after the first of the year.

Other projects include a 9.27-million-dollar California Youth Center and an eight million-dollar, 17-story office building in Sacramento.

Senior Citizens Due Yule Film

Manny Charnow's plan for a Christmas outing for Marin senior citizens has grown into a trip to San Francisco for a Cinerama movie.

Charnow today announced three chartered Greyhound buses will take the seniors to Golden Gate Baptist Seminary in Strawberry for lunch, then to the Orpheum Theater in San Francisco to view a Cinerama movie.

Kaehler-Farrar Co., Marin real estate developers, have undertaken to underwrite the cost of the outing.

Nearly 120 persons are expected to make the trip, Charnow said.

AT THE ENTRANCE to the historic Moffitt mansion in Belvedere which will be the setting on Dec. 8, 9, 15 and 16 for open houses in honor of the Peter Pan Chapter of the Children's Home Society are members, from left, Mesdames Robert Bramman, Frank Tissen and Jay Stovall. Moffitt Mansion Opening Set

Restoration of the historic Moffitt mansion has neared completion and to celebrate the renovation, the owners have planned a series of open houses in honor of Peter Pan Chapter of the Children's Society, to be held on December 8, 9, 15 and 16.

On Friday, the owners will be hosts at a large cocktail party, also in honor of Peter Pan Chapter.

ORIGINALLY BUILT in 1900, the 15-room house was cut into two sections and moved from its location on Broadway in San Francisco by truck and barge, across the bay to a new site in Belvedere the latter part of June.

For the cocktail party and open houses, members of the American Institute of Interior Design will decorate the mansion in traditional style. The large drawing room, which was originally conceived as the library, will be done in the more formal manner that typified the pre-earthquake era. The easy, informal elegance of today's living will be seen in the garden room, where rattan furniture and Oriental accessories will be used. This room, with its huge windows, overlooks the patio and swimming pool area.

THE FORMAL dining room, enhanced by a marble fireplace and private patio, will be decorated in muted colors of green and gold. Classic elegance, with a bit of contemporary flair and hues of Venetian blue and mink brown will be used in the spacious master bedroom suite. The guest bedroom will be done in antique white and willow green, using French provincial furniture.

For the upstairs game room, the decorator has chosen colors of blue-violet and spring green and Italian provincial furniture.

Members of Peter Pan Chapter helping to coordinate some of the details for the open house include Mesdames Robert M. Bramman, Claude Felland, C. E. Bodington, I. Wayland Bonbright III, David J. Dorward, Harry L. Jacobson, Theodore A. Murray, Jay A. Barbeau, J. F. Carreiro Jr., Rodger Gerhardt and David A. Beadling.

Assemblyman Advises CCPT Concentration On Important Bills

Assemblyman William Bagley, Marin County, advised members of the Fourteenth District of Parents and Teachers to concentrate on one or two important bills, work hard for them, watch their course in committee, note whether the content or intent of the bill has been changed in the progression, and know your assemblymen and senators and their stands on education bills.

Speaking at the group's meeting Thursday at Terra Linda High School, he said that of the 80 million dollars increase in state welfare expenditures over the last two years, nearly one-half could have been diverted to educational purposes. Progress could also be made in textbook selection by adoption of methods giving local districts leeway in their own selection with cooperation of the State Board, rather than mandatory selection. Bagley said that he thinks a balance is needed in allotment of tax monies, which can be effected by groups which realize that when faced with one need they can cut down on some other bill and press for the more important.

CONDUCTING THE panel discussion on "Legislation In Education" with Bagley was Mrs. Doyle Hoffman of El Monte, and Mrs. Malcolm Finley of San Rafael, both legislative advocates for the board of managers, CCPT.

Mrs. Hoffman described advocates' work in Sacramento and outlined their platform: Interested in local control of school districts, high educational standards for teachers, adequate teacher salaries, school finances, favoring broad tax structure, schools have first call on state money, encourages reorganization of districts where it would better serve educational needs of children, elected or appointed State Board of Education, which in turn elects or appoints state superintendent of education by a method which avoids partisan or political control, supports counseling for divergent youth, opposes lowering age limit of school attendance, favors investigation of "diploma mills."

MRS. FINLEY ADVISED P-TA members to study education bills, send their recommendations to their advocates to be presented to the legislature in order to assure proper presentation.

Mrs. Robin Galloway of Kentfield, district president, conducted the meeting for the seven councils, out-of-council members and guests.

Two Couples To Usher In Holiday Season With Party

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

Dr. and Mrs. John Cann and Barbara and Hodge Davidson are co-hosting a holiday cocktail party tomorrow night at the Meadow Club. They've invited about 150 friends to celebrate the beginning of the holiday season with them.

WILLIAM H. PATCHING of San Rafael has been introducing his bride, the former Mrs. Irving Charles Olson of West Los Angeles, to his friends. The couple exchanged nuptial vows at St. John's (Presbyterian) Church in West Los Angeles, Nov. 12, Rev. Richard Irons officiating. The couple honeymooned in Santa Barbara.

In the wedding party were the bride's only daughter, Mrs. Howard Hagerty of Westdale, and her husband, and Mr. Patching's daughter, Miss Patrizia Patching, who is teaching in Fresno. He has another daughter, Mrs. George Allan of San Rafael. The new Mrs. Patching lived in San Mateo until she moved to Southern California 10 years ago. The Patchings are residing in San Rafael.

A DINNER PARTY was given recently by Mr. and Mrs. John Bridgman at their Belvedere home honoring Eugene Zuckert, Secretary of the Air Force, who was Jack Bridgman's classmate at Yale. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Hickey Jr., (Julie Bridgman) and Jack's cousin, John Ward Mailliard III.

WHEN THE BEAUTIFUL general reading room in Schubert Hall, the new library of the California Historical Society of San Francisco is christened tomorrow at a gala champagne party, present will be several Marin members who have a personal interest in the new hall. The reading room was named for John Hamilton Still, great grandfather of Mrs. Bayard Brooks Herrick of Loch Lomond. The memorial reading room commemorates the early California activities of John Hamilton Still. He had the first book store in San Francisco close to Portsmouth Square and the first book store in Sacramento. Mr. and Mrs. Herrick will be accompanied to Schubert Hall by their 14 year old daughter, Bayanne, a freshman at Katharine Branson School. The Herricks have two sons, Brooks Herrick, 11, who attends Cathedral School for Boys, and Crowell, 5, a kindergartner. Mrs. Herrick's cousin, Mrs. William Ely Chambers of New York and her husband are flying west for the dedication of the Still reading room and will entertain a few friends at dinner at the Sheraton-Palace after the event.

Also present at Schubert Hall dedication will be Mrs. John E. Cahill (Peggy Kennedy) of Kentfield and her husband. Funds for the Map Room in Schubert Hall were provided by Peggy's mother, Mrs. Gerald D. Kennedy, and her four daughters, Mesdames Cahill, Jeremy Cole (Geraldine), Harold Cookson (Katherine) and St. George Holden (Moira) in memory of the late Mr. Kennedy.

Schubert Hall, the impressive Pacific Avenue mansion, former home of the late Mrs. Adolph Uhl, is adjacent to the California Historical Society's headquarters on Jackson Street.

DELTA GAMMA ALUMNAE who live in Marin, and their husbands gathered at the annual holiday dinner party Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ribar in Kent Woodlands. Each member brought a Christmas gift for a child in the San Francisco family which Delta Gammas in the Bay Area sponsor. There are three blind youngsters in the household, and since Delta Gamma's international philanthropy is aid to the visually handicapped, this family is particularly close to the alumnae groups.

Attending the party were Dr. and Mrs. John Degenhardt, Messrs. and Mesdames David Cook, John S. Hoffmire, Raye Murray, Robert DeVillriss, Howard McGill, Frosty Winter, John Ross, Robert Joses, H. Nordmark Williams, Richard Clarke, William Brooke, Allen Feder, James W. Fahrner, John B. Crawford, Conrad Tenney, William Ballard, Russell Baker, Thomas Bahrens, Donald Lamp, Lionel Stott, Dale Brook, of Marin, and from Sacramento Mr. and Mrs. Benton Sparks, formerly of Mill Valley.

It was an opportunity for the artist to show his paintings to the Hitchcock's friends. Among the guests were the William Pomeroys of Sausalito, who have an art gallery in San Francisco.

Not 'Dearie'

Intimate intelligence: they don't call the customer "dearie" anymore in fur shops. One fur company of Chicago recently put out a formal edict on the subject, cautioning sales people to avoid the word. The boss said the word was "downright cheap, lacking in taste and likely to put saleswoman and her shop in the third rate class."

School Board Serves Long Hours With Small Rewards

There are many unsung heroes and heroines in public life who deserve praise. But none are more deserving than school board members. Shall we look at their jobs?

School board members work like dogs. They're on call 24 hours a day, 365 days of the year. They attend long meetings, plodding their way through hundreds of problems and making decisions. Every decision upsets some people. If they promote a teacher to a principal, he'll be happy. But a dozen disappointed candidates will be sore. If they back up a teacher who has whipped a child, parents will call them enemies of youth. If they don't back up the teacher, pedagogues will accuse 'em of bad faith. Have you noticed that critics of the school board are noisy?

School board members must master many things. When new schools are needed, board members must study land values, construction costs, architectural problems, and labor laws. A budget must be adopted. So members must know cost accounting, population trends, appraisals, and legal requirements. Many new services for children are requested. Board members must decide whether psychological help is more important than visual aid equipment, or vice versa. And when organization problems emerge, board members must become experts in public administration.

Their reward? Usually it is only the knowledge of a job well done. School board members receive very little recognition; there are no financial returns. The position isn't a stepping stone to higher office, but board members love children, and want to serve them. Board membership gives them a chance to help our boys and girls. That is all they seek. We parents should unite in saying thank you, school board members!

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "Are school board members elected or appointed?"
Mrs. B. W.

(A) In some states they are elected; in others, appointed. I think the better plan is to elect them to office. Then there is less chance of a political boss getting control of our schools.

Gold Star Mothers Hold Installation

Mrs. William Armstrong was recently installed to serve her second year as president of the Marin Chapter of American Gold Star Mothers.

Other officers who will compose the executive board under Mrs. Anderson are Mesdames Ruth M. Jones, first vice president; Ethel Jordan, second vice president; Henry R. Sanborn, recording secretary; Henrietta von Staden, treasurer; Grace Barry, chaplain and custodian of records; George T. Carpenter, sergeant-at-arms; William Anderson, flag guard; Marie Westlund, historian, and Sarah Allen, corresponding secretary.

Members have started annual charity activities, which will be distribution of small knee robes for patients in veterans hospitals, and decorated tins of candies to be distributed by the Red Cross.

The Revivals

If you have well-rounded heels, you will be instyle for a shoe fashion resurgence of the sling pump. If you are well-heeled, you will be all set for the revival of the over-the-shoulder pocket book. It's the handbag industry's answer to the person burdened with lugging lots of money around.

A Good High Schcol Sports Program Has Helped Many Boys

Do our high school students spend too much time at sports? Are team activities overemphasized? Critics often say so. Some even think that all school sports should be abolished. I disagree with them. Do you?

Let me tell you about "Bill." He had a good mind, but never used it. His grades were terrible and he resented school. He was disobedient, cantankerous, quarrelsome. He played hookey a lot. When Bill was 12 he told me he lived solely for the day when he could drop out. At 13 he began to steal money; soon he had a police record.

Then Bill entered a high school with a good sports program. For the first time he had a chance to take part in team activities. He turned out to be a natural athlete. The exercise took off his fat and improved his appearance. He had to take orders from his coaches, so he learned to obey. He began to subordinate his wishes to the good of the team. He stopped losing his temper; his stealing ceased.

Football was Bill's best sport; he was a star his last two years in high school. Bill went to college on a football scholarship. He got interested in geology, of all things. He played football regularly and worked hard in his classes.

Bill came by to see me recently. He is in his third year now. He told me he had just been elected to an honorary scientific society. He thinks he may make Phi Beta Kappa by the time he gets his diploma. He plans to enter a graduate school, and take his Ph.D. degree in geology. I was amazed. Hurrah for Bill!

I frequently criticize high school athletics. I know their weaknesses, but I certainly don't want them abolished. Let's work for a broader, better sports program in our schools, not for their ending.

Martin Collors Return To Mill Valley

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Collor and their two children, Jeff and Chris, have returned from living in Hawaii two years and are moving back into their home on Eldridge Avenue in Mill Valley.

Collor had been assigned there in the Honolulu branch office of the U.S. Civil Service Commission and has been transferred back to the San Francisco office.

Mrs. Collor was active in the League of Women Voters of Southern Marin as its president for two terms and also as a member of the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission.

"We loved living in Hawaii but are glad to get back home," she said.

Fur For Youth

Little boys and girls having mamas and poppas with great big wallets are also decked in fur during this the furriest year in two decades. Fur on the collars, cuffs, and hems too of the swingy skirts on little girl's dresses created by Roman designer Zingone. Fur is too ticklish a situation for lads' suits, but it's warm and masculine on coat collars and caps.

MR. AND MRS. FRANK JOSEPH Cherne Jr., are photographed following their recent wedding at Peace Lutheran Church in Mill Valley. The bride, the former Paulann Ross, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ross Jr., of Mill Valley.

Opening lead — ♡ K

When this hand was played in the recent national tournament, two spades was a popular contract.

HARD TIME

Most declarers gave themselves a hard time and managed to win only eight tricks.

The square line of play is to win the first heart and lead a club in the hope of winning with the king or jack.

East won the first club and returned a heart to West, getting another club through dummy.

EASIER TIME

East usually led a third club, forcing South to ruff.

When East got in with the ace of spades he could lead a fourth club, thus assuring West a trick with the jack of spades.

A few players gave themselves an easier time by considering how the hand looked to a defender.

RIGHT TIME

The easy play is to win the first heart and lead a heart right back.

This makes it look as though declarer intends to ruff a heart in dummy.

When this was done, East overtook the second trick with the ten of hearts in order to lead out the ace and another trump.

This solved declarer's trump problem, and allowed him to draw the last trump and run the diamonds.

Result: 11 tricks instead of only 8.

Be Careful Around Home With The Children Inside

When the winter rains begin and children are forced to stay inside, that's when accidents can happen.

We'd like to call your attention to a few of the many causes of accident so you will be alert and thus prevent a private tragedy of your own.

1. Keep plastic garment bags away from young children, they can stick to a child's face causing suffocation.

2. Keep all matches in metal containers and out of children's reach.

3. Never leave young children alone, even when they are asleep. It's safer to wait until the children are awake and take them along.

4. With young children in the house, all unused electrical outlets should be covered with receptacle safety caps.

5. Set the table with place mats rather than tablecloths that hang down over the edge. A toddler may easily tug on the tablecloth and pull a pot of hot coffee down on him.

6. Keep out of children's reach such chemicals as lye, bleaches, ammonia, insecticides, garden sprays, turpentine, kerosene, lead paint, home permanent wave solutions, cosmetics, moth balls, furniture polish, and all medicines.

7. If you have Venetian blinds, cut open the loop at the end of the cord used for raising and lowering the blinds. A child could easily get his head caught.

8. Keep knives and other sharp objects out of children's reach; turn handles of pans on the stove toward the back of the stove so children can't pull them down.

9. Choose toys with safety in mind, watch for sharp edges and small parts which may come loose and be swallowed.

10. When repainting a child's room, furniture or toys, use only paint containing less than one per cent lead.

11. Insist that skates and other toys which might cause falls are put away after use.

12. Remove ammunition before bringing guns into the house. Store ammunition and guns under lock and key.

13. For young children, have gates at both the top and bottom of stairs.

14. Before leaving children with a baby sitter; make sure the sitter knows house layout. Leave phone numbers to call in case of an emergency.

In Automobiles and On Highways:

1. If an adults holds a child in the right side of the front seat, the adult should wear a safety seat belt.

2. A child under age 3 should sit in a special child's seat attached to the back of the front auto seat. He should be securely strapped into the seat.

3. Children age 3 or over should wear safety seat belts when riding in the front seat. Firm pillows may be used to raise them enough to see out.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

THEY MET WITH A BANG

A new chapter of the ageless "boy meets girl" story was written not long ago in Oslo, Norway.

It began when a motorist struck a young woman at a busy street corner. He wasted no time in rushing her to the hospital.

During her recovery, he became a regular visitor. Later, he asked her to marry him and she agreed. They took their honeymoon in the car that caused the accident.

However varied or amusing may be the ways in which married couples first meet, the most important chapter of their life opens after they say "I do."

Bring home especially to these who are contemplating marriage the weighty life-long obligations involved as well as the joys.

The Lord will bless any and every effort you make to spread far and wide the true meaning of marriage.

If you do, there is no telling how many persons you will help to deepen and intensify their love as the years roll on.

"Now they are no longer two but one flesh. What therefore God has joined together, let no man put asunder."

(Matthew 19:6)

Help me, O Lord, to strengthen the ties of family life in every way I can.

The Wife Gets Breakfast In Bed —After She Fixes It For Herself

NEW YORK (AP)—A man's word is his bond.

For a long, long time I had been promising my wife, Frances, that on our silver wedding anniversary I would bring her breakfast in bed.

So when the great day finally came, I leaned above her by the dawn's early light, and tenderly asked "WHAT'LL YOU HAVE, DEAR?"

"Just orange juice, toast, scrambled eggs and bacon and tea," she murmured sleepily.

"Well, then, get up and fix it!" I told her.

"But all these years you promised you'd serve me breakfast in bed on our 25th anniversary," protested Frances. "Some years that prospect is about all that kept me going."

"I do intend to serve you breakfast in bed. But first you have to get up and cook it, don't you?"

But she padded out to the kitchen, fixed breakfast, then climbed back into bed, and I served it to her—according to plan.

Then, as married people do on such occasions, we fell to reminiscing about the past.

Frances remembered everything about our wedding at the "Little Church Around the Corner" here in 1937—who was there, what she wore, what I wore, who said what to whom.

All I could recall about the ceremony was that my bride brought me only a dowry of $100—we either had to forego having the candles at the altar lit, $2, or the organ music—was it $5 or $10?

"Our wedding dinner was spaghetti, meat sauce and a bottle of wine," said Frances. "It cost $2. I remember I had to lend you the money.

"AND THE bedstead in that quaint little hovel in Greenwich Village you brought me home to didn't even have legs. It was supported by four stacks of bricks."

Discussing our quarter century of marital experience, I asked my wife:

"What do you think now are the hardest years of marriage?"

"The first 25," she replied promptly, then added fervently, "I hope!"

ACTUALLY, the wear and tear of the years shows more on me than on her. I have grown fat and partly bald from weathering a depression, two wars and recessions.

But my wife, who had a streak of premature gray in her hair at marriage, now shows no sign of silver threads among the gold. Some years back her hair suddenly turned blonde and youthful looking overnight, an occurrence which is still known to other dwellers on our apartment house floor as "The miracle in Apartment 8-F."

I Certainly Am Freeway Hater

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Your editorial of Nov. 26 certainly applies to me. I am a freeway hater. I am a freeway hater who reads statistics and stories about freeway accidents and deaths in your newspaper.

I wish that we could exchange all of our "broad, limited access rights-of-way" for roads like the present Shoreline Highway. I'm not sure that this would make us more content, but it certainly would make us more numerous.

Medical Care Is Missing Factor

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

This is in reply to a letter you published Nov. 23 by Dr. J. J. Couacaud with reference to the British National Health Service and similar medical programs in the Scandinavian and other European countries which have been in operation for several decades.

These government financed medical programs have proved their value in these countries and won the enthusiastic approval of the majority of their people including those associated with the profession.

The situation which Dr. Couacaud describes "overcrowded hospitals, shortage of doctors and hours spent waiting at clinics" are ancient history. They were fairly typical before NHS was launched and for a time after the inauguration of the program. There is now no waiting list for acute or emergency cases which are admitted to all hospital immediately, and the waiting time on all other cases is determined by medical priority.

Because of stringent economic conditions after the war, it was not possible for the British government to finance any major buildings for its hospital service until 1955 when they took over 3,000 existing old hospitals. By remodeling 134 of these buildings, they increased the beds to 480,000. In addition, they have built 90 new hospitals and will spend two billion dollars during the 10 years 1958-1968 for further extension of the hospital service . . .

No longer does Britain have doubts as to whether the economy can afford such a comprehensive program. As one observer puts it: "The Health Service is not a money-consuming service; it is a wealth-producing service." Like education, medical care is viewed as one of the responsibilities of government. So much has it become a part of the British way of life that it would be difficult for the average Britisher to imagine what it would be like without those services that have contributed so much to his physical and mental well-being.

The burst of new vigor, enterprise and prosperity throughout Western Europe is closely related to the renewed health, energy and morale made possible by adequate medical care for the first time in history. It might indeed be the greatest social advance of this century.

For our own country, a program of this kind might well be the missing ingredient for restoring our lagging morale and rate of economic growth.

Woes Of World Belong On Man

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

John Kaufman, in his letter to your paper, Nov. 27, blames the wrong Being for the problems in this world.

It is the human being who is inhuman to man not the Divine Being.

If two thirds of the people in the world are on the verge of starvation it is because their fellow men are not willing to share their food with them. We all have free will and we can help each other or refuse.

John Kaufman, please be just and put the blame for the woes of this world where they belong, on man not on God.

Most Senseless Official Statement

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

When I read Novato Councilman Angeloni's statement to the Highway Commission members, "May God have mercy on their souls!" I felt like hiding in the nearest closet lest I should hear the wail of other children.

And then I realized it was just the voice of one small man and not the people. And the world looked good again —even Novato — in spite of the year's most senseless official statement.

BENNETT CERF

Shortly before his death, William Faulkner, one of America's greatest authors, told me that Editor Albert Erskine was the finest literary craftsman whom he ever had met. "When he approves a manuscript of mine," said Faulkner, "I know it's ready for the printer."

"Coming from you," I said, "that is a great compliment. Have you told that to Erskine? I know how delighted he would be."

"No, I haven't," admitted Faulkner with a slow smile. "In my book, when a race horse is running good, Bennett, you don't stop to feed him a piece of sugar!"

Two young lovers were quarreling on a bench in the park. "I hate you," said the girl. Please return my lock of hair." "Done and done," snapped the boy. "Do you want the dark lock, or the one you gave men when you were a blonde?"

Another young Romeo telephoned his beloved to say, "I now own a profitable business, a new car, and a bungalow at Fire Island. How's about our getting married immediately?" "I accept," enthused the girl. "By the way, who's calling?"

Perhaps Hardcastle Can Lead Parade Back To Vital Business

A sensational and constructive offer was made to our good gray Marin County supervisors last week.

This sort of thing, or even a kind word, is so rare that I suggest instant action.

Thomas D. Hardcastle was the mild-looking iconoclast who said, after appointment to the board of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District: "I pledge to maintain continuous contact with this board of supervisors."

AS ONE WHO has been maintaining such contact I say that Hardcastle spoke rashly, perhaps just in the first flush of enthusiasm. He bit off a mouthful.

But don't let him get off the hook. Take him up, quick.

Schedule him forthwith for an appearance each and every month if not oftener.

Although not long ago I hollered for a simplified agenda this addition would make sense and add meat to the proceedings.

To be tactful, maybe the agenda should speak of something like "Marin Directors, Golden Gate Bridge." That would include Hardcastle's fellow-director Leland S. Murphy. Like Matt Graham, Murphy heretofore never has seen any special reason for looking in on the Marin supervisors except to say thank-you for reappointment every four years.

IN VIEW OF the fact that Murphy may not be asked again for any such gesture (the way the wind blows currently) whether he might want to come in with Hardcastle for these monthly chats I dunno. After 20 years of work he may be tired.

Hardcastle has the hard lot of his fellow-commuters on his mind. This subject is likely to prove tiresome to all his fellow-directors of the bridge, unless some other directors interested in commuters join the bridge board. Could happen.

But county supervisors are fascinated with problems of voters. They should love to talk about the commuters, important constituents.

Not only is there some rumor of a stacked deck in the matter of the "expert report" against rapid transit over the bridge, there's the obvious fact that bridge directors have shown no tendency to be up-to-date or flexible about that problem. They just swept it under the rug, swish!

Many who have ridden monorails at Seattle or Disneyland have lingering suspicion that while certainly there is no magic in the word "monorail," it might stand for a new approach to the question of light fast transit.

WESTINGHOUSE Electric has just designed a low-cost two-rail system with 20-passenger cars weighing a mere 8,574 pounds each, able to pelt over a bridge at motorcar speed in trains of one to 10 cars with no operating employee.

Closed circuit TV monitors this operation. Gee whiz, the supervisors could rig up a screen and play choo-choo! such really would bear looking into, as Abe Lincoln said of the rat-hole in his office.

This Hardcastle idea is really a dilly worth all sorts of extension. I've said repeatedly that the supervisors as our top-chop county executives ought to work more on policy and less on trivial routine housekeeping; all right, why not regularly schedule many other important matters to come up before them?

AS THINGS GO, it has often been all too easy for our board to drift clear out of touch with such matters as parks and recreation, potential future water supply, various aspects of housing, and a score of other vital affairs. When they come up now and then, everybody has forgotten events and policies and chaos reigns for a while.

Let's cut out some of the nonsense that currently fouls up the joint and sends everybody home late and yawning. It will be invigorating, praiseworthy and a downright good idea if Hardcastle leads a big parade of vital business before the supervisors.

New Respect, Trust In Europe For Kennedy, U.S. Since Cuba

LONDON—There is new respect, trust, and reliance for the United States throughout Western Europe today.

If Western Europe's political leaders and people — except the Communists — were called upon to register a vote today, John F. Kennedy would be the elected head of the free world alliance.

It would be a clear verdict, a decisive vote of confidence in the President of the United States—not just because the U. S. has the power to lead, but because of the wise and effective use of that power.

THIS IS THE visible fruit of the President's confrontation of Khrushchev over Cuba, which most of Europe feared when it began, but which it now welcomes with huge satisfaction and lift.

The effect of this new attitude, evident wherever I have been traveling — in London, Paris, Bonn, Berlin — is to give Kennedy larger latitude for initiative and action—if he wants to use it.

There are two reasons why leadership opinion and public opinion have a new degree, a marked new degree, of trust in the President.

He used American power prudently and called into use no more force than was needed.

It was successful. The Europeans liked it. They respected it. There is now a remarkable increase of confidence in the President.

THIS WASN'T true at the beginning of the Cuban blockade—except in West Germany and in West Berlin where the almost universal reaction was, "At last."

It was particularly not true in Britain where the government was cautious and noncommittal immediately after the President's Oct. 22 speech and where the London press, with the single exception of Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express, was wringing its hands and crying, "Oh, dear, don't do this to us!"

But the change in British press opinion was almost equally total. It is revealing to note how sharp and complete that change was—once it became clear that America's resolute confrontation was causing a Soviet retreat.

BUT THE BRITISH press was out of touch with the British people, or, at least, failed in any way to reflect British public opinion. Well before Khrushchev gave in, that is, within two days after the American action became known, the National Opinion Poll found that 58 per cent of the British people endorsed the American action and 66 per cent wanted their government to support the United States.

Today British official and public opinion are united and the British press has come around.

Today the highest officials of the British government, as on the continent, are high in praise not only of what the U. S. did, but the way they did it.

Now Legislation Needed To End Multi-Numbered Roads

One of the rewards newspapermen receive is getting something done.

For years in this space we have been criticizing the multiple numbering system used in California for its highways.

Not only do highways have a whole flock of numbers posted for motorists to decipher, but there is another duplication in the numbering for state sign routes and state legislative numbers.

Thus when the state says it is going to improve Highway 1, it doesn't mean the Shoreline Highway, that's Sign Route 1; it means the Redwood Highway, Sign Route 101, which is Route 1 on the legislative books. Don't ask us why.

In any event, last week the Division of Highways presented to the Senate Interim Committee on Transportation a new plan whereby each road and highway will have just one number.

With a loud cheer we say, That's the old spirit! And high time too.

We're glad the division has completed its study and has found, as we've been saying for years, that the present system is inefficient, confusing and senseless.

Now let's hope that Sen. Randolph Collier's committee follows through on the highway division's report and introduces proper legislation next January to bring an end to the multiple numbered mess.

There's A Job Needing Doing

All of you probably have received a letter containing your TB Christmas Seals. This is the 30th year that these seals have been offered to Marin residents by Marin Tuberculosis and Health Association. It is the 56th year they have been available nationally.

Great strides have been made in those years in the fight against TB. But there is still much to be done.

There are 188 TB victims in Marin County right now under supervision of the County Health Department. Up to Dec. 1 this year, 26 new cases have been recorded. And TB continues to be the greatest killer of all the chronic infectious diseases, topping polio, meningitis and influenza combined.

So you see, there's a job needing doing. What are we doing about it?

Last year letters and seals were sent to 42,386 persons in the county; last year you contributed $34,135. This year, 44,077 letters have been sent out. The hope is that last year's total will be eclipsed.

What happens to the money?

Approximately 85 per cent of it stays in the county to carry on the free minifilm X-ray program; to help detect unknown cases and prevent spread of the disease; to keep the doctors up to date on the results of research and new techniques; to educate the public about TB, and to provide aids, information and service to patients and their families.

Six per cent goes to state and national research; 5 per cent to the national TB association, and 4 per cent to the state association.

We hope you will decorate all your Christmas cards and packages with TB seals and send in your contributions to carry on the association's work.

Republicans Face Showdown In Leadership Fight Next Weekend

By CHAPIN A. DAY

'CHIP' DAY

The legislators are beginning their biennial pilgrimage to Sacramento in the preparation for the opening of the general session of the legislature Jan. 7. The Republicans in the Assembly have their own peculiar problem this year, who's on first? Or more specifically, who will be the minority leader.

There are some around Sacramento who have phrased the question another way: Will there be a two-party system in the Assembly this year? This is because Jesse Unruh, the Democratic speaker, has frankly told the GOP minority if they stood together as Republicans, he would eliminate all Republicans as committee chairmen. Rumor also has it that he would eliminate Republicans from the powerful Rules Committee.

Unruh has as his choice for Republican chairman, Charles J. Conrad of Sherman Oaks, who, strangely enough, also is supposed to have the backing of former GOP floor leader and defeated gubernatorial candidate Joe Shell. This strange combination of supporters comes about because Conrad is attracting the extremely conservative assemblymen while playing ball with Unruh's programs.

CONRAD'S MAJOR opposition is Robert T. Monagan of Tracy, who has the support of the younger and more progressive portions of the GOP, including Marin Assemblyman William T. Bagley.

Bagley, with Gordon Cologne of Indio, Houston Flournoy of Claremont, John Veneman of Modesto and Monagan are the base of the Monagan support, as they were the foundation for the GOP solid front which blocked passage of the budget bill last budget session.

THERE ARE 28 Republicans in the lower house, so 15 are needed to elect a speaker. One Sacramento news agency, Capitol News Service, already has declared Conrad will be elected, that the GOP committee chairmen will be too afraid of losing their jobs to back Monagan.

But after meetings late last week in Sacramento, the Monagan group is far from dissatisfied.

They figure that of the 11 new GOP assemblymen taking seats, at least five can be surely counted upon to back Monagan. Two of them, from San Diego County, have great hopes they can convince their other two new Republicans from the county to stick together and vote as a unit. There is one other new Southland solon who has indicated more than a casual interest in Monagan.

Thus, if Monagan can get these he will have 13 sure votes, one short of being assured of a tie; two short of victory.

ONE OF THE UNKNOWN factors is veteran Howard Thielen of Glendale. He's indicated he'd like the job too. But if he should decide to withdraw, he seems most likely to go to Monagan.

And then Alan Pattee, a holdover from Salinas, has a committee chairmanship and would like to keep it. But he also dislikes being told what to do. He could well go for Monagan and that would be that, 15 votes and victory.

HAVING LOST both their floor leader and their caucus chairman, the only party official left is Don Mulford of Oakland, party whip. He'd like to be caucus chairman.

In his position as whip he has called a meeting of all Assembly Republicans for next Saturday morning in Los Angeles, Marin Sen. John F. McCarthy, the Senate minority leader, has called a meeting of all Republican legislators for breakfast that morning before Mulford's meeting.

Maybe by the time they come home, they will have settled the matter.

Humans Could Make Life Better

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

In reference to John Kaufman's letter Nov. 27:

Each time I marvel (which is almost continually) at how wonderful all of creation is, I wonder how we humans could help make it more worth-while.

God, the Creator of Heaven and Earth, cannot be blamed for keeping two-thirds of the world on the verge of starvation.

There is no chaos in the universe where it follows the well-ordered plan of God.

If we humans, with our free will, did not stray, wander or defy the laws of our Creator, would not our life, and every life be better?

If we each sincerely tried to follow "Love The Lord, Thy God" and "Love Thy Neighbor as thyself for the love of God," would anyone be hungry, naked, homeless, etc.?

Most Pitiful Letter Read

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I do not think that I have ever read a more pitiful letter than the one printed on your editorial page today (Nov. 27).

I can only assume that at the time of writing it, John Kaufman was suffering from turkey starvation. Doubtless he would not have feasted at all on Thanksgiving Day, feeling as he does about the other "two-thirds of the world on the verge of starvation."

If only, in addition to this self-denial, he had refrained from putting into words so redolent with hatred his nonbelief in God, one might have been convinced that he felt a truly Christian concern for others.

As it stands, his letter seems to savor of sour grapes, or should I say, sour cranberries.

Come, there must be something more worthwhile to print. The recitation of nonbeliefs makes poor reading.

An Insult To Public Decency

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Tonight's (Nov. 27) letter by John Kaufman under the heading "If there is a God, he stinks" is an insult to public decency.

Mr. Kaufman has, of course, the privilege of being an atheist and also a vegetarian as his compassion for the poor, helpless turkeys seems to imply. This freedom of choice, however, gives him no license to blaspheme.

One must also wonder how his diatribe contributes anything to the lot of starving people and how he would manage, if called upon, to pledge allegiance to the flag, or does he just skip "one nation under God"?

Ungrateful People In Wonderful State

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I am a visitor to California from Vermont and have been enjoying your paper, especially the editorial page.

In the issue of Nov. 27 there appeared a letter signed by John Kaufman which was one of the most disgusting things I have ever read. It certainly makes one ashamed that anyone with the dim views of Mr. Kaufman is allowed to enjoy this wonderful country of ours. I wonder just where the United States would be if we all held God in his category?

This letter is in no way a criticism of your paper and I admire the printing of his letter for it must have been very distasteful for you to do it.

It certainly is too bad that there are such ungrateful people in this wonderful state.

Nerve To Drag His Name Down

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Was I upset over something like: "If there is a God, he stinks!" How can anyone be so mean and put His name in the dirt?

I think it is more or less up to the people to make this world good or bad.

My husband and I and three of our children were born and partly raised in Germany. We had a bad time during the war, and the United States helped all of us, otherwise we wouldn't be here now.

It takes a lot of nerve to drag His name down like this.

Where Does Money From Firemen's Ball Go? To Buy Resuscitator

Did you ever wonder what firemen do with all of the money they are supposed to make on the annual Firemen's Ball?

Well, if you have, you are in good company, because a lot of people have wondered about that. Generally, it is used for good purpose. I have seen some fire departments that keep a surplus of clothing and canned food for emergencies when families lose everything in a fire.

The Novato Volunteer Firemen this week also did a good deed with some money they have made from their ball. They bought a resuscitator to keep on one of the first line fire trucks.

The department has one resuscitator which it sends out on specific calls, but this one will be for use when the firemen are out on fires.

It cost the volunteer firemen $320, but if it ever saves one life when the truck gets to a fire, it will be well worth while.

AT A RECENT Novato Unified School board meeting, the trustees were discussing changing the name of Hill Intermediate School to Hill Junior High School.

General terms applied to schools were being kicked around by the members. The conversation went something like this:

What is the difference between an intermediate and a junior high school? Or an elementary school? Or what grades are in an intermediate school?

Marett Boissevain, Jr., said that when he went to school, all the first eight grades were called "grammar school."

Earl Marshall made a quick observation: "They are not called that any more because they don't teach grammar."

To which William Kirk replied: "Dr. Rafferty would love you for that remark."

WHENEVER SOMEONE or some thing locally makes a nationwide publication, I think it is worthy of note. So do others who called it to my attention.

In the November issue of True Magazine on page 127 in the man-to-man answers, is an item concerning a San Rafael man.

A reader had written asking how long a man could hold his breath under water.

The answer revealed that "Robert Foster set a new world record in March, 1959, at San Rafael, Calif. He held his breath under water for 13 minutes, 42.5 seconds. The long breath holding was accomplished by the diver first hyperventilating, that is, breathing deep many times before submerging to purge his lungs of carbon dioxide."

And that is about 11 or 12 minutes longer than I can submerge.

DIFFERENCE IN PARTIES

Clear Congress Split On Federal Role

By Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON—The question of how great or small a role the federal government should play in American life continues to drive a wedge between the Democratic and Republican parties.

In its 1962 study of voting by individual congressmen on questions of federal government responsibilities, Congressional Quarterly found that Democrats supported a larger federal role twice as often as Republicans. Conversely, Republicans supported a smaller federal role slightly less than three times as often as Democrats.

To provide a useful yardstick to measure attitudes on the federal role, CQ examined all 348 roll-call votes in 1962 and selected eight each from the House and the Senate as key tests.

MANY OF THE test votes touched on controversies over domestic policy that found Democrats pitted against Republicans. But six of them found majorities of the two parties in agreement.

Five of the Senate test votes involved approval of feed grains controls, a standby public works program and trade adjustment assistance, and rejection of the President's medical care program and legislation to curb drug profits.

Five of the House votes involved farm controls, increased child labor regulation, subpena of business documents in civil antitrust cases, upholding of the President's trade program and rejection of his proposed Urban Affairs and Housing Department. On all of these the two parties were at odds.

HOWEVER, ON FOUR other test votes—House and Senate approval of the college aid bill, and House approval of the manpower retraining program and grants for educational television — Democrats and Republicans agreed on expanding the federal role.

And on two Senate votes—rejection of a minimum wage for sugar field workers and rejection of a federal agency to own and operate a communications satellite system—majorities of the two parties were in agreement on limiting the federal role.

By adding up the scores of individual senators and representatives, CQ found the average Democrat in 1962 supported a larger federal role (or opposed a smaller one) 74 per cent of the time and the average Republican 35 per cent of the time.

The average Republican supported a smaller federal role (or opposed a larger one) 63 per cent of the time and the average Democrat 23 per cent of the time.

MORE SIGNIFICANT still are the scores of individual members, showing the relative balance of attitudes on the federal role within each party in each chamber.

In the Senate, for example, 22 Democrats, including California's Clair Engle, supported a larger federal role or opposed a smaller one on at least 7 of the 8 test votes.

Conversely, no Republican supported a larger federal role on more than 5 of the test votes, and 23 Republicans opposed a larger federal role on all or all but one of the 8 tests. Minority Whip Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.) supported a larger federal role on five of the eight tests, Minority Leader Everett McKinley Dirksen (R-Ill.) supported it only once.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

In one backwoods community, a man running for sheriff sneered that his opponent was "an egghead — one of those college fellers." This was a serious indictment in those parts—but the attacked candidate had a ready answer to redeem himself. At the top of his lungs he assured his constituents, "My friends, I can prove to you absolutely and once and for all that I ain't never, but never, belonged to no thinking group!"

A woman submitted a torrid love story to a popular magazine and awaited word in vain from the editor for several weeks. Finally she wired, "Please report on my story immediately as I have other irons in the fire." An answering wire — collect — "We have considered your story and advise you to put it with the other irons."

Somebody once asked Woodrow Wilson how long it took him to prepare a ten-minute speech. "About two weeks," he estimated. "And a one-hour speech?" "That would take me a week," he said. "And a two-hour speech?" "Oh," laughed the President, "if you'll let me ramble on for two hours, I'm ready now."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Application Of Heat Can Be Good Or Bad In Treating Many Ailments

VAN DELLEN

The application of heat can be good or bad; it is a recognized remedy for many ailments. But heat also burns. Many persons assume that the more they can stand, the better. This philosophy is as wrong as the idea that if a little medicine is good, a lot is better.

Too much heat is particularly dangerous when the circulation is poor. A 72-year-old man developed pain in his right foot and ankle. He decided arthritis was the cause and heat would bring relief. He soaked the foot in hot water for half an hour and then applied a heating pad for several hours while reading a book. "I soaked the foot in water as hot as I could stand," he told me on the following day, "but hurts worse than it ever did. And look at the color of my toes."

THIS OLDSTER had gangrene. The original distress came from poor circulation as a result of arteriosclerosis. Heat increased the local metabolism of his toes which in turn required more blood. But his arteries were too narrow to meet the tissue demands for more blood and they died (gangrene). And all because the water was much too warm.

Most of us can tolerate as much heat as the skin will stand but there is no advantage in going to this extreme. The relief obtained with a little is just as much as an overdose. In addition, the skin is not burned and the tissues are not injured.

HEAT COOKS meat and it can cook a hand. Dr. Herbert H. Stark of Los Angeles describes a condition which he calls "the cooked hand syndrome." The part is red, puffy, smooth and feels warm and soft. Numbness, stiffness and aching occur.

All victims of this condition tell the same story. The hand was cut, sprained or bruised several months previously and soaked for long periods in hot water. Some received diathermy, ultrasound or whirlpool baths. Temporary relief was obtained but the hand continues to get worse. Cure consists in stopping all heat treatments and using the hand to increase flexibility and encourage healing.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

NERVOUS SIGHS

A.C. writes: How can sighing when nervous be cured?

REPLY

This may not be necessary so long as sighing is not doing harm. It usually stops when nervousness is brought under control. On the other hand, if it aggravates nervous symptoms, the individual should be shown how deep breathing is playing a role. He then will attempt to control the habit.

SURGERY IS CURATIVE

R.W.F. writes: Do bleeding hemorrhoids ever heal without operation?

REPLY

Bleeding stops and the hemorrhoidal veins might shrink but recurrences can be expected. Surgery is the only cure. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on hemorrhoids.

EMOTIONS AND HIVES

G.C. writes: Can nervousness cause hives? I break out in these blotches from time to time.

REPLY

Yes. In some instances, emotional upheavals are the only cause of allergies, whereas in others, psychic upsets aggravate allergies of other origins.

Adolescence is said to be the most difficult but I think of it as being the least pleasant.

REPLY

No, but tension and the emotional disturbance that brings on the spasms could afefct appetite.

ROCKETS READY — Mrs. J. Vaatz Windhoek of South West Africa and farm hand Hans Schieder keep rockets always ready to shoot at clouds. They hope to make rainfall for her 30,000-acres of drought-stricken land.

Blue Cloudless Skies Spell Disaster For Africa Farms

By DENNIS ROYLE

WINDHOEK, South West Africa (AP)—Blue cloudless skies spell disaster to farmers in South West Africa. After five years of drought and serious outbreak of foot and mouth disease among great herds of cattle, the position has become so serious that many farmers face ruin in this big mandated territory on the South Atlantic coast.

They hope their salvation may lie in a rocket of the type generally used for festive occasions. If they sight a cloud, a rarity in this region, and gauge the correct altitude and drift of the cloud, a deluge could result and restore life to thousands of acres of pasture land rapidly reverting to desert waste.

Manufactured in Switzerland, France and South Africa, the rockets contain a silver nitrate which is supposed to impregnate rain-bearing clouds.

A number of successes have been recorded. One lucky farmer was deluged with 10 inches of rain in a few hours after firing his rocket.

Yet another misjudged the drift of the cloud and his neighbor some 50 miles away received a torrential downpour, while the rocket-firing farmer remained dry.

Many outlying farmers adamantly refuse to revert to this method of rainmaking. They maintain it is tampering with the divine force of nature and is against all religious beliefs. They would prefer to remain waterless.

On the 30,000 acre farm of Mrs. J. Vaatz, near Windhoek, the day begins with a hasty glance around the dusty horizon, searching vainly for the smallest cloud.

The seven-foot rockets are always within easy reach to be shot from their miniature launching pads, generally a two-inch piece of piping wired to a nearby fence.

German-born Mrs. Vaatz has farmed her cattle land for the past 20 years, together with her husband and two German farm hands. Her comments and fears are those expressed by the majority of farmers in this South West African community.

"Soon we must take the law into our own hands," she asserted. "For five years we have waited for rains which never came. Suddenly we were struck with the dreaded foot and mouth disease, killing thousands of cattle. We cannot move the healthy ones to market owing to government restrictions on cattle movement in the South West Area. Consequently I have not sold a single animal in two years. My farm is overstocked with 4,000 head of cattle. To prevent them dying of hunger and lack of water we must move them constantly to fresh grazing pasture, but this is now exhausted.

"The drought has burnt up most of the grassland. The cattle become too weak to venture far from the waterholes, where not a blade of grass exists.

"We must take food to them," she scowled. "Can you imagine feeding 4,000 head of cattle over a 30,000 acre farm? It's impossible."

"Sometimes we spot a cloud and run around with our rockets like children. We lie on our backs, sight the rocket toward it and chase it all over the place when it veers away from us.

"What kind of farmers are we, chasing clouds all day long?"

In an effort to avert the collapse of the cattle market in the South West, the administration is planning a huge evacuation of cattle from outlying areas devoid of pasture and water.

New water bore holes have been hastily completed and hundreds of miles of wire fencing have been erected to try and stem the spread of foot and mouth disease by affected cattle and wild life game.

Mrs. Vaatz summed up the plight of the farmer with a grim prophecy: "the economy of South West depends greatly on the farmer, but if we do not get water and if restrictions on the movement of cattle are not relaxed, we cannot last another year."

She concluded: "the rhythmic pattern of rainfall in this country is allied with the Biblical story of seven lean and seven good years. We still have two years to survive before we can be assured of a reasonable rainfall. We cannot wait this long and all the rainmaking rockets in the world will not save us from ruin."

Kennedy, Business Drawing Up Lines For Battle Over Taxes

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Business and the Kennedy administration are drawing up their lines today for another round in the perennial battle over taxes. At conferences here and in Washington the two sides are outlining their views. The debate is as much over the kind of taxes as over the high rates.

The final stands may be made clear when President John F. Kennedy addresses a group of businessmen here Dec. 14 and perhaps reveals the forms his proposals to the new Congress will take.

At a hearing this week in Washington businessmen were telling the Internal Revenue Service their objections to and perplexities about the new rules it proposes on expense account deductions. Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin says the hearing well may lead to a relaxation of some of the proposed crackdown.

In New York, businessmen and federal legislators are discussing the wider problem of tax reform at a meeting of the Tax Foundation, a non-profit research body long dedicated to seeking lower tax burdens and less government spending.

And the complications of the tax rules decreed in the Revenue Act of 1962 will be discussed in Washington next week at a meeting of business executives, their tax attorneys, and federal tax administrators, sponsored by the Federal Bar Assn. and Foundation and The Bureau of National Affairs Inc.

All hands agree that they'd like to see the nation's economy grow faster and that the burden of high taxation may be holding this back. The rub comes when tax cuts mean still higher treasury deficits. This brings up the ticklish question of holding down government spending and how and if this can be done, or even if it should be done.

A call for "less heavy reliance on taxes which are imposed on business as such" is made today at the Tax Foundation meeting by Prof. C. Lowell Hariss of Columbia University. He says Congress should "try to reduce rather than to enhance the deadweight burden of tax compliance costs on business, as well as on the public generally." The costs include the fees of tax counsel and the salaries of tax managers, as well as business activities changed or hampered by complying with the tax laws.

But another speaker at the conference, Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, (R-Mo.) says real federal tax reform can come only from expenditure cuts and the prospects for this in 1963 or in 1964 he calls grim.

Businessmen generally appear to be plugging for a return to a 47 per cent corporate income tax rate. This was raised to 52 per cent during the Korean War emergency and renewed annually since then. The return to 47 per cent would be automatic June 30, if Congress doesn't vote otherwise in the meantime.

Such a drop in the corporate rate would give business about 2.5 billion dollars more to invest in expansion, or in building reserves, or in paying dividends. How much would go directly into economic growth is moot. But business leaders say such a boost to profits after taxes would increase the pace notably.

Owner Told To Annex 'Split' Land To City

An owner of Woodland Avenue Property in "split jurisdiction," partly in San Rafael and partly in the county, was advised yesterday by the county planning director to seek annexation wholly into San Rafael.

B. D. Dobbs conceded that Earl White had better proceed with apartment plans approved yesterday by the county planning commission, but thought his life would be simpler if he got the whole site within the city when possible.

White's plans for two four-unit apartment buildings 400 feet west of Auburn Street in South San Rafael were given the commission O.K. on an understanding that approval of the city portion would recognize county requirements on parking.

South won the first trick with the ace of hearts, got to dummy with a diamond and returned a trump for a finesse with the jack of spades.

WHAT DAMAGE?

What damage can West do if he wins at once with the queen of spades? If West returns a heart to dummy's king, declarer discards a diamond and leads another trump to force out the ace.

West can then lead another heart to make declarer ruff once. But South still has enough trumps to draw all of West's spades.

South then runs his winning clubs, making the game and rubber.

REFUSES TRICK

Now see what happens if West refuses to win the first trump trick. South assumes that East has the queen of spades and that his finesse has succeeded.

South may fill into the trap by leading another diamond to dummy for another spade finesse.

But when he reaches dummy he must discard a diamond on the king of hearts before leading the second trump.

EXPOSED SELF

Now South has exposed himself to the hearts. West takes the queen of spades and leads a heart to make South ruff. This leaves South and West with two trumps each.

If South leads another trump to force out the ace, West returns another heart to knock out South's last trump. This leaves West with the last trump, and South loses control of the hand.

If South abandons the trumps he fares no better.

West ruffs a high club with his low trump, and the defenders get three trumps and a club.

In 1848, President James Polk confirmed the discovery of gold in California, giving impetus to the gold rush of '48 and '49.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Carbon Tetrachloride Can Be Very Dangerous For Kidneys And Liver

VAN DELLEN

Carbon tetrachloride is a widely used cleaning fluid. It is an effective spot remover but no spot is worth the damage the solvent does to the kidneys and liver when used improperly.

Never utilize it in a closed room; the fumes are extremely poisonous when inhaled. Keep the room well ventilated or turn on an exhaust fan to dilute or eliminate the fumes. And never use it after drinking because alcohol enhances the toxic effects.

THESE WARNINGS are timely at this season of the year for two reasons. It is cold outside and we are not inclined to open the windows when dry cleaning clothing or taking out stains. Cocktail parties are common during the winter season and some find on arriving home they spilled something on their suit, dress, or tie. They go after the carbon tet immediately, and the trap is set for real trouble.

A closed room, alcohol in the blood, and the inhalation of carbon tetrachloride fumes is more than the kidneys can take. These organs may go into a state of failure from which recovery is possible, but not without leaving scars.

THE INITIAL symptoms of carbon tetrachloride poisoning are headache, nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, and abdominal paint. It is surprising how quickly distress appears and how little of the solvent need be inhaled to bring on toxicity.

Kidney damage may progress to the point where no urine is produced. The victim is given certain fluids to stimulate the renal organs. Should this fail, the artificial kidney must be attached until the swollen and damaged kidneys recover. Liver damage is more serious but is less likely to occur from inhaling carbon tetrachloride.

CHRONIC POISONING may result from inhaling small daily doses over a long period. The membranes of the eyes and upper respiratory tract often becomes irritated and the victim may suffer from headache, sleepiness, and fatigue; later, abdominal pain is noted, accompanied by waterlogging of the tissues and urinary disturbances.

Modern cleaning establishlishments are aware of this problem and many of the coin operated stores use a nontoxic solvent, perchlorethylene.

Dr. Van Delen will answer questions on medical topics if a stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

POLYPS

M. A. writes: I've heard that intestinal polyps are a forerunner of cancer. Does this apply to nasal polyps also?

REPLY

No. Intestinal polyps are notorious for becoming malignant and should be removed when found. Polyps in the nose and elsewhere rarely become cancerous.

STREP THROAT

Mrs. A. D. writes: How does a strep throat affect the body?

REPLY

The acute inflamamtion in the throat is painful. Many develop fever, headache, and weakness. Complications may develop, varying from pneumonia to rheumatic fever.

NO FOOD LINERS

A. C. writes: Are there any foods that will put a new lining in the stomach?

REPLY

No, because the acid in the stomach would digest it. This happens regardless of the type of tissue consumed, including tripe.

SEE YOUR DOCTOR

M. S. writes: What is the most reliable place to get an annual physical checkup?

REPLY

Your family physician's office.

PSORIASIS NOT A KILLER

J. A. writes: How long will a person with psoriasis live if no attempt is made to treat the skin disease?

Psoriasis has no effect on the life span.

Trouble Over New Tariff Powers Seen

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK(AP) — Protectionism is far from dead—on either side of the Atlantic or Pacific.

And Christian A. Herter as the U.S. government's foreign trade czar may have plenty of trouble translating the President's new tariff bargaining powers into the freer trade it envisions.

American manufacturers and unions who see their sales or jobs trimmed or threatened by foreign competition will be heard from, in and out of Congress. And the new law offers various ways of protecting them.

The European Common Market is acclaimed for its striking efforts to lower trade barriers. But its aim is to achieve one big tariff-free club — for members only. It plans to maintain at least some tariff barriers against the rest of the world, including U.S. manufacturers and farmers.

And in recent weeks the spirit of keeping these walls fairly high has been reported to be rising.

Britain has been yearning to join the club. But protectionism is far from dead in the United Kingdom either, and certainly is very much alive in the British Commonwealth.

Political opposition in Britain to joining the Common Market is growing louder, and is becoming bitter in many of the Commonwealth nations.

Damage to British industry, labor, farmers, and to Commonwealth producers is stressed by the protectionists.

On the Continent there is stubborn resistance to letting Britain into the club on terms that French, German or Italian businessmen and farmers fear might favor competitive British products or commodities from the Commonwealth nations.

And hints have been going out that the Common Market, because of its fast growth rate of industrial production and consumer markets, thinks it is in a better bargaining situation than the United States on the question of trade barriers.

Some cocky Europeans are saying that Americans need access to their markets more than they need lower tariffs here.

So Herter, a former secretary of state under President Dwight D. Eisenhower, will need plenty of bargaining savvy in the post to which he was named by President John F. Kennedy.

Those who saw the passage of the Trade Expansion Act as opening a new trading era in jig time are now beginning ot set back their schedules.

Tariff bargaining is always a long and slow process. Too many interests are involved, on both sides of the table, for the negotiators to act fast.

This time the bargaining may be the harder for several reasons. The desire of Europeans and Japanese to protect their growing industries; the costs of production that are rising faster in Europe now than they are here, and therefore make the price protection of tariffs seem more attractive; and the very nature of the new look in world trade—the trend toward trading blocs in various parts of the world, which increase consumer markets at home and build up the volume of goods that can be exported.

OVER THE TOP—Group of county firemen and sheriff's deputies begin lowering basket litter off the shoulder of Shoreline Highway. Litter is secured to ropes slung over a makeshift A-frame, then lowered to the ocean floor 300 feet below. Shortly after this picture was taken, Fireman Paul Sheehan (far right) was strapped to litter and hauled back up the cliff.

CLIFF SCALERS — M/Sgt. Tony Martino (left) and Deputy Sheriff F. Bertrand are not doing this for sport. This is part of deadly serious training undertaken by sheriff's men and firemen to rescue fishermen or hikers stranded on the cliffs of Marin's rugged coastline. The two are half way down a sheer 300-foot drop. (Sheriff's Office photos)

Sheriff's Deputies Practice Rescues

A crew of agile sheriff's deputies, armed with crash helmets and sturdy rope, are making like mountain goats on the sheer cliffs south of Stinson Beach to prepare for cliff rescue and recoveries.

This is part of our many in-service training courses in which deputies participate," Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos announced. "All deputies take the cliff scaling course, but those assigned to the coast area (Stinson Beach and Point Reyes) are getting concentrated training because of the greater need for that type of rescue."

M/Sgt. Tony Martino of Hamilton Air Force Base is the instructor.

Last Thursday, sheriff's deputies and county firemen, headed by Sheriff's Lt. Sidney Stinson and County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom, staged a mock rescue over a 300-foot cliff about four miles south of Stinson Beach.

Fireman Paul Sheehan served as "patient." Under Sergeant Martino's direction, Sheehan was strapped into a basket litter and hauled up the cliff, with two men suspended from ropes guiding the litter up the cliff.

A similar mock rescue will be held at an adjoining cliff Thursday afternoon.

Deputies who took part in last week's course included Sgt. Kenneth Irving, Sgt. Joseph Mooney, and Deputies Robert F. Bertrand, Raymond Von Savoye, and Wade Powell.

Aboard Destroyer

Navy Ensign James S. Ibach, son of Commander and Mrs. Roy A. Ibach of 23 Mesa Avenue, Mill Valley, is serving aboard the destroyer Bausell, now outside United States waters.

Tam Firemen Burn Houses For Drill

Tamalpais firemen and volunteer firemen conducted a series of fire drills on two homes at 406 Evergreen Lane Saturday and, following drills, burned the homes down.

Owned by Donald P. Geddes, the homes had been condemned by the county building department, according to fire chief Herbert Owen.

Blue Rock Balcony To Be Argued Again

Charges of building violations by Hugh Wood on Magnolia Avenue will be argued again before the Larkspur City Council tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the city hall.

Wood's clashes with city officials began after he built a balcony on his Blue Rock Apartments and then walled in the balcony to form a new room.

Planning commissioners said this cut off a parking space and constituted one of several projects Wood has started without obtaining city approval.

The council will hold a public hearing on the proposed new zoning ordinance.

Two park and recreation commissioners are to be named to succeed William Schnell and Dorothy Meyer, who resigned.

Postoffice Plans Go Before Corte Madera Design Board

Owner Frank Rusalem's third set of plans for a new postoffice in the Corte Madera shopping center will be considered by the town board of design tonight at 7:30 in the town hall.

Plans by architect J. S. Bolles would locate the postoffice on Tamalpais Drive east of the Standard Oil station and south of Littleman Market.

Town Mgr. Arthur H. Brandow said motorists would have access to the postoffice only by entering the center and not from Tamalpais Drive.

Rusalem's first postoffice plans were rejected. He withdrew his second proposal.

Bennington College Aide To Speak Here

Mrs. George Holt, assistant director of admissions at Bennington College, Vt., will talk with Marin County high school officials and prospective Bennington students on Dec. 13.

Mrs. Holt will visit Drake and Redwood high schools in the morning, Katharine Branson School at lunch, and Tamalpais High School in the afternoon.

English Institute For Secondary Teachers Planned

An institute in English for secondary school teachers is planned next summer at Dominican College, San Rafael, Dr. Sigmund Eisner, director of the program, has announced.

The course will include modern attitudes and practices in applied English linguistics and teaching of high school composition. It will meet five afternoons a week, June 24 through July 12.

The staff includes Sister Mary Thomasine, O.P., of Dominican Upper School; George M. Evica of Mill Valley, coordinator of freshman English at San Francisco State College, and guest lecturers from Bay Area universities and colleges. Registration will be limited to 35 teachers.

The show is planned to open the first weekend in February. An accompanist will be provided at the tryouts.

Yule Shoppers Get Some Tips

San Rafael Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa issued some suggestions for Christmas shoppers today in an attempt to cut down on petty thefts which increase during the holiday season.

Chiesa suggested that packages be locked in the trunks of cars and that the car keys be taken out of the ignition. Trunks, he said, are safer than locked interiors. Purses should be watched carefully by women shoppers.

By overlapping shifts at peak traffic hours, six additional officers will be on hand to handle the increased holiday shopping traffic, Chiesa said.

As early as 1887, apples produced in Washington County, Ark., were winning prizes in world agricultural expositions.

U. N. Parties Gruelling

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—"It's grim enough dealing with Cuba or the Congo all day," said the diplomat, staring glumly at the milling throng of drinkers. "To fight your way through this every night is a bit too much."

With 110 member nations determined to wine and dine each other before the General Assembly session ends soon, average delegate usually winds up his day being jostled about a smoke-filled room.

The envoy first must stand in line up to half an hour to pay his respects to the host ambassador. Then he is free to battle his way through the packed room in search of a cocktail tray.

If the drink gives him courage to try the buffet, the guest attaches himself to another long line inching past the food tables. After receiving a plate of spiced beef or one of the volcanic curries that most U.N. parties feature, he has the final problem of finding a place to sit.

After a three-week round of U.N. receptions and banquets during his 1960 visit to the assembly, Soviet Premier Khrushchev told a newsman: "This life would make a stone sick."

Ten years ago the United Nations had fewer than 60 members. A delegate averaged a couple of small parties a week during the session. Now he often attends two or three affairs in one evening.

By the time the assembly is over he has gone to more than 80 such functions and consumed enough spiced food and strong drink to turn the ordinary stomach to suede.

He faithfully makes the rounds because diplomatic etiquette requires it, and he hopes to pick up useful information chatting with fellow delegates.

The late Dag Hammarskjold avoided social functions, but he once described the U.N. reception as a fruitful field for quiet diplomacy. His successor, U Thant, goes to parties when time permits and engages in informal exchanges he could never fit into his busy work schedule.

With the rapid growth of the United Nations, receptions have become so jammed that it is difficult for a jostled delegate to indulge in any quiet lobbying.

The growth of the world forum has posed an acute problem for the U.N. catering staff which handles parties at the East River headquarters.

"We can't accommodate more than 750 persons in the main dining room at one time," said Frank W. Reickert, who runs the network of bars and restaurants.

"When Algeria gave a party in honor of Premier Ahmed Ben Bella in October, the attendance was so large we had to open the west terrace for the overflow."

Most countries like to entertain during the first six weeks of the session, while their foreign ministers are still in town. Reickert may get six applications for the dining room the same night.

"We just have to take them on a first come, first served basis with no favoritism," he said.

Countries with huge guest lists often solve the problem by holding their functions in New York's big midtown hotels. Oil-rich Saudi Arabia gives a glittering reception each fall at a rooftop room. Some of the wealthier African and Latin-American nations also hold lavish outside affairs.

The big powers usually entertain at their own missions and restrict the guest list to a small group. The United Nations has stepped up its entertainment schedule since it built a new headquarters with a spacious penthouse.

The Soviet Union goes all-out each fall with its October revolution party. The Kremlin keeps a tight grip on the purse strings. After the first half-hour caviar, champagne and vodka are replaced by highballs and sandwiches.

Despite the problem of elbow room, most nations try to hold affairs at the United Nations. It is the most reasonable place they can find.

"We don't attempt to make any profit," said Reickert, "so we can serve a complete hot and cold buffet with drink setups for about $5 a head. At the top hotels they would pay $10 to $12 for the same thing."

Most U.N. members prefer to supply their own liquor, since they can get it free of duty and tax—about one-third retail price—under diplomatic status. The U.N. lets them do this, but most hotels impose a corkage charge which cuts sharply into the saving.

A few Asian and African governments refuse on religious grounds to let delegations serve alcoholic drinks. Most observe the ban only on national holidays.

Algeria served soft drinks at its huge party. When Ben Bella heard how much liquor would cost, he substituted fruit juice, one insider reported.

It happened that the Saudi Arabian party, replete with champagne and cocktails was held the same night. Some thirsty delegates who had heard of Ben Bella's decision headed there first to stoke up on liquid refreshment, then attended the Algerian dinner.

San Rafael Chamber Orchestra Season

Opening concert in the third annual season of the San Rafael Chamber Orchestra, under direction of Hugo Rinaldi, has been set for Dec. 16 at 8:30 p.m. in the San Rafael High School auditorium.

Rinaldi is head of music for San Rafael schools, director of the Symphony Guild of Marin sponsored youth orchestra, and a frequent guest conductor in Bay Area concerts.

With this orchestra of 32 string players and pianist—most of whom are members of the San Francisco Symphony, Oakland Symphony or Marin Symphony—he is able to present varied music written especially for this kind of orchestra but seldom heard because of the difficulty of assembling so many strings.

It is the character of the orchestra which will permit presentation of the West Coast premier of the featured work of the evening, "Concerto for Two String Orchestras, Piano and Timpani" by Martinu.

"It is an extremely difficult composition," Rinaldi said, "which required six months of rehearsal before it could be recorded."

Other numbers on the program will be the "Double Violin Concerto in D Minor" by Bach; "Bachianas Brasileiras No. 5" by Villa Lobos, with Marin's own San Francisco Opera soprano Gwen Curatilo as guest artist, and "A Night Piece" by Arthur Foote.

The San Rafael Chamber Orchestra is sponsored by the San Rafael Recreation Department in association with the musicians union.

Mildred Mateer, head librarian at Redwood High School, announced that Mr. and Mrs. Roger Wurtz, 35 Wolfe Grade, Kentfield, recently donated 15 volumes to the school library.

The Tamalpais High School choir will sing Christmas carols to patients at Sonoma State Hospital on Dec. 19 under sponsorship of the high school's Red Cross chapter. The annual event is under direction of Robert Greenwood, school music director.

Marin County Courthouse Approved As Fallout Shelter For Public

Marin County's courthouse "qualifies as a public fallout shelter that may be used in the event of nuclear attack," county supervisors were told yesterday by San Rafael City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen in his capacity as "shelter representative, City of San Rafael."

He therefore sought and received permission for its use as a shelter which, he said, would accommodate more than 200 persons.

Andersen also wanted storage space of 240 cubic feet set aside for storage of 40 water drums, 40 water bags, 29 food cases, 10 sanitation kits and some other kits.

The board was puzzled to receive a letter of appreciation for service of Building Inspector Otto H. Meyer to serve on a technical advisory group of building officials on establishing minimum requirements for fallout and blast shelters for the Assn. of Bay Area Governments.

Unable to recall ever authorizing such service by Meyer, the board sought information from Public Works Director Donald R. Frost.

Directors of the Terra Linda Community Services District asked that their firehouse be given "a three-way air raid and fire siren," having learned that the present siren is "the same as the red alert siren" and wishing to avoid confusion.

Chairman Walter R. Castro said a meeting with communications director Mansfield Lewis should straighten out just where the county stands on this because the state no longer gives matching funds, many present sirens are out of line and "this could set a precedent."

"If the siren is strictly for fire, they should pay for it," declared Supervisor William D. Fusselman.

Court Action On Water Is Watched

Marin County is taking no part in Supreme Court action by 21 Northern California counties and others against the California Water Plan, but both of Marin's major water districts are watching developments in the plan as it affects this county, according to Jerome B. Gilbert, manager of the North Marin Water District.

Gilbert said today that his district and the Marin Municipal Water District refrained from filing briefs as friends of the court, as did others, although about a year ago they were authorized by county supervisors to represent Marin County in any such action.

Their reason for staying out, he said, was that current proceedings are primarily an effort to gain more rights for specific areas.

The Marin County interest in plan, said Gilbert, lies primarily with future water supply. If a North Bay Aqueduct is constructed as a branch of a 1.75 billion dollar program, this would provide for one of two major potentials for future Marin water, he said, but there is also a possibility of reveloping more water with the Russian River as a main source.

"At present, preliminary indications lead us to lean toward the Russian River as the better possibility," said Gilbert.

He said Sonoma County also is steering clear of the current action. Additional to the 21 northern counties, the California Grange, San Joaquin County and the Kern County Water Agency are involved in the suit. They claim farmers would be the first to lose water in case of shortage.
